10 Per Cent. Investments

SECURED BY MORTGAGE ON REAL ESTATE WORTH THREE TIMES THE SUM LOANED. Interest Payable Semi-Annually at the Banking House of ALLEN, STEPHENS & CO. IN NEW YORK CITY. Or at any Bank designated by the lender.

WE ARE INVESTING FOR EASTERN parties many thousands of dollars per month in first mortgages on improved property in Illinois, and such has been the demand for these desirable securities, that we have, during the last fifteen months, placed in them nearly One Million of Dollars, the semi-annual interest on which has in each and every case, been promptly paid.

These mortgages are in the form of Trust Deeds, and can be closed in twenty days, should there be a failure to pay interest or taxes when due. We invest any sum, be it large or small, and collect and remit interest and principal as it matures, all without expense to the lender. Can refer to parties for whom we have loaned large amounts, and who have never lost a dollar either of principal or interest in this class of securities during the last fifteen years. Send for our pamphlet, "Illinois as a place of Investment," mailed free.

HUMOROUS.

Absent Minded People.

Robert Simpson, the Scotch mathematician, was noted for his absent-mindedness. He used to sit at his open window on the ground floor, deep in geometry, and when accosted by a beggar, would arouse himself, hear a few words of the story, make his donation and dive. Some wags one day stopped a mendicant on his way to the window with—"Now do as I tell you, and you will get something from that gentleman and a shilling from us besides. He will ask you who you are, and you will say, 'Robert Simpson, of Kirktonhill.'" The man did as he was told; Simpson gave him a coin, dropped off. He soon roused himself, and said: "Robert Simpson! son of John Simpson, of Kirktonhill! why that is myself! that must be an impostor!"

Topham Beauclerk was a strangely absent-minded person. One day he had a party coming down to dinner, and just before their arrival he went up stairs to change his dress. He forgot all about them, thought it was bed time, and got into bed. A servant, who entered his room to tell him his guest were waiting for him, found him fast asleep.

Another case of absence of mind was that of a young woman in Portland, who was sent by her mother to buy a pair of shoes, and instead of buying them married the shoemaker. It was a week before she discovered her mistake, and even then did not cry about it.

An absent minded person once dined out at a stranger's table, got up after dinner, and apologized to the company for the meanness of the fare and the detestable cooking.

A Dissatisfied Customer.

The Colonel had been recommended to take horseback exercise for the benefit of his health, by his physician, and accordingly applied at a well known stable for the animal. In about three hour he returned, covered with dust and perspiration, and with the assistance of one of the hostlers, slowly and painfully descended from his steed.

"How much?"

"Three dollars, colonel."

He slowly drew his wallet, and laid down the required sum.

"Shall you want the horse again to-morrow, Colonel?"

"No; I shant want him any more at all."

"Indeed," said the stable-keeper, with a twinkle in his eye, as he noticed the Colonel holding on to his lacerated body.

"Perhaps the horse don't suit you."

"O, yes," said Barnes, quickly; "there is nothing the matter with the horse; he's all right. It's the price I object to."

"The price!" said the stable-keeper; "why I only charged you three dollars, Colonel, which we consider cheap for the horse's services all the afternoon."

"Well, I don't," squealed Barnes, rubbing his aching body; "for whenever I want anything of this kind again, I know a big lumberman who will kick me all day for half the money."

During the war, one of the Northern hotel keepers was on a visit to Norfolk. The eggs came to the table boiled hard.

"Look here," said the hotel keeper, "Sambo, these eggs are boiled too hard,—Now take my watch and boil them three minutes by it."

"He gave the negro his splendid gold watch. In about five minutes, the freedman returned with the egg and watch on the same plate. The watch was wet.

"What have you been doing with my watch?" asked the Northern visitor.

"Why, it's all wet."

"Yes, sah," said the negro. "I billed the watch wid de eggs. All right dis time, sah!"

A Dutchman once met an Irishman on a lonely highway. As they met each smiled, thinking he knew the other. Fat, on seeing his mistake remarked, with a look of disappointment:

"Faith, an' I thought it was me, an' it's nayther of us."

"Yaw, dat ish chru. I am anuder man and you ish not yourself; we pe poth some other podies."

An Irish physician, was called to examine the corpse of another Irishman who had been assassinated by some of his countrymen. "This person," said he after inspecting the body, "was so ill that if he had not been murdered he would have died half an hour before."

A young widow down in Kennebec, Me., remarked at the funeral, "I hope you'll excuse my not crying, but the fact is, crying always makes my nose bleed." She wil make an excellent mother-in-law.

A gentleman being asked if his neighbor's dog was a hunter, said it was half hunter and half setter; that he hunted until he found a bone and then sat down to eat it.

A Dandy inquired at a fruit stand: "Are these apples fit for a hog to eat?" "Try one and see," said the woman.

A Brooklyn editor can't see why, if a brooklet means a little brook, that a tamllet shouldn't mean a little ham.
