MR. GREELEY has remained in the privacy of his farm-house, at Chappadua, in strict retirement since the burial of his wife. He will again resume the editorial reins over the Tribune, and Whitelaw Reid will revert back into second place, or retire into another field. In a card announcing his return to the Tribune Mr. Greeley says;

"Since he will never again be a candidate for any office, and is not in full accord with either of the great parties which have hitherto divided the country, he will be able and will endeavor to give a wider and steader regard to the progress of science, industry and the useful arts than a par-tisan journal can do. And he will not be provoked to indulge in those litter perso-nalities which are the recognized bane of

Indicted for Libel.

A most outrageous libel was recently published in Woodhull and Claffin's weekly, regarding Rev. H. Ward Beecher, and the parties were proceeded against under the act regarding the sending of obscene literature through the Mails. On Monday, of last week, the United States grand jury found indictments against Victoria Woodhull and Tennie C. Claffin, who were arrested on Saturday charged with mailing indecent printed matter. The prisoners were taken from Ludlow street jail at one o'clock and brought before Commissioner Osborne, who said the indictments relieved him of the necessity of holding an examination. The accused were visibly affected, on hearing of the indictments, Mrs. Woodhull almost to tears. Miss Claffin looked somewhat defiant. The counsel for the prisoners complained of the conduct of the government in pressing an indictment pending the exami nation as a most arbitrary proceeding. The accused came prepared for the fullest examination. The commissioner ordered warrants following the indictments to be served upon the accused, and they were removed to jail in default of $8,000 ball each.

There are many complaints of the ravages of bears in and about Collegeville, in Saline county, Arkansas. They are driven in by the scarcity of mast, and the farmers' barnyards are suffering in consequence. One man has lost sixteen head of hogs during the past week, and so bold are they becoming that fears are entertained for the safety of children in some localities.

Rochester, November 5 .- This morning at an early hour Mrs. Susan B. Anthony and eight other females went in a body to the polls at the Eight ward and presented their votes. The Inspectors received their votes and deposited them in the boxes. There were eighteen woman registered in the same district.

Remarkable Casualty.

A distressing accident is recorded in the Goldsboro, N, C., Messenger of Saturday. While the people were leaving the large pavillions of Robinson's circus at the close of the evening exhibition, a colored woman named Eliza White walked into an old open well. Her cries soon attracted to the spot Andrew Clark, one of the circus employees, who immediately jumped in after the unfortunate woman.

A large crowd soon began' to collect around the scene of the accident, each crowding the other to get a position nearest to it, when Nicholas H. Ashe, another of the circus men, while endeavoring to render aid to those already in the well, was accidentally pushed in also, there being no curb around the excavation.

To add to the horrors a lare as showmen generally use, which had care lessly been placed near the edge to enable those outside preparing to rescue, to see, was upset and knocked into the well on top of the three unfortunates within. The woman was burned to death before assistance could arrive. The two showmen were taken to Hunter's infirmary and their injuries attended to.

A Problem.

The Memphis Appeal of November 2d says: On the north side of Beal street, just west of Shelby, a cellar is in process of excavation. Yesterday, while the laborers were digging away with all their might, little dreaming of death or dead people they encountered a coffin in a fair state of preservation, on opening which they found a skeleton, evidently of a grown person, but of what sex we did not learn. Later in the day they found two others and a fourth was in sight, when the pall of night covering the earth, the men were forced to quit work. As there never was a graveyard in that vicinity, nor a medical college, people who have heard of the discoveries are asking, "How came these bodies the re."

A Bridgeport young lady, whose affections had been blighted, is reported to have recently made preparations to commit suicide by the taking of poison, having purchased a quantity of prussic acid for the purpose. The next day, however, she was turned from her purpose by the sight of a new bonnet, of charming style, which she concluded to purchase and wear to church the next Sunday, hoping by so doing to crush the feelings of a fair rival.
