

The Bloomfield Times.

NEW BLOOMFIELD, PENN'A. Tuesday, July 15, 1873.

Messrs. E. P. Bowman & Co., No. 20 North 5th street, are our daily authorized advertising agents for Philadelphia. Advertisers can make contracts with them at our lowest rates.

THE Hon. William Williams, of Indiana, has disposed of his "back pay." He has been boarding with an excellent lady for some thirty years, and having ever been handsomely treated by her, and at cheap rates, he has turned over the whole sum to her. We congratulate both "Billy" and the lady on this arrangement, which must be mutually highly satisfactory. The lady's name is Mrs. William Williams.

Iron-ore has lately been shipped to England from this country, and some manufactured iron. It is likely that the exportations will increase considerably during the present year. The following from a Wolverhampton, England, trade report, dated May 28th, will be read with interest:

"The prevailing high prices are bringing about extraordinary results. It transpires on 'Change, here this afternoon that a consumer in this district is about to import from America, 1,000 tons of strip iron, wholly made in that country, and that the railway axes, also made in the United States, are selling there at $3 per ton under the quotations of the leading English markets. The iron ores are fast running out here, and there is much underselling. Inferior lots are offered in lots of two hundred tons at £12 10s per ton.

An Anxious Husband.

A Stockton, (Cal.) paper of last week says: Thursday afternoon Chief of Police Myers received the following telegram from Sacramento:

"To the Chief of Police: Arrest my wife and companion, John Parker, on train No. 3. Hold them; will be on next train. Wife about forty years of age; thick set; straw hat, trimmed with black ribbon; have run away." C. J. Shafer.

Acting upon this, Myers boarded No. 3 but did not find the woman or her John. He then awaited the arrival of Shafer, and with him and his son the hotels were ransacked. At one of the public houses a couple answering the description were found registered as Seymour and his wife. They had retired for the night, but were speedily aroused. The man admitted that he was the Parker, and the woman that she was Mrs. Shafer and Parker also. Explanations followed, which revealed the fact that madam was married to both men honestly. She married Parker in Indiana some twenty-three years ago. Shortly afterward he came to California, and his wife, hearing a rumor of his death, went in mourning.

After her grief had cooled Shafer came along, upon matrimony intent, and proposed to the widow. He was accepted, but with the understanding that if Parker should ever turn up she should return to her first love. The Shafers came also to California, and have lived happily until a few days since, when along came Parker with his genuine "strawberry mark," and his long lost, but much married wife kept good her word and left with him for his home at Knight's Ferry. Finally every thing was settled on a peace basis by Parker keeping the wife, and Shafer returning to Sacramento.

A Woman Marries a Woman.

An extraordinary lawsuit is now going on in Paris. Some years ago a surgeon made the acquaintance of a young girl who soon became a mother. "I cannot marry you," said the doctor (although he was not married); "but if you can find any one else to make you his wife and adopt the child as his own, I will leave him all my fortune." But a husband could not be found to accept these conditions. However, among the girl's friends was a school companion of hers, whose brother had just died abroad, and she proposed to take her brother's name and attire, and to marry her friend, to save her from disgrace. This was done, and they duly lived before the world as man and wife. The doctor died in course of time, and, according to his word, left his whole fortune to the child. The so-called husband also died, and the secret was discovered. Hearing this, the relations of the doctor have brought an action against the child to recover the fortune. The money, they say, was left to the child of Mons. and Mme. A.; but as there was no Mons. A. the child could not be theirs. The suit is still unsettled.

While two Boston boys, named John McKenna and William Lynch, were scuffling to obtain possession of a pistol, it was discharged, dangerously wounding the former in the chest, and cutting one of Lynch's fingers.

Five Hundred Dollars for Failing to Commit Bigamy.

Breach of promise cases are fairly kaleidoscope in their variety, and here is one from the Norwich assizes, in England, which is notable for its novelty. A ship captain put into Yarmouth for repairs, and landed just in time to see a fight. During the progress of the fracas he expressed an opinion as to its merits, which was echoed by a girl at his side. Turning to her instantly he asked if she was engaged, and when she replied in the negative he proposed at once and was accepted. Subsequently, he called upon the girl's mother and secured her consent, when he started for South Shields to prepare for the wedding. There his friends reminded him of the trifling circumstance that he was already married, and would not let him return to execute his rash and bigamous purpose, but instead sent a message to the girl at Yarmouth stating that he was dead. The bereaved female thought it only proper that she should attend the funeral, and accordingly proceeded to South Shields. Finding him alive, she brought suit for her disappointment, and the jury gave her a verdict of $500. This suggests among other things, the question whether a married man can be mulcted for failing to keep a promise to commit bigamy.

Another Terrible Storm.

Milwaukee, July 5.—The terrible storm which swept over Wisconsin yesterday, proved very disastrous to pleasure parties. At Green Lake a number of pleasure seekers were on the water where the storm struck them and capsized their boat, and twenty souls were sent to eternity.

Reports from Fon Du Lac state that the storm damaged the grain throughout Green Lake, Fon Du Lac and Sheboygan counties to a great extent. Its course from northwest to north-east, was about five miles wide, along which space the grain, timber, buildings and fences were thrown to the ground. In Fon Du Lac city many buildings were unroofed, and a vast number of large shade trees were uprooted. Hundreds of acres of grain were prostrated along the course of the storm.

Saved by a Woman.

On the 9th inst., an attempt was made to throw the Boston Express train off the track by two men who placed trees on the track. Being discovered by a woman they pounded her until she was insensible, and dragged her into a place of concealment among the bushes. She recovered consciousness and managed to reach the Suncook depot, N. H., and gave notice of the obstructions, and saved the train from the impending destruction. The assailants robbed the woman of her satchel containing nearly $400. The satchel was found, but in place of the money was a piece of paper on which was plainly written in lead pencil, "We made more money than we should if we had tipped off the train, you fool." No traces of the men could be found.

In Sing Sing.

Young Walworth who was convicted of murder in the second degree was sentenced to prison for life, and on the 9th inst., was in company with eleven other criminals, driven to the Hudson River Railroad depot, en route for Sing Sing. Mrs. Walworth was at the Tombs in a carriage when her son was brought out. She requested that he might be conveyed, in company with a deputy sheriff in the carriage, to the station. This request was refused. Young Walworth was manacled like other prisoners, and placed with them in the prison van.

Over the Falls.

On the 5th inst., a boat containing a man and woman and one child was carried over the Niagara Falls. The man and woman were to have been married in the evening, having just been to procure a license.

They gave their names at the hotel as John Elliott and Margaret Robinson, both of Cincinnati. The former was about twenty and the latter about eighteen years of age. The child was the girl's brother. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

R. R. Track Missing.

On the 8th inst., half a mile of the Missouri Pacific railroad track near Kickapoo station dropped into the Missouri river, and sank out of sight in the flooded stream in one lurch and without any warning. The water where the track is situated is now forty feet deep. The railroad men say it is the most fearful vent ever made. The escape of the train was almost miraculous.

An accident is reported Saturday night at Postageville, on the Utica branch of the Erie Railway. A freight train ran into the rear of the mail train, forcing the latter into another freight train in front, smashing both ends of the mail train. The tender of the engine was driven into the mail car, the mail clerk barely saving his life by leaping. Four passengers were reported seriously injured, whose names are not given. Several others were hurt more or less. The letter mail was damaged by smoke and water, but was made up and forwarded.

Buffalo, N. Y., had two earthquake shocks on the 7th inst. The only damage done was the throwing down of a tall chimney in the centre of the city.

Miscellaneous News Items.

A soda fountain exploded at Martinsburg on Saturday while it was being charged with carbonic acid gas, blowing a man's eyes out and otherwise dangerously injuring him. It is thought he cannot recover. We did not learn his name.

The St. Louis Flouring mill, owned by Mr. Brooksmith, at Venada, Illinois, on the line of the St. Louis and Southeastern Railroad, was struck by lightning on the 5th, caught fire and was totally destroyed, together with a large amount of grain and flour.

William B. Lincoln, of Dedham, while walking with his wife last week near that village, was shot by some unknown person, one ball entering his left side just below the heart and the other at the knee. The wounds are dangerous. No clue of the assassin.

On Saturday a week, during a thunder storm the barn of Philip Deardorf, York co., about two miles from Berlin, was struck by lightning and entirely consumed. On the same day the barn of Michael Rupert, in Dauphin twp., was struck three times but did not take fire.

N. Rufus Gill, President of the Second Branch of the City Council of Baltimore, was arrested and fined by Justice Hagerty for displaying fireworks and shooting fire-crackers on the streets on the 4th of July. What a glorious move it would be, to arrest every other idiot guilty of shooting off fire-crackers.

Howes' large circus tent was blown down last week by a sudden storm at Pittsburgh while the performance was in progress. There was great consternation among the 5,000 in the pavilion, and several cages were upset by the violence of the gale and the rush of the panic-stricken people.

San Francisco, July 7.—At Pioche, Nevada, this afternoon a man named Harrington shot and mortally wounded five men named Lynch, O'Neal, Frantz, Shoemaker and Sullivan in a Street altercation originating from Harrington throwing a dog across the street, the animal belonging to Shoemaker. The presence of the officers in strong force alone prevented the lynching of Harrington, who was arrested by Sheriff Travis and deputies, after making a desperate resistance.

The several hospitals of Philadelphia presented the dark side of the picture of Independence day. From noon up to late at night there were almost constant arrivals of young and old who had been maimed by firearms or fireworks, or had been otherwise injured during the day. The moaning of the wounded was in sad and melancholy contrast with the noisy enthusiasm going on without, and as the surgeon's knife did its work, even the passers by on the street could distinctly hear the screams and groans of pain uttered by the poor unfortunates.

Ballou's Magazine for August.

The August number of Ballou's Magazine contains among other good things, a most wonderful story of Arctic adventure, written by an old whaler who passed a winter among the ice and snow, frozen in for nine months. It is a thrilling story of peril and excitement, and quite seasonable at this time, after reading of Captain Hall's death, and the escape of some of his crew. Besides this story there are a dozen or more of others, all of the best quality, and just the thing for a hot afternoon, or seaside reading. It is cheap but real good, and one hundred pages of reading matter are supplied for fifteen cents, or $1.50 per year, and a pretty little chromo as a premium. All the back numbers from the first of January supplied by the publishers, Thomas & Talbot, 36 Bromfield Street, Boston, and for sale at all the periodical depots in the country and Canada.
