This Company now being duly organized is prepared to receive subscriptions to the Capital Stock. Subscription blanks can be had at the Perry County Bank, or of either of the officers of the Company at Bloomfield, or of W. E. Swartz, at Duncannon. Mr. James McIlheny has also been appointed an Agent for receiving Subscriptions.

The Directors of the Company urge upon the citizens of the County, the importance of prompt action so that the work of grading the road can be commenced this season.

F. MORTIMER, President. C. J. T. McINTYRE, Secretary. W. A. SPONSLER, Treasurer.

A Horse belonging to George Ickes had his leg broken by a kick from another animal in Newport a few nights since. The horse was shot to put him out of his misery.

Amos Watts of Blain, Pa., will offer at public sale, on Saturday, June 21st, a Tract of Land situated near Sandy Hill Store, containing 42 acres, having thereon erected a good house, barn, shop and other outbuildings. Terms easy.

Sudden Death.—On Tuesday night last, Mr. George Mickey, of Newport, died very suddenly of heart disease. He was just entering his house when the attack came on, and being helped in by his wife, only spoke once before he breathed his last.

Wolf Shot.—On the 25th ult., Mr. Daniel Powers of Rye twp., shot and wounded a large she wolf, but did not succeed in capturing her. On the first inst., however, he found her hid under a rock at the foot of Cove mountain, in a nearly starving condition, having with her four young ones. The cubs were captured alive and Daniel is trying to tame and raise them.

How to Use 'Em.—The government is in a quandary to know what to do with the captured Modocs. We would suggest that they be allowed to go through the country scalping the young savages who hang around the church doors, after evening service. Let them begin here too.

Snake Stories.—This being the season for snake stories, a correspondent from Rye twp., furnishes his quota, as follows: "Last week, Mr. John Lightner, of this twp., killed a black snake about 4 feet long, which had two tails, each about eight inches in length. Mr. Daniel Powers also, of this township, has a snake in his garden with two heads. It has been seen by a number of persons, and is considered a great curiosity."

Who will make the next report?

Shad Fishing.—Under the direction of the Fish Commissioners appointed by the Governor, four fishways will be constructed on the Susquehanna and Juniata rivers this summer—one at the Columbia dam, one at the dam at Clark's ferry, one at the Shamokin dam at Sunbury and one at Millerstown, Perry county, above the confluence of the Juniata and Susquehanna. The old fishway at the Columbia dam will also be repaired out of the appropriation of $32,000 made by the legislature. From the mouth of the Juniata to Huntingdon there are four dams, all of which will be provided with fishways within the next three years. It has not been definitely determined where the several hatching houses for which there is an appropriation of $10,000, shall be located.

Superintendents in Council.—The Harrisburg Patriot of the 4th inst. says:

In response to a call of the State superintendent, the county superintendents of the following named counties met at the school department yesterday afternoon to take into consideration the most important questions connected with the school work: Cumberland, Dauphin, Franklin, Fulton, Perry, Clearfield, Mifflin, Juniata, Huntingdon and York. The State superintendent acted as chairman, R. M. McNeal, of Huntingdon, secretary, and S. D. Ingram, of Dauphin, D. E. Kast, of Cumberland, J. A. Gregory, of Clearfield, as a committee on resolutions. Among the topics discussed were the following: Teachers' institute, graded schools, course of studies, close supervision of schools and irregular attendance.

Similar conferences are being held in different sections of the state, and no doubt great good will flow from the meetings.

Prof. Wickersham informs us that more practical business was done yesterday than is usually transacted in three days at state conventions of superintendents, where the deliberations partake of public character.

From these samples you can select goods for a suit and have them made to order from your own measure. A fit is guaranteed, the prices are low, and their style of making can't be beat. It won't cost you a cent to look at the samples and hear prices.

Terrible Fire in Liverpool.—About 9 o'clock on Sunday morning a fire broke out in the stable owned by Daniel Wagner, damaging his property to the value of about $2,000, on which there is no insurance. From there the flames spread to the property owned by G. C. Tharp, Esq., burning a store room 40 by 28 feet, a large ware room 60 feet long, store goods and furniture. Loss about $13,000, on which there was an insurance of $3,000 in the Lebanon Mutual and $4,900 in the Perry Mutual.

The following properties were also destroyed. A brick building and a stable belonging to the heirs of Judge Reifseider. Loss about $8000, on which there is no insurance.

A brick house, two frame houses and a blacksmith shop, belonging to the heirs of John Huggins. Loss about $8000. Insured in the Lebanon Mutual for $1600. Squire Tharp also lost a valuable library, wagons and furniture, on which there was no insurance.

It is not known how the fire originated but many suppose it to have been the work of an incendiary.

Horse Thief.—On Sunday, the 18th ult., a young man named Geo. H. Ferguson, employed at a saw mill about three miles below this place, hired a horse and buggy from Mr. W. H. Pennell, our accommodating liverman, saying that he wanted it for a few hours, to go to the country. The whole day passed, and by night he had not yet returned. As is often the case with persons hiring a team, it was thought that he might be detained by some unforeseen circumstance; but when Monday and Tuesday brought no sign of his return, suspicions were at once aroused, and several parties went on the hunt of him. No tidings were heard of his whereabouts until the Saturday following, when a telegram was received here from Perryville, Juniata county, stating that the thief and team had passed through Waterloo, a town some 22 miles distant, on the day before. Mr. Pennell, accompanied by J. P. Cromleigh, Esq., immediately took the afternoon train for Perryville, and from there went by conveyance to Waterloo. After traveling a considerable distance, they made the discovery that the man they were following was no other than Mr. Trostle, the steward of the almshouse in this county, who was out buying up horses, and who answered in every particular to the description given of the thief, hence the sending of the telegraphic dispatch, as it was he who passed through Waterloo on the day before.

Shortly after this the parties got on the track of the real thief, and when they arrived at Burnt Cabins, in Fulton county, they found the buggy and harness, which the rascal had left in exchange for a saddle and bridle, representing that he was going west for a yoke of oxen and would return in a few days. From here they kept track of the villain unto the top of the Allegheny mountain, where they lost the clue. They then proceeded to Johnstown, and from thence to Greenville, Mercer county, where Ferguson has some relatives living, and where it was thought he might have visited but his friends had seen or heard nothing of him. After placing warrants in the hands of the proper authorities at Greenville, Pittsburg, Johnstown and other points, Mr. Pennell returned home on Monday afternoon, believing it useless to search any further for the thief, as the week's start which he had, gave him an advantage not easily overcome. The case is not yet an entirely hopeless one, as detectives in the western part of the State have been posted with a description of the horse and thief, and it is possible that he may yet be tripped up in his bold career.

As an evidence of the thoroughness of their search, it is only necessary to state that Messrs. Pennell and Cromleigh traveled about 1075 miles, and passed through but eleven counties in all.—Duncannon Record.

Fatal Accident.—The Lewistown Democrat of last week says:

On Thursday last, Frank Yingling, of this place, a very exemplary young man, who had been married only a few months, came to sudden death by the caving in of an ore bank or tunnel, in which he was working, on Col. Willis's farm, about two miles out the Lilleyville road. Another man, Wilson Wentle, barely escaped by running. The accident occurred about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. As soon as the alarm was given a large force of men volunteered and went to work to dig out the fallen debris, under the faint hope that Yingling might yet be alive. But it was 11 o'clock before his body was reached. he was found lying upon his face, and from appearances must have been instantly crushed to death.

For the Bloomfield Times.

HOWE TWP., May 31, 1873.

Mr. Editor—I wish to say a few words in reply to "Upper End," who seems to think my former letter gave no good reasons for removal of the County Seat. I did not try in my former letter to give any reason for removal, nor do I propose to do so now, though when the proper time for so doing comes, I can give lots of them, and not mention the one "Upper End," speaks so sneeringly about. At this time I only suggest that no more money be spent on public improvements, until the question of removal has been discussed, and the people have had a chance to vote on the subject.—When the removal question was previously agitated, we were "choked off," and not given the opportunity to get the voice of the people. If the matter was left to a vote, and the majority of tax-payers had decided against us, of course we would have no right to complain, but would submit with as good grace as possible, and hope that the expectations of "Upper End" in regard to the railroad, would obviate the necessity of any of us "dragging through the mud or jolting over the stones," to reach the County Seat. The "brilliant idea" of educating the people so that a jail will not be needed, is too much for me, and I shall leave that for the consideration of the preachers.

My former communication I signed "A Reader," but as there are so many in the county who have a right to call themselves "a reader" of The Times, I will change my signature to O. K.

Cumberland County.—From the Cumberland County papers of last week, we copy the following:

A young negro named Luther Bell, was arrested by Policeman Matthews on Friday last for the larceny of a sum of money from the late residence of James Hamilton, deceased, during the sale, which was held one day last week. Bell was committed to jail but was subsequently released on bail.

A lad named Wm. Howard, residing on South Pitt street, whilst whittling a stick, with a knife, on Sunday last, the knife slipped in some way and the blade run into his wrist, severing a vein. The wound bled so freely, that the services of a physician were found necessary.

The large barn of Dr. Bowman, of White Hall, Cumberland county, was entirely destroyed by fire on Tuesday afternoon last, with all its contents, consisting of hay, straw, grain, two buggies, one carriage and a lot of farming utensils. Insurance in Allen & East Pennsboro. Co., $2000. This, however does not cover his loss.

Brief Items.

Dr. John G. Shatto, of this place, had an operation performed last week, in Philadelphia, on the eyes of his son, who is blind. The surgeon who performed the operation thinks it will be successful. We sincerely hope his expectations will prove true.

A city paper tells us that a favorite hotel is to be kept this season at one of the watering-places, "by the widow of Mr. — who died last summer on a new and improved plan." If they have improved plans for dying, what won't they improve next?

One of our exchanges complains of a neighbor stealing their locals, and places an article stolen from us immediately under the complaint. This may be called an instance of Satan, rebuking sin.

The Carlisle Herald, has housed a new Potter press. We have no doubt they will be pleased with their choice.

A man named McDougal, was drowned in the Swatara Creek, at Middletown, on Thursday last.

Shad in considerable numbers, continue to be caught in the Susquehanna, between the Junction and Harrisburg.

A Long Sentence.

The burglar, John M'Halpin, who was found in the house of Mr. Dingle, at Brooklyn, two weeks ago, was placed on trial Thursday for burglary and attempted murder. He was promptly convicted and sentenced to twenty years in the state prison, on one charge, and ten years on the other, thirty years imprisonment in all. He was given the full extent of the law, and Judge Moore, in passing the sentence, said if it had been possible he would have sent him up for life.

The Epizootic, in its steady march across the continent, reached the Pacific coast several weeks ago, and is now spreading North and South in California and Oregon. This curious disease some time ago in its Southern travels was announced on the borders of the Gulf, so that it now has traveled the entire country within a period of barely six months. Telegrams state that it is raging in San Francisco, and that transportation in that city is to a great extent paralyzed. The disabling of the Government horses has also impeded the military operations in Northern California against the Modocs.

The Millville, N. J., Republican says: William Glaspel, of Dutch Neck, in this county, owns a sheep, which seems to possess a greater propelling power in its hind parts than before. In running, the hinder part invariably outruns the fore part of the animal, which makes it necessary for it to turn around every few feet when running rapidly. The sheep has never been injured in any way.

On Thursday afternoon Henry Stausenberg entered the dwelling of a widow named Reilly, in West Hazleton, Pa., and demanded money. This being refused he drew a dirk and stabbed Mrs. Reilly in the head and breast, and also beat her and a small girl who lived with her. He then left the house and attempted to assault another woman, but being disturbed he fled and escaped capture. Mrs. Reilly was alive at last accounts, but in a critical condition.
