

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bowels are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Distensions, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs. They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blisters, Spots, Pimples, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eye, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

HUMOROUS.

The Wrong Man. "Dick" Wood, candidate for Congress in this district, while canvassing in the mountains the other day, was compelled at one point to imbibe a good deal of apple jack in order to convince the natives that he was not one of those "high flyers" who think themselves made of superior stuff to the "honest and hardy yeomanry." The consequence was that Dick after giving orders to be woken up at three o'clock in the morning, that he might be able to reach a distant appointment—when he retired to rest, was in five minutes after he laid down "as good as a dead man."

Some scamps procured some lamp black, and thoroughly blacked his face. Next morning, promptly, he was aroused at three o'clock, and was in such a hurry to be off that he did not take time to wash, but bolted his breakfast and rode away at a brisk gait. Arriving at his destination he hunted up a prominent politician, to whom he had a letter of introduction, and presented credentials. The gentleman read the letter, alternating the reading with glances at Dick's face and then asked: "Are you Major Woods, of Mount Sterling?"

"That's my name, sir," replied Dick. "Why, I thought you were a white man," said the other. Greatly astonished, "Dick" blurted out, "And so I am."

"Well you have a cussed black skin for a white man."

"What the devil do you mean?" asked "Dick," angrily, "do you mean to insult me?"

"No, sir, but you had better not attempt to speak here to-day. Our boys won't stand a speech from a nigger!"

"A nigger!" cried "Dick;" "why, there ain't a drop of nigger blood in my veins! I'm as white as any other man!"

Seeing a glass on the wall, "Dick" stepped up and looked in it. Starting back, he exclaimed:

"Well, if the cussed fools at Wytheville haven't waked up the wrong man, and Wood is over there yet!"

Jerking off his hat, he dropped into a chair and began vigorously to fan himself. The other seeing his straight hair, and noticing that the back of his neck appeared to be white, suggested soap and water.

Fontenelle, at the age of ninety-seven, after saying many able and gallant things to the young and beautiful Madame Helvetius, passed her once without perceiving her.

"See," said she, stopping and addressing him, "how I ought to value your gallantries! You pass me without even looking at me!"

"Madame," said the old man, "if I had looked at you, I could not have passed."

A Memphis paper says that a chap wandered into the Mayor's office in that city recently, and asked permission to look at the book in which the names of candidates for office are entered. The clerk blandly asked him what office he was running for, when he replied, "wall, I dunno; thought I'd look over and go for any vacancy that might turn up. I'm beasty fond of orris."

The other day, says the Troy Press, a lady, having occasion to leave her apartment a few minutes, locked the door and left a little child of two years playing upon the floor. When she came back she was horrified to see the girl toying with a rat which she had in one hand and was affectionately caressing with the other. With a scream of dismay the young mother rushed to its side, and, snatching up the rat, proceeded to do up her hair with it.

"Bobson, they tell me you've taken your boy away from the public school.—What's that for?"

Villager—"Cause the master ain't fit to teach 'em."

"Squire—"O, I've heard he is a very good master."

Villager—"Well, all I know is, he wanted to teach my boy to spell 'taters with a P'!"

At a recent examination the question was asked why the children of Israel made a golden calf and worshiped it after they had been forbidden such idolatry by Moses.

A precocious little fellow sharply answered, "Because they had not enough gold to make a bull with." The laughter which followed put a stop to the examination for that day.

A kirk luminary recently asked his pet scholar why they took Stephen outside the walls of the city to stone him to death. The little fellow was silent for a moment, as though absorbed with the problem, when, brightening up suddenly, he replied, "So they could git a better crack at him."

"Have you Blasted Hopes?" asked a young lady of a librarian with a handkerchief tied over his jaw.

"No, ma'am," said he, "it's only a blasted toothache!"
