The Bloomfield Gimes.

NEW BLOOMFIELD, PENN'A.

Tuesday, September 24, 1872.

THE Geneva arbitrators have closed their labors. They have considered all the claims and have agreed to award the United States fifteen millions five bundred thousand dollars in gold. The decision seems to meet the approval of the people of Great Britian.

A LARGE DEPALCATION has been discovered in the accounts of one of the clerks at the Sub-Treasury at New York. The defaulter was in charge of the stamp department. A short time since he applied for two weeks leave of absence, and not returning at the designated time, his accounts were examined and found to be short over one hundred thousand dollars. The fellow is probably out electioneering as he has not yet returned.

Ez-Governor Curtin.

Last week the Liberal Republican State Committee announced the nomination of Hon. A. G. Curtin for delegate at large to the Constitutional Convention, which nomination it is understood Mr. Curtin has accepted. Col. McClure in a speech at Columbia the other night announced authoritatively that Curtin is for Buckalew and Greeley.

On the same day a large band attacked the stock ranche of Jones Bros., and at last accounts bad surrounded the party in charge of the herds. The latter were fighting as best they could. Troops have gone to their relief.

Rescued from the Mormons.

The Carson, Nev., Register tells the following story: Andrew Smith a Dane about 22 years of age, a resident of Carson Valley, hearing that his sister was held in "durance vile" at Sanpete, Utah Territory, by a Mormon to whom she was "sealed," a man having two other wives, left Mottsville some three months since with the intention of rescuing his sister from the clutches of the "Lord's Annointed." Arriving in Utah he stopped at Sanpete some time, making believe his presence there was merely for the sake of paying his sister a visit, in order to allay any suspicion that might be raised in regard to his real inten-

At the time the Mormon conference was being held in Salt Lake City he prevailed on the man by whom his sister was held to let his three wives accompany him (Smith) to Salt Lake city to attend the conference. The polygamist consented, and the parties repaired to the 'City of Saints' in a carriage. On reaching that place young Smith succeeded in getting the two wives of the man to stop at the hotel, while he and his sister took a ride around the country, proposing to return in a short time.

Leaving the unsuspecting females, and when beyond the city limits, Smith drove at a rapid rate until he reached Ogden, where he and his sister took the cars going west, leaving horse and buggy at Ogden for the owners to recover as best they could. The happy couple arrived here on Thursday and proceeded to Carson Valley, where their parents reside. The young lady was glad to escape from the thraldom in which she was held, and her brother's joy at effecting her freedom knew no bounds. Smith says if this should meet the eye of his sister's former mate he hopes he will come out here to reclaim her, or send Brigham Young. Miss Smith when married to the man, had just come to the country and could not speak a word of English, and being ignorant of the customs of the people was held an easy cap-

Mr. Samuel Cornbower, residing at Jefferson station, North Codorus township, York county, is said to have in his posses sion and iron gray mare, now in the thirtyfourth year of her age, which regularly works with his team, doing her regular share of work, taking the lead in plowing and working under the saddle in the wagon. Her last colt was two years old last spring, and is a well formed animal. Mr. Cornbower has owned the mare since she was seven years old, and is she supposed to be the oldest of the equine species in York

A grain Elevator fell at Valego Cal., on the 18th inst., carrying the wharf and A Romantic Case.

Lucas county, Ohio, has a genuine Enoch Arden case-similar in almost every particular. The "Annie Arden" of the story has just died, and the Toledo Blade gives the romance of her life. Soon after she was married her husband started to Philadelphia to go into business there, but failing, he despatched a letter to his wife telling her of his plans, and then departed to the West Indies. The letter she never received. Nine years passed by and she, having became convinced of her husband's death, married again.

After her second marriage her first husband returned, and hearing how faithfully she had mourned him, and that she was happy, he disappeared without making himself known, and the vague rumors of his return was soon forgotten. Three years later she was summoned to his death bed., where every thing was explained, and where he told her how he had stolen one look "through the casement" at her as she sat in her new home, and then left her. The property which he accumulated during his wandering life he bequeathed to her children.

A Curious Cow.

Mr. F. P. Haehnlen, residing on the Jonestown road, in the Ninth ward, has a cow of Mr. Wm. Colder's choice Alderney breed, which was presented by the latter gentleman to Mr. H., when a mere calf. The cow is now three years old and gives a constant supply of milk, but never had a calf, Mr. H. assures us. Mr. Haehnlen prizes the animal highly for its many good qualities, and would like some stock breeder or scientific agriculturalist to explain the theory of cows giving a flow of milk without having calves .- Harrisburg State Jour-

Double Murder.

The dead bodies of two white men were found on the old Washington turnpike, in a thicket, three miles from Baltimore, last week. A pistol was also found by the side of each, one discharged and the other not. They had been killed some weeks ago, as they were much decayed. An emigrant ticket was found on one. They were both well clad. There is much mystery about the affair. It is supposed they were murdered by a party of gipsies encamped there three weeks ago, and robbed.

Then, tying the child's hands and feet together, he hung him over the bed-post, head downwards. Thus completing his work, the brute left the house.
