Terrible Disaster.

At Dixon, Ill., on the 4th inst., a terrible accident involving a fearful loss of life oc-

The rite of baptism was being administered at a point in Rock river, just below the Truesdale iron bridge, and about two hundred persons, including many ladies and children, had gathered on the bridge to witness the ceremonies. Suddenly, without warning, the bridge gave way and precipitated its living freight into the stream below. The scene which ensued was indescribably terrible, as the struggling victims vainly endeavored to free themselves from the ruins of the bridge and from each other. Large crowds of people on the banks rushed wildly to and fro, many of them so distracted with terror as to be unable to render any assistance. Others, more selfpossessed, speedily brought ropes, planks and boats, and went nobly to work to rescue the living and recover the dead. Some of those who were on the bridge when it fell were so near the ends that they were able to reach land without assistance. Up to 6 P. M. 32 dead bodies had been taken from the river, and it is almost certain that there are others still under the wreck of the bridge. Of those saved twenty-four were more or less injured, some fatally.

A despatch dated the following day says! Reports this morning from Dixon, Illinois, makes it probable that at least ninety persons were drowned by the breaking of the bridge yesterday. The current was swift and many bodies were borne down the river-

Several have been picked up at Sterling and other points. A patrol has been established at a point to recover whatever bodies may float to that point, though so swift is the current that it is feared some of them may have already passed over the

The train from Chicago last night brought down grappling irons and some machinery for clearing away the debris of the bridge, which has been put in operation.

Among the lost are believed to be a considerable number of children and women, of whom a great number were on the bridge, and whose clothing would aid in floating them away. The number of miss ing it is utterly impossible to ascertain, as there were many strangers present.

Whole families on the fatal bridge may have been lost, and many may have perished for whom as yet no inquiry has been made. Among the lost was a daughter of Mrs. M. L. Rayne, editress of the Chicago

The Wilmington and Reading Rail Road.

We are enabled to state that the Wilmington and Reading Railroad Extension -first from Birdsboro to Reading and thence to the Lehigh river-is advancing rapidly towards a successful completion, and has, within a few days, made several important steps of progress. The contracts for the graduation and masonry of the upper half of the Berks County Rail Road (referred to above as the extension last week. This portion is between Lenhartsville and Slatington, and is generally light work, which can rapidly be prepared for the track. Financial arrangements between the Wilmington and Reading and the Berks county corporations were also consummated, by which the nine miles of road between Birdsboro and Reading will be promptly built. Considerable work on it is done, and the iron to lay the track is already provided by the Wilmington and Reading Railroad, but a heavy rock weakened constitution USF 17d4w from Reading to the Lehigh) were arranged and Reading Railroad, but a heavy rock cutting has impeded progress. This will now be promptly finished, and in four months it is expected that the trains to and from this city will run direct between Birdsboro and Reading, over the extension, without using, as now, the tracks of the Philadelphia and Reading.

Another important matter is the sale of all the remaining second mortgage bonds of the Wilmington and Reading Railroad.

A considerable amount of these were unsold. The improving prospects of the road have now enabled the Company to place the whole of them on satisfactory terms, and enable it to perform all its part of the development and extension.

The Pennsylvania Legislature his presented to the Berks County Railroad the right of way through the city of Reading. The right of way is given through Front street, the same on which the Berks County Road proposed to lay its rails, several months ago, under authority of the Reading City Councils.

Within a year, it is confidently hoped to have our whole line, of one hundred miles, between Wilmington and the Lehigh coal region, via the great manufacturing district of Reading and vicinity, completed and ready for operation .- Wilmington Commer-

Ta A New York lady who had rented a house in Philadelphia, vistited the premises on Saturday morning for the purpose of arranging it for the reception of the furniture. While there alone she fell and broke her leg, by which accident she was rendered perfectly belpless. There was nobody with her but a little boy, and no means existing of getting help. She lay in the house till seven o'clock on Sunday morning, when by some means the police learned of her situation and took her to the
