"The Pa. Lightning Insurance Co."-Which is now canvasing the county, must not be confounded with companies which have previously been traveling through this section. This company is regularly chartered by the Legislature of this State.

A Show .- Robinson's Circus and menagerie will visit this county this week. They give exhibitions at Newport on Thursday and at Bloomfield on Friday next. We have not seen this show, but if the reports concerning it are correct, it will be worth a Pocket Book Lost .- On Friday evening last Chas. L. Murray, Esq., of this borough lost his pocket book containing about $20 in money and valuable papers. He thinks the party finding it might at least be satisfied with keeping the money "for his honesty" and return the papers to the rightful Serious Aceldent.—On the 15th inst., Mr. Emanuel Kunkle, of Rye twp., met with a serious accident. He was driving from his home to Marysville, when his horses became frightened and ran away. Mr. Kunkle was thrown out of the wagon and becoming entangled in the reins was dragged some distance, a portion of the time with his face downwards. When found he was insensible, and his clothing nearly torn off. He was badly bruised, and cut from the hips to the top of the head. His wounds were dressed by Dr. Everhart, of Marysville, and there is now hope of his recovery. The wagon was upset and badly broken.

XIron Ore. - Discoveries of superior iron ore continue to be made in this county. A few days since a very excellent Fossil ore was discovered on the farm of John J. Craig in Wheatfield twp. Three large veins have been opened and the premises leased to Messrs Brehmens, of Mifflin county, who at once commenced operations. There is no doubt but there are large quantities of ore in this county, and all that is needed to develop this wealth is a railroad outlet. Is it not worth while to seriously consider this important question. Let us avail ourselves of the advantages to be derived from the outlay of a comparatively small amount of capital, and the use of a little energy. This is all that is required to place Perry county on a level in point of wealth with the best counties in the State. Will not the commissioners named in the charter of the Duncannon and Bloomfield rail road take means to bring this subject before the citizens of the county, in such a way that some action can be taken to accomplish this much desired improvement?

Death's Doings .- On Friday last Hon. James Black, at his residence in this borough died quite suddenly. For some time past his mental condition has been such that he required continual care, but his strength had remained good until the morning of his death. At that time he had started to go down stairs to his breakfast as usual, but when he had reached the head of the stairs he was induced to return, and take his breakfast in his room. A few minutes later he was attacked with an apoplectic fit and died before medical aid could reach him.

Mr. Black was a man highly respected by all who knew him, and was widely known, having occupied public places of honor and trust.

In 1843 he was elected as a member of the 28th Congress to fill a vacancy, his opponent at that time being T. C. Miller.

In 1844 he was again elected for the 29th Congress, his opponent being Robert Elliott.

In 1854 he was appointed associate Judge of this county, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Stroup, which position he filled until the following January.

Mr. Black left considerable property, which he bequeathed to his wife with the exception of $1,000 to the wife of Kirk Hains, $1,000 to Kate Yohn, and $500 to James B. Meredith.

J. R. SHULER, Esq., another well known citizen of this borough, died on Wednesday last. His remains were followed to the cemetery by quite a number of relatives and friends and large deputations from the Masonic fraternity, and Knights of Pythins, of which societies the deceased was a member. Mr. Shuler's death was not unexpected as he has been in poor health for some time. A little over two weeks previous to his death, he had been called upon to mourn the death of his wife and this undoubtedly hastened his end. Of them it may truly be said "they passed through life together, and in death they are not di-

Separated for Thirty Years.—A York paper says: About thirty years ago, a colored map, whose name we did not learn escaped from slavery, in the State of Maryland, and immediately made his way into Canada; He left behind him, at the time, a wife and two children with the understanding that they were to follow him at the earliest opportunity. After the fugitive had been in Canada, a short time he became dissatisfied and left for the state of New York, from whence he eventually departed for Chester County, Pennsylvania, where he met with the sympathy and encouragement he so much needed. In the mean time he had frequently written for information concerning his wife and children but could obtain no satisfactory answer. By industry and prudence he had managed to save money, and is, at the present writing, the owner of a fine two story brick house and a very considerable and valuable tract of land in Chester County. His wife and children after the close of the war, came over the Maryland line into Hopewell Township, York County, where they have since resided. About two weeks ago the old gentleman, (for such he is in every sense of the word)obtained a knowledge of their whereabouts and paid them a visit. He found the wife a servant in a respectable family and when he reached the house its inmates treated him with every possible mark of politeness and, respect. They prepared him a sumptuous meal and he seated himself at the table, fully prepared to do justice to it. Up to this time his wife had not yet made her appearanc, although he knew she was not far off and he would soon have a sight of her. She came at last and stood for some moments before him, before eiof them uttered a single word. The old man at length broke silence. "Maisey," says he, "you-you, your lookin' old." "Well," was the response, "if I does look old I doesn't look any older den you does." The scene that followed can be more readily imagined than described. The shock of the first meeting over and a recognition fully established, they embraced each other and indulged in those outbreaks of feeling and affection which only persons similarly situated could, who have been separated for thirty years. The next morning they all left for his home in Chester County, where they will no doubt spend the evening of their days in that comfort and quiet which were denied them in their earlier and maturer years.

Serious Railroad Accident.-From a gentleman residing at Goldsboro' we learn the particulars of a serious accident which occurred on the N. Central railroad, a short distance south of that village, on Sunday morning last. Engine No. 22, John Ungiaub, engineer, Michael Dean, fi eman, struck a cow about to cross the track. The engine was instantly upset, and 'he fireman so bably injured that he died a short time after the accident. The engineer was badly scalded, and after his injuries were attended to, he was taken to his home at New Freedom. There were about fifty fat hogs killed-five of the stock cars being completely destroyed and several others damaged. A number of crippled hogs were dispatched, in order to put them out misery .- State Journal of the 18th inst.

As we believe in giving both sides, a hearing we comply with the request of the writer and give place to the following:

For the Bloomfield Times. The Public Growlers.

Mr. Editor .- In looking over the columns of your paper of last week, I find a communication signed "Reformer," who, it appears is somewhat troubled about the finances of the county. It is perfectly right for Reformer or any other tax payer to look up the interest of the county, so long as he does not misrepresent matters; but he should be careful when he writes so that he knows the facts.

In the first place he asserts that " Commissioners Lineweaver and Rice struck hands and against the solemn protest of Mr. Stambaugh ordered a fire proof safe costing $800." Now Mr. Lineweaver was the last of the three to sanction the purchase of a safe; but all three are alike responsible if they have transcended their duty in that respect. The commissioners thought it was their duty to protect the vouchers and papers of the Treasurer's office, for which the safe is intended, and not for the commissioners office as Mr. Reformer asserts. In regard to the lightning rods he says they were also ordered "against the protest of Mr. Stambaugh at a cost of $700.00

The order for the rods was also signed by the whole board of commissioners.

As to paying $700, for the rodding of the poor house. Mr. Reformer had better post himself a little better before he shoots his heavy guns. The lightning rod company presented their bill for $509, which the commissioners promptly refused to pay and the matter is yet

The safe and lightning rods are not a mere matter of a few days but will last for generations to come and will be honor to the citizens ONE WHO KNOWS. of Perry County. NEWPORT, June 22, 1872.

Small Pox - A letter from Carliale says that small pox has made its appearance in Dickenson College, and that many students have left. Several cases are noted in the town, though no deaths are reported.

Duncannon Letter.

Duncannon, June 22, 1872. Editor of "The Times" — Preparations are being made for the celebration of the 4th on quite a large scale. Invitations have been given by Evergreen Lodge, I.O. of Odd Fellows to all the other Lodges in town to join them in getting up a Union (basket) picnic, to be held in Steel's woods.

picnic, to be held in Steel's woods.

A young lady of this place has been corresponding for a couple of years, with a miner in Nevada, and they having arranged matters satisfactorily, last Saturday night she left on the Cincinnati Express for San Francisco, where the wedding is to take place. She will then see her lover for the first time. Quite romantic.

Intemperance has been mentioned se often in communications from here, that the people may get weary hearing of it.— The evil is not so great, when none but the Lords of Creation indulge, and the little incidentals of weeping wives, with black-ened eyes, and hungry children, bulf naked, only excite a passing remark, but when the weaker sex indulge too freely, there is a great hue and cry about the disgrace. If liquor is so necessary to our well being that we must use it daily, why should it be wrong for those who are weaker physically, to make use of the same stimulant?

Common report says that we have two members of the L O. of W. B's. in town, who have taken all the degrees. May we be long spared from any addition to the

Two of our citizens have already left for the Boston Jubilee, and two more talk of doing so. Can any other little town in Perry boast of as many representatives to the grand musical racket?

Brief Items.

Locusts appear to be getting very plenty. In various sections of the county their musical hum is now heard.

During a storm last week as Miss Bella Weaver, of Green Spring, Cumberland Co., was alighting from a buggy, a current of electricity struck the buggy wheel, knock-ing her insensible, in which state she remained for some time, much to the alarm of the family.

Greeley says there will be no doughnut crop this fall, because the cold March wea-ther killed the buds on all the dough trees.

On Saturday afternoon the 15th inst., a barn in Saville twp., about two miles above Ickesburg, belonging to Mr. Frank Sheaf-fer, was destroyed by fire. How the fire originated is not known.

Caroline Bupp, of Newport who was convicted of Larceny and sent to the Peniten-tiary, has been pardoned by Govenor Geary.

Some of the dogs in this vicinity seem particularly fond of mutton. On Thursday night last four sheep belonging to Mr. H. C. Meredith, were killed near Barnett's mill in Centre Township. This makes thirty one sheep which have been killed by the dogs, in Centre Township, this season.

Juniata County .- From the Democrat and Register, and the Independent we copy | Pork $6.00 per 1001bs. the following:

About four o'clock, or soon after on the evening of Thursday last, a student at Tuscarora Academy, named McCullogh, from the State of Maryland, and aged about 22 years, was drowned in Pomeroy's mill dam. He in company with some half dozen of the students were in bathing, and being a poor swimmer, he got out into too deep water and was drowned. His remains were sent to his home in Maryland for in-

One day last week, John A. Hostetter, of Beale township, had his left leg broken between the knee and ankle. He was engaged in dragging out ties on the mountain and had his leg caught between a tie and street. and a tree.

The editor of the Republican mourns the loss of a 200 pound hog. It was killed by a miscreant who run a pitchfork or some other sharp instrument into the back of its neck near the withers, the wound penetrating to the depth of six or seven inches.
