Copenhagen that he had resolved not to return to Norway.

"You hasten home," said he; "they are longing for you there. As for me, nobody wants me, nor do I wish to visit again the scene of my folly and crime. Lose not a day Eric; I will get along without your tender care."

Copenhagen endeavored to dissuade Jarl from his purpose, but finding him inflexible began to prepare for his own departure. He had but little preparation to make. His cabin and mining claim he gave to Jarl and me jointly, having first ascertained our willingness to mine in partnership.

"It is de best claim in de diggings," said he, "but oder people know it not; and dere is plenty of ground. I have strike it rich but I say noting. I have very much dust—so much I do not know."

At parting he presented me with a handsome memento in the form of a massive gold ring, bearing my initials engraved on a shield, and his own name, which I then learned for the first time—"Eric Ericsson," inside.

Winter still lingered in the Sierra when he bade us a regretful adieu, but ere the spring had ripened into summer we received letters announcing his safe arrival home, and his marriage to Ilda Torson. By that time Jarl was well enough to handle a pick and shovel to some purpose. We erected some improved sluices, and, going to work with energy, were rewarded beyond our most sanguine hopes. We were unable, however, to keep our good fortune to ourselves, as Copenhagen had done, and soon all the ground above and below us was staked off and worked, with astonishing results. Perhaps you have heard of "Copenhagen Gulch?" This is the very spot.

For some years Jarl and I worked here, by which time our ground was exhausted, and we had amassed very considerable fortunes. Then Jarl was seized with a longing to return his native land. He had been in constant correspondence with Eric and doubtless with others in his native land for he used sometimes to receive three or four letters together; and at last he grew restless and discontented after the arrival of each mail, until he could bear it no longer. He returned home and a few months afterwards I was surprised to receive a letter from him announcing his marriage to Alga Ericsson, Eric's sister. Such curious turns affairs sometimes take in this world!

The Irish have been greatly excited during the past week. For several days the city of Belfast, has been at the mercy of the rioters. A despatch dated on the 20th inst., says:—The rioting in Belfast continued without abatement yesterday, despite the warning proclamation of the Mayor and Magistrates. The fighting was kept up by parties of rioters in various quarters, with stones, bludgeons and firearms. The Magistrates began yesterday to swear in special constables to assist in suppressing the disturbances. A proclamation was issued by the Mayor authorizing the troops holding the streets to fire upon all riotous assemblages offering resistance. All the stores were closed and business was entirely suspended. Additional troops were sent for, and are expected to reach Belfast to-day. At this hour the Hospital in Great Patrick street, is filled with wounded and dying, and the cries of the sufferers are heart-rending. Several women have been killed. The troops can do nothing without the sanction of the Mayor, who owing to the great indignation of citizens, has at length been compelled to order the military to engage with the rioters. About a dozen have been shot at the so-called Boyne bridge, near the railway station.

Dublin, Aug. 20.—The journeymen bakers of Dublin are on a strike for higher wages, in consequence of which large numbers of the inhabitants are deprived of bread and in a famishing condition. The most intense excitement prevails and hundreds of women are in the streets, inclined to riot and pouring imprecations upon the heads of the master bakers. Attacks upon the shops are feared.

Slight disturbances have occurred at Leicester Maidstone, Exeter and other towns, in consequence of the early closing of public houses in compliance with the provisions of the new licensing act.

A lover who lives in Mobile, having a quarrel with his lady-love, jumped off the wharf into the water. Some negroes fished him out, but his fair one showing no signs of relenting, in he jumped again. A second time the obliging darkies pulled him ashore. She said not a word, dropped not a tear, whereupon our hero, who evidently expected to be persuaded into living if only for "my sake," made for the water again. The negroes, who had previously rescued him, now determined to let him make a die of it sure enough, so they sat calmly on the wharf smoking their pipes and flashing their eyes. Down he went into the haunts of alligators and little fishes, and not liking the appearance of things below, rose to the surface, struck out vigorously, and, being a good swimmer, soon succeeded in making a landing some distance below the wharf, where his dulcina was standing calmly waiting the result. The girl was not to be fooled.

The U. B. Mutual Aid Society of Pennsylvania.

Present the following plan for consideration to such persons who wish to become members:

The payment of SIX DOLLARS on application, FIVE DOLLARS annually for FOUR YEARS, and thereafter TWO DOLLARS annually during life, with pro-rata mortality assessment at the death of each member, which for the FIRST CLASS is as follows:

Table with columns: Age, Assessment, and corresponding values for different age groups.

Will entitle a member to a certificate of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS, to be paid at his death to his legal heirs or assigns, whenever such death may occur.

A member, or his heirs, may name a successor; but if notice of the death of a member to the Secretary is not accompanied with the name of a successor, then the Society will put in a successor and fill the vacancy, according to the Constitution of the Society.

Should the member die before his four payments of five dollars are made, the remaining unpaid part will be deducted from the one Thousand Dollars due his heirs; his successor will then pay only two dollars annually during his lifetime, and the mortality assessments.

Male and Female from fifteen to sixty-five years of age, of good moral habits, in good health, hale, and sound of mind, irrespective of creed, or race, may become members. For further information, address L. W. CRAUMER, (Sec'y U. B. Mutual Aid Society,) LEBANON, PA.

$4,000 TO BE CREDITED TO MUTUAL POLICY HOLDERS. The Pennsylvania Central Insurance Company having had but little loss during the past year, the annual assessment on Mutual Policy-holders will not exceed 60 per cent. on the usual one year cash rates, which would be equal to a dividend of 40 per cent., as calculated in Stock Companies, or a deduction of 2 per cent., on the notes below the usual assessment; and as the Company has over $200,000 in premium notes, the whole amount credited to mutual policy-holders, over cash rates, will amount to $4,000. Had the same policy-holders insured in a Stock Company, at the usual rate, they would have paid $4,000 more than it has cost them in this Company. Yet some of our neighbor agents are running about crying "Fraud! Fraud!" and declare that a mutual company must fail.—But they don't say how many stock companies are failing every year, or how many worthless stock companies are represented in Perry County to-day.

It is a well-known fact that a Mutual Company cannot break. JAMES H. GRIER, Sec'y of Penn's Central Insurance Co. 625H
