

The Bloomfield Times.

Tuesday, April 8, 1873.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

Notices of Marriages and Deaths not exceeding four lines, will be inserted free, and friends throughout the county are requested to send such notices in.

Tributes of Respect, Poetry, &c., will invariably be charged for at the rate of 25 cents per line.

Duncannon, Bloomfield and Leysville B. R.

It is highly important that the five dollars now due on each share of this stock, be promptly paid. Many of the subscribers have responded to this call and we trust that all will do so with a little delay as possible.

The law compels a notice of two weeks before an election for directors can be held after the commissioners have received the letters patent. We hope to be able to give that notice next week, and if this assessment is promptly paid there is no doubt but what an election for directors can be held before the close of this month, and only those who have paid this assessment have a vote on that occasion.

The subscription book of the company is in the hands of F. Mortimer, to whom the assessments can be paid and who will gladly receive further subscriptions.

The assessment can also be paid to Mr. John H. Sheibley, New Bloomfield, or to John Wister, Esq., Treasurer of the board of Commissioners, Duncannon, Pa.

Thunder and Lightning.—On Saturday evening this vicinity was visited by a rain storm, accompanied by remarkably vivid lightning. In the night two more showers fell during which time the lightning was even sharper, and the thunder heavier than in the evening.

Struck by Lightning.—During the storm on Saturday night a barn in Millerstown belonging to Wm. Faust, was struck by lightning. A flame burst out at once, but by a prompt application of water from the spouting the neighbors succeeded in putting out the fire before much damage was done.

History of Perry Co.—We have received from Prof. Silas Wright, a copy of a work entitled a "History of Perry County." The book is gotten up in readable style, is well bound and is a work that should find its way into every family in this county. It will also be found an interesting book for citizens of other localities, and we trust Mr. Wright will find the ready sale for his book, that its merit entitles it to.

Accidents.—On Saturday evening a horse belonging to Mr. George Bistine, while hitched in front of the Eagle Hotel, in this borough, was frightened and breaking away ran out High street, to the Widow's Run, before he was stopped. The horse was not injured, but the spring wagon to which he was harnessed, was almost entirely demolished, there being only one whole wheel left.

A few evenings since while Mr. J. B. Hackett, was driving along about a mile from this borough, the harness strap broke causing the shafts to draw out of the carriers, and drop to the ground. Fortunately the only damage done was to break the shafts.

Burned to Death.—On Wednesday night the tool shop of the Pennsylvania canal company at Northumberland was destroyed by fire. Thursday morning the charred body of John Hamel, of Williamsport, was discovered among the debris. As it was customary for him to lodge in the building it is supposed that he fell asleep while smoking and that fire from his pipe communicated with combustible material and enveloped the tool house in flames. Among the contents of the shop were several barrels of tar and rosin.

Coal Oil Lamp Explosion.—A correspondent from Landisburg, sends the following:

On Monday evening the 24th of March, Mary C. Welch, daughter of Robert Gibson, Esq., of Landisburg, going from the dining-room to an adjoining one, placed the lamp on a stand, when it instantly exploded, scattering the oil upon her clothes and enveloping her in flame, burning her so severely that one of her hands may not regain its former vitality. A neighbor hearing her screams rushed into the house, and three blankets around her and smothered the fire, which no doubt saved her from a horrible death. A previous day's washing was in the room which caught fire and it was with difficulty the greater portion was saved by the united efforts of those who had gathered to the scene. It would seem providential, that she had taken the lamp out of the dining room, where there were four children, the result of which if the explosion had taken place there would no doubt have been disastrous to them, and the consequences more fatal.

Local Legislation.—The following bills of interest to this county were introduced last week.

Mr. Crawford—To authorize the commissioners of Perry county to borrow money for the erection of a bridge over the Juniata river, at Duncan's island, in conjunction with the county of Dauphin.—Passed.

By Mr. Shuler—Requiring the commissioners of Perry county to advertise proposals for bridge building contracts.

Juniata County.—From the Juniata Sentinel we copy the following:

A young man named Robert Garman, a resident of Beale township, was lodged in the county jail on Tuesday night of last week, charged with attempting to commit a rape on a daughter of Frank Jinkins, colored, aged about 12 years, who resides with her uncle in Beale township, and, also, with threatening to kill her.—The girl alleges the assault was made while on her way home from Pomeroy's store on the 16th of March. The case will be tried at the April Term of Court and as the guilt or innocence of the accused will there be established we refrain from making any comments on this seeming terrible outrage.

Mr. Editor—I notice in the Insurance Reporter of March 6th, 1873, a list of twenty-nine fire and marine insurance companies located in the city of Philadelphia, giving the standing and condition of each company January 1, 1873.

I also notice a company called the Hope Mutual fire insurance company, of Philadelphia, Pa., whose name is not on the list published by the Reporter. As the Insurance Reporter is a newspaper devoted to insurance affairs, and the Hope Mutual fire insurance company appears to be represented in this county by several agents, the public should know the reason why the name of the company is not published in the Reporter's list. The people of this county do not wish to pay money to any strange company unless they are sure it is all right, and they expect the company to explain why its name and condition cannot be published in the Reporter.

INQUIRER.

Brief Items.

An unusual number of changes in residence were made in this borough on Tuesday last.

A clock has been placed on the Bethel Church, in Newburg, Cumberland county.

E. M. Mater, of Cumberland county, shot a bald eagle near Harrisburg on Monday, which measured six feet across the wings.

The measles is prevailing to an alarming extent in Carroll twp., this county, and is proving fatal in many cases.

Wednesday last, Mrs. Paul Rider, residing in Front street, fell and broke her right arm. Dr. James B. Eby reduced the fracture.—Newport News.

Joseph Milliken, of Millin county, is the champion Bible reader, he having concluded his forty-first through on the 1st of January, and in his last reading averaged fourteen chapters a day.

A horse driven by Mr. Hostetter got up a little sensation on Wednesday last, in the square in this borough by twisting the shafts of a spring wagon. Fortunately no other damage was done and no one was hurt.

Rafts have already commenced to arrive at Harrisburg, and the prospects are for a good season for lumbering.

Casels' Blue Horse Powder is the best in the market. It is put up in packages of 25 and 40 cents, and is for sale by Frank Mortimer.

Bloomfield Photograph Gallery Still Open.—Burkholder & Wright's Pictures can't be beat. Mr. Burkholder will remain with R. H. Wright until after May Court. Pictures taken all sizes from carte de visite to life size. Now is the time to secure good pictures; cloudy days best for taking negatives, except small children which should be brought in on clear weather, do not wait until court week those who can come sooner, as we will be crowded on that week.

An American adventuress, giving her name as Maria Graindorge, has been arrested in Paris on the following charge of impudent and ingenious swindling. She appeared well dressed, and with a very fine baby in her arms, at the houses of wealthy Parisians, asking to see the proprietor. As soon as she was admitted to his presence, she would rush at him exclaiming, "Traitor! wretch! villain! have I found you at last?" At the same time, the handsome baby, having been trained for that purpose, would extend its little arms towards the astonished gentleman, and cry, "Papa, dear papa!" It may be imagined that "papa" preferred to give the swindler some money in order to make her leave the house. When she was arrested at her residence in the Rue Davivier, no fewer than seven trained babies were found in the house, also nine or ten thousand francs in money. Mdlle Graindorge, upon being closely pressed by the examining magistrate, confessed that her real name was Oaks; that she was a native of New York; and that she had been before at the Saint Lazare prison. The Paris Assizes found her guilty, and she was sent for seven years to New Caledonia.

Singular Accident. In Philadelphia last week a runaway horse broke through the side windows of a Twelfth street car at Twelfth and Green street and became wedged between the seats. There were seven or eight persons in the car, who were considerably frightened. A lady with her baby was thrown to one side, and a Mrs. Reynolds and her daughter were bruised by the horse falling on them.

The excitement among the farmers throughout Illinois over the alleged railroad extortions continues to increase.—Meetings are being held everywhere, and resolutions passed declaring their determination to resist the oppressions "peaceably, if we can; forcibly, if we must." It is believed there are nearly one thousand societies already organized, containing about one hundred thousand members.—A large meeting was held at Oregon on Saturday. A long series of resolutions was passed.

Charles M. Barras, author of the "Black Crook," accidentally jumped through a bridge at Coscob, from the Boston express train, on the 1st inst., and died about one o'clock next morning.

His body was frightfully mangled. His place at Coscob had been sold to Edwin Booth, but Barras generally went there on Sunday evenings to visit a young lady in the village.

At Chicago, on Thursday last, while workmen were placing girders for the dome of Field Leiter & Co.'s new building at Washington and State streets, the platform gave way and Philip Merson fell one hundred and twenty feet and was killed. F. C. Cole, of Montreal, was struck by falling timbers and received internal injuries. A boy was also injured by falling timbers.

Reading, April 2.—Whist Abraham Yoder, of the county treasury, had his back turned this forenoon, some persons, at present unknown, stole two five hundred dollar bills from the treasury. No arrests were made.

A gentle father in Iowa not being able to cultivate in his daughter an affection for his society evenings, gave her an opiate in her tea and afterward shaved her like a nun. This soft persuasion will win her to his fireside for some time to come.

One of the mills of the American powder company at Acton, blew up last week killing two men and injuring three.

The April number of "OLD AND NEW" contains a remarkable supply of local and entertaining papers. Two new serial novels are begun,—one by an American, and one by an Englishman. The former is Mr. Frederic B. Perkin's story of "Scrope, or The Lost Library," which opens with a close and accurate picture of the fun and earnest of book-auctions in New York city, and gives hints of kleptomania and various other "modern improvements." The latter, by Mr. F. C. Burnard, the well-known humorist, and author of the "Happy Thought" books, is in the form of an autobiography, beginning with the birth of the hero. There are two papers of a natural history sort: one in particular, entitled "Some Cats I have known," is very funny in many places. Mr. T. G. Appleton has a quaint and thoughtful sketch, entitled "The Two Monks." There is a lively story of the mining-districts by the late Frederic Wadsworth Loring, and many other good articles. The editorial introductions this month are two,—the first considering the important question of the limitations of government, with an incidental assertion that there are two sides to the Oakes-Ames question; and the Examiner Introduction, outlining a distinct theory of newspapers, and looking a little at the habitual claims of the so-called "metropolitan" paper to govern the country, and people's minds, and the universe generally.
