FARM AND HOUSEHOLD ITEMS

We invite communications from all persons who are interested in matters properly belonging to this department.

The Market Value of Short Horn Cattle.

The Irish Farmer's Gazette, of recent date gives an account of a sale of sixty-one head of cattle, which averaged £253 each.

"A bull brought the asteunding sum of £1,732 10s; a calf nine days old, £262 10s; another, two months old, fetched £525; and a cow, £945. These are facts which the croakers who go about, shaking their heads and declaring that short-horn breeding is on the decline, will do well to 'mark, learn and inwardly digest.""

The price of the bull in gold would be over eight thousand dollars, or in currency, about nine thousand five hundred dollars! Animals of rare blood, bred on this side, have recently been exported to Great Britain, where they brought enormous prices on account of the strains of blood to which they belonged being greatly sought for.

Burning Out Chimneys.

"Chimneys should be attended to every autumn, if we would avoid their taking fire. Many a valuable homestead has been destroyed from negligence in this matter. Soot accumulates very rapidly, and much sooner with some kinds of coal than others, and there is also a difference in the wood. If a chimney takes fire, the readiest means to stop it is to apply a wet table cloth, hearth-rug or blanket to the whole front of the grate or fire-place, and either hold or pin it close into the jamb, then lift up the bottom far enough to throw a pail of water on the fire. If a pistol is fired up a chimney it will bring down quantities of soot, and it is an easy way to clean out a small chimney.

Long Furrow Economical.

A German agricultural journal prints a plea for long furrows. The turning of the plow and the commencing of a new furrow require more exertion in the plowman and the team than continued work on a straight line; and how great may really be the loss of time, from frequent interruptions in short turns, may be shown by the following calculations: In a field of 225 feet long five and a-half acres out of ten are used in redirecting the plow; with a length of 575 feet, four hours are sufficient for the purpose; and when the plow can proceed without interruption for 800 feet, only one and a-half hours of the daily working time are consumed.

Don't Rest.

There is no such thing as rest for the farmer who would attain to full success. Admissible lulls in his physical labors may occur, but there are required mental labors enough to fill these up. Plans must be laid, and these "rests," as they are called, are the seasons in which to lay them. Thoroughly matured and well-digested plans are ever half the battle. should strike a blow until he knows exactly what he expects to do. The industrious farmer who has an object full in view at the beginning of the year will be sure to have an object to view when the

How to get Clean Seed Wheat.

For separating light wheat from good, we find the following method recommended: Take lye from wood ashes, strong enough to bear up a potato, and having poured the grain into it, skim off all that floats, and pour off the lye. The grain may then be rinsed, and spread out so that it will dry quickly, when it will be in fit condition for sowing. Not only is the light weight thus removed, but insects or their eggs which may be mixed with the grain are destroyed, and no injury is caused to the grain if it is not allowed to remain in the lye. For lighter grains than wheat, lye of less strength is used.

Farmers Should Visit.

One of the most important duties of the farmer is to visit his neighbor. Be neighborly; be social; let out those good social feeling; make them grow; go see your neighbor, and learn of his success; exchange ideas, confer with one another. If our farmers would do this, if one farmer would only visit around his whole neighborhood once every three months, a world of good would be accomplished. The social virtues would be promoted, and useful knowledge gained.

How to Save Clover Seed.

A Canada farmer put a wire bottom in a trough in which he fed his stock-the wire being two or three inches above the close bottem of the trough. The stock, in pulling the clover hay from the rack, would scatter the seed, almost pure, through the wire into the receptacle below. In this way he saved seed enough for his own sowing, and to pay for all the dry goods used in his family and received $25 in each be-

Insurance Notice.

On and after the tenth day of April, 1872, The Home Reserve force of Insurance Agents belonging to "The Pennsylvania Central Insurance Company" will leave Pottsville in heavy force, and occupy ten different counties of the State, where they will continue to act as the Company's Agents until a full line of Local Agents can be appointed, when they will be recalled. As a body of men, I believe they are superior Insurance Agents, and most of them speak the English, French, Welsh and German Languages. The City Insurance Journals, with all their sneers at Mutual Companies, and continual cry of Fraud! Fraud! &c., cannot muster any better Insurance material! Why don't the City Insurance papers tell the public that no Mutual Company broke or failed during the last ten years? Why don't they tell the public that more than half the Stock Companies started within the last ten years have? It is a well-known fact that Mutual Companies cannot fail.
