Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron.
For the Cure of Weak Stomach, General Debility, Indigestion, Diseases of the Nervous System, Constipation, Acidity of the Stomach, and all cases requiring a Tonic.
The Wine includes the most agreeable and efficient salt of Iron we possess, Chloride of Magnesia Oxide, combined with the most energetic vegetable tonic—Yellow Peruvian Bark.
The effect in many cases of debility, loss of appetite, and general prostration, of an efficient salt of Iron, combined with our valuable Nerve, is most happy. It stimulates the appetite, raises the pulse, takes off interior humors, removes the pallor of debility and gives a rosy vigor to the countenance.
Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?
If you do, try Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron.
This truly valuable tonic has been so thoroughly tested by all classes of the community that it is now deemed indispensable as a Tonic medicine. It costs but little, purifies the blood and gives tone to the stomach, renews the system and prolongs life.
I now only ask a trial of this invaluable tonic.
Price $1 per bottle.

HUMOROUS.

Comical Disaster.

It was Moper's turn for invention that caused the disaster. Moper designed a new kind of a "patent, inflated gossamer bustle," for ladies. It was a thin bag of India rubber, which was to be inflated with gas to give it proper extension and sufficient lightness. When the model was complete, Mrs. Moper determined to try it. She went into the yard, and tried the machine under her dress, while Moper turned on the kitchen gas to fill the bag. It worked well enough for a few moments, when all at once Mrs. Moper began to ascend with frightful rapidity. She had barely time to scream down to Moper to put the children to bed early, and the next instant she was two miles above the snowline. It was embarrassing, for Mrs. Moper—very embarrassing, especially as she could not reach around the bustle to turn off the gas in order to come down. So she floated above up there among thunder storms and clouds and crows and aurora borealis for several hours, enjoying the scenery and studying the air currents and wishing she had brought her muff and a book to read. Then she commenced to descend gradually, until she came within a couple of hundred feet of the earth.—She then screamed some-as she floated along, and several enthusiastic students of natural history tried to bring her down with shot-guns, under the impression she was some new variety of ostrich or flamingo.—But a sudden gust of wind struck Mrs. Moper and blew her against the Presbyterian church steeple with such force that the "inflated gossamer bustle" exploded violently, impressing the sexton with the conviction that the sacred edifice had been struck by lightning. But when he came out and saw Mrs. Moper caught by her panier on the weathercock, with her parasol pointing east and west, as the wind happened to shift he comprehended the situation. It cost six hundred dollars to build a scaffolding to get Mrs. Moper down, and even then Moper did not introduce his bustle into the market. He will sell out his patent right cheap. Mrs.
Moper wants him to.

Clear as Mud.

Charles Hauber, a desperate looking villain, was accused by J. O. Oskins from the theft of a stove from his store. Oskins took the stand and prepared himself for an immediate elucidation of the whole difficulty.

know about this case.
J. O. Oskins (excitedly). Better hire

Prisoner, furnish $1,500 bail for your appearance at court.

Papa, didn't you whip me once for biting Tommy?
"Yes, my child; and you hurt him very much.

"Well then, Papa, you ought to whip sister's music teacher, too; he bit sister yesterday afternoon right on the mouth, and I knew it hurt her, because she put her arms around his neck and tried to choke him."

A Gentleman was warmly eulogizing the constancy of an absent husband in the presence of a loving wife. "Yes, Yes," assented she, "he writes letters full of his agony of affection, but he never remits me any money." "I can conceive of that, for I know his love to be unremitting," said the other.

A lady dealer in hair goods down east, heads her advertisement in the local newspaper with this travesty by Dr. Watts:
"How vain are all things here below—How false and yet how fair!
But if for false things you will go, Invest at once in Hair!"

The newest device for promoting salvation, was lately practiced during a religious revival at Chittenango, New York, where it was announced that "refreshments would be served to converts, gratis.

A La Cross man, who committed suicide, wrote a note to his wife, which said: "I am going to a country where red-headed women are never seen." She was so mad that she wouldn't attend the funeral.

As a rich and pretentious shoddyite was looking at some paintings which he proposed to buy, the dealer pointed to a fine one and said, "There is a dog after Landscape." "Is it, really," exclaimed the pretender. "What is the dog after him for?"

The gentleman who "fired at random," didn't hit it, and in disgust handed his rifle over to the youth who "aims at immortality." He did not hit it too.

C-o-o-can that p-p-parrot talk?
asked a stuttering man of a German. "Yes, he don't talk so gooter as you, I schop, by tam, his head off."

A revivalist asked an African if he had found the Lord. "Golly," said Sambo, "am de Lord lost?"
