CARSON'S
STELLAR OIL.
This is not the lowest priced, but being much the best is in the end by far the cheapest. Do not fail to give it a trial, and you will use no other.
THE alarming increase in the number of frightful accidents, resulting in terrible deaths and the destruction of valuable property, caused by the indiscriminate use of oils, known under the name of petroleum, prompts us to call your special attention to an article which will, wherever USED, remove the CAUSE of such accidents.—We allude to
Carson's Stellar Oil
FOR ILLUMINATING PURPOSES.
The proprietor of this Oil has for several years felt the necessity of providing for, and presenting to the public, as a substitute for the dangerous compounds which are sent broadcast over the country, an oil that is SAFE and BRILLIANT, and entirely reliable. After a long series of laborious and costly experiments, he has succeeded in providing, and now offers to the public, such a substitute in "CARSON'S STELLAR OIL." It should be used by every family.—
1ST. Because it is safe beyond a question. The primary purpose in the preparation of STELLAR OIL has been to make it PERFECTLY SAFE, thus insuring the lives and property of those who use it.
2D. Because it is the most BRILLIANT liquid illuminator now known.
3D. Because it is more economical, in the long run, than any of the dangerous oils and fluids now in too common use.
TH. Because it is intensely BRILLIANT, and therefore economical, giving the greatest possible light at the least expenditure to the consumer. Its present standard of SAFETY AND BRILLIANCY will always be maintained,—for upon this the proprietor depends for sustaining the high reputation the STELLAR OIL now enjoys.
To prevent the adulteration of this with the explosive compounds now known under the name of kerosene, &c., it is put up for family use in Five Gallon cans, each can being sealed, and stamped with the trade-mark of the proprietor; it cannot be tampered with between the manufacturer and consumer. None is genuine without the TRADE-MARK.
STELLAR OIL is sold only by weight, each can containing five gallons of six and a half pounds each, thus securing to every purchaser full measure. It is the duty and interest of all dealers and consumers of illuminating oil to use the STELLAR OIL only, because it alone is known to be safe and reliable.
All orders should be addressed to

HUMOROUS ITEMS

A disappointed Politician who did not get the nomination.

What is that from which, if you take the whole, some will remain? The word wholesome.

An Irish paper concludes a biography of Robespierre with the following sentence:—'This extraordinary man left no children except his brother, who was killed at the same time.'

A Springfield paper says: "We know shoes, have soles and tongues and now a chap in Rhode Island advertises, "Shoes made Hear." We don't believe it.

The most gallant man ever heard of is one who refrained from kicking a dog that had bitten him because it was a female dog. "If it wasn't for your sex," said he, "I'd kick your head off."

The best Dolly Varden story yet, is told of a young lady of Little Rock, Arkansas, who had a very small kitten she named Dolly Varden, but as it progressed in age she discovered it was not that kind of a cat so she re-christened it Thomas Varden.

A chicken thief on Long Island tried to enter the hen house of a farmer not knowing that a big dog was chained near by. His bill at the nearest apothecary's for liniment and sticking plaster has been thirty dollars, and he can now put on his pantaloons comfortably.

A well-known grocer named Berry, sent his bill to an actor with whom he dealt on credit. Of course we needn't say that he was a grocer. The outraged actor returned the following reply: "You are a Goose Berry, and have made a Mull Berry, in sending me your Bill Berry, before it was Due Berry, but I don't care a Straw Berry—only, if you do so again, Berry, I will kick your Rasp Berry, until it is Black Berry."

Some men at Louisville were betting on the weight of a large mule when one man a good judge of the weight of live-stock got behind the mule and was measuring his hindquarters, when something appeared to loosen up behind the mule. Just before the expert died from the kick in among his ribs, he gave it as his opinion that if the mule was as heavy all over as he was behind, he weighed not far from 48,000 pounds and a trifle over.

We once knew an industrious boy whose parents were poor but honest. He began life without a cent. He had a wart on his nose and a sore foot; but nothing daunted he worked with the determination and a will, backed by perseverance and energy, and nobly fought his way along surmounting every obstacle. Mark the result. Last week we met him for the first time in ten years, and that little boy who began life only ten short years ago, without a cent, hasn't got a darned cent yet! Well you need not laugh about it, for he has done more than some people: as he has held his own.

Mr. Jones was at Leadenhall Market the other day, his special object of pursuit being "fresh eggs." After some little search he found the desired articles outside. A Milesian lady, with a basket full of eggs, awaited purchasers. Jones stepped up to the Milesian lady, examined the "new fruit," and asked its price. "Sixteen-pence a dozen," was the prompt reply. "Isn't that rather high, ma'am?" suggested Jones. "High! Deuce a bit! Av you wor a hin Misher Jones, would you be willing to lay eggs for less than sixteenpence a dozen, I ax ye now?"

In the neighboring village of B—, writes a Western correspondent, lived an old gentleman of the name of Newberry, whose fault-finding propensities had won for him the cognomen of "Old Growler." Across the way lived another Newbury (spelled with a u), who enjoyed getting off a joke at the expense of his grumbling neighbor. One morning a stranger came into the store of Newbury in search of a pair of boots. Not finding any to fit, the obliging shop-keeper informed him that maybe "Old Growler" across the way could fit him with a pair. Over the way he went and asked, "Mr. Growler, can you fit me to a pair of boots?" The cordwainer, irate at being thus trifled with, instantly sprung to the door, and applied his own boot to the person of the offender with such force as to effect his speedy exit from the room, at the same time mildly inquiring "How does that pair fit?"
