HUMOROUS.

The story is told of Mr. Jones, who, one evening in fly time having been provokingly lashed in the face, tied the tail of the cow he was milking very securely to his boot strap. Everything went on smoothly for a time, and Mr. Jones congratulated himself on the stratagem. Presently, however, the cow took a notion to lash a fly that was biting her. Mr. Jones chuckled when he felt the pull at his bootstrap; but his chuckling was soon cutshort, for "Bossie," finding she could not touch her tormentor, suddenly started, and as Mr. Jones was not prepared for such a demonstration, he was upset and the contents of the pail, distributed over his person. The cow stopped for a moment, but in that time our hero had gained his feet, an instant after he was seen with his hand on the cow making the tour of the farm yard with prodigious hops upon one foot. At every hop he would ejaculate, "So, Boss," but "Boss" didn't "so" worth a cent. At last the boot attachment gave way, and Mr. Jones returned to the house a wiser if not a sadder man. When three Irishmen dug a ditch for which they were to receive four dollars, the trouble was how to divide four among three, and have it aqual. One of them remained quiet and the other two at last deferred to his judgment, as he had been to school, and knew 'rithmetic to make the division. He did it at once saying, "It's aisy enough! Shure there's two for you two, and two for me too." "Be gorra," said one of his co-laborers, "what a great thing it is to have learning!" "And," said the other, as he pocketed his single dollar, "and to know 'rithmetic too! It's the likes of us two'd never divide them. four dollars aqually."

A Boston physician lately [called at a house for the purpose of vaccinating a young lady. After waiting until his patience was almost exhausted for his patient to appear, she presented her right arm, when the following conversation ensued :-"I must have your other farm, miss : we don't inoculate the right arm," 'Oh dear! was the reply. " Couldn't you do it on this arm? It has taken me twenty minutes to wash it, and I am afraid it will take an hour to wash the other !"

"That's where the boys fit for college," said the professor to Mrs. Partington, pointing to a school house. "Did they?" said the old lady with animation. "Then, if they fit for the college before they went, they didn't fight afterward?" 'Yes," said be, smiling and favoring the conceit, "but the fight was with the head, not with the hands." "Butted did they?" said the old lady.

A lady on being told a friend wished to see her, desired her little daughter, about eight years old, to say that she was not in ; upon this, the friend being anxious to have an interview, asked the child when her mother would be likely to return. . The little thing very innocently said, calling up stairs: "Mamma, the lady wishes to know when you will be in?"

Responses to prayers and sermons may be good if they come in at the right place. Not so, however, came in a response to a minister in an African church. He had come down from the pulpit to invite a stranger to preach for him, but was unsuccessful. "Brethren," said he, "I invited Brother S-- to preach, but he declines." "Thank God!" roared out a man from the middle of the church.

137" A gentleman scated in the stalls of a theatre who was afflicted with remarkably long ears, overheard the jocular remarks of a neighboring young man to another, which were by far too loudly expressed. The proprietor of the ears, turned round thereat sharply and said, "It is true my ears are very large indeed for a man, but yours are very small indeed for an ass." A western coronor's jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death from exposure: "What do you mean by that!" asked the relative of the dead man; "there are two bullet holes in the skull." "Just so," replied the coroner, "he died f rom exposure to bullets." "My son," said a fond papa who was looking over the lesson his boy had recited that day, 'how did you manage when your teacher told you to spell met-

"I just stood spellbound." "Do you think it safe, my dear," said a husband to his wife, "for me to take off flannel when it looks like spring?" "Perhaps so," replied the wife, "but I never saw any flannel that looked like spring."

empsychosis?" 'O, father," said the boy,

I'd rather not take a horn with you, said the loafer to the mad bull, but the bull insisted on treating him to two, and the loafer got quite high.

The young lady singer, who thought she could make her voice clearer by straining it, made a great mistake.

A sick man was told that nothing would cure him but a quart of catnip tea, "Then I must die," said he, "for I don't hold but a pint."

"Do you go in for the Maine Liquor Law?" "Why partly yes, and partly no .-I go in for liquor, but not for the law."
