The U. B. Mutual

Aid Society of Pennsylvania,

Present the following plan for consideration to such persons who wish to become members:

The payment of SIX DOLLARS on application, FIVE DOLLARS annually for FOUR YEARS, and thereafter TWO DOLLARS annually during life, with pro-rata mortality assessment at the death of each member, which for the FIRST CLASS is as follows:

Age	Assessment	Age	Assessment	Age	Assessment	Age	Assessment
15	60	28	73	41	92	54	1 70
16	61	29	74	42	94	55	1 80
17	62	30	75	43	96	56	1 90
18	63	31	77	44	98	57	2 04
19	64	32	79	45	1 00	58	2 16
20	65	33	81	46	1 06	59	2 28
21	66	34	83	47	1 12	60	2 40
22	67	35	85	48	1 18	61	2 45
23	68	36	86	49	1 24	62	2 50
24	69	37	87	50	1 30	63	2 55
25	70	38	88	51	1 40	64	2 60
26	71	39	89	52	1 50	65	2 65
27	72	40	90	53	1 60

Will entitle a member to a certificate of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS, to be paid at his death to his legal heirs or assigns, whenever such death may occur.

A member, or his heirs, may name a successor; but if notice of the death of a member to the Secretary is not accompanied with the name of a successor, then the Society will put in a successor and fill the vacancy, according to the Constitution of the Society.

Should the member die before his four payments of five dollars are made, the remaining unpaid part will be deducted from the one Thousand Dollars due his heirs; his successor will then pay only two dollars annually during his lifetime, and the mortality assessments.

Male and Female from fifteen to sixty-five years of age, of good moral habits, in good health, hale, and sound of mind, irrespective of creed, or race, may become members. For further information, address

HUMOROUS.

The Footless Child.

One day recently, a respectably-dressed man carried a well-grown child muffled up and apparently sick, into French's Hotel. He placed the child on the stairs and began to talk to it in a very unkind and rough way. The attention of the guests was attracted, and they gathered around.

"You are able to walk up stairs yourself," the man said, "and I won't carry you."

"Oh, oh," the child sobbed, "do carry me up; please, pa, do. You know ever since I was run over by the car and lost both of my feet I can't walk up stairs alone."

"That's all stuff," the man answered; "get up at once or I'll make you."

The poor child began to sob more than before, and the brutal man gave it a severe thump over the side of the head. The child moaned piteously. The indignation of the by-standers was excited, and one of them said to the man, "Is that child yours?"

"What's that to you?" the man answered; "I won't tell you."

"He's—my—father," the child sobbed, "and—he—killed—my—mother—just—as—he's—agoing—to—kill—me."

The man doubled his fist and made as though he was about to give the child a savage blow. One of the by-standers interfered and said: "Say, if you don't stop this I'll call a policeman. I never saw such a brutal father in all my life."

The man began to fumble in his pockets, and the child cried out, "Take care; he's got a knife. He's going to stick you."

Sure enough, the man produced a knife and opened it. The crowd slipped off one by one, except two.

"Bring an officer," one of these cried to a friend.

"If I am arrested," the man said, "It shall be for something," and thereupon he plunged the knife into the body of the child. The child shrieked, "I'm murdered, I'm murdered," and a crowd rushed to the spot. The man quietly raised the child in his arms, and removing his hat, said:

"Gentlemen, this is a wooden child. I'm a ventriloquist, and any little offering you may be pleased to make will be very acceptable."

Had Forgotten the Place.

A priest was standing at the corner of a square about the hour of dinner, when one of his countrymen, observing the worthy father in perplexity, addressed him:

"O, Father O'Leary, how is your riverence?"

"Mighty put out, Pat."

"Put out? Who'd put out your riverence?"

"Ah, you don't understand. I am invited to dine at one of the houses in this square, and I have forgotten the name."

"Oh, is that all? Just now be aisy, your riverence; I'll settle that for you."

Away flew the good-natured Irishman around the square, glancing at the kitchens, and when he discovered a fire that denoted hospitality, he thundered at the door and inquired:

"Is Father O'Leary here?"

As might be expected, again and again he was repulsed. At length an angry footman exclaimed:

"No; bother on Father O'Leary, he is not here, but he was to dine here to-day, and the cook is in a rage, and says the dinner will be spoiled. All is waiting for Father O'Leary."

Paddy, leaped from the door as if the steps were on fire, rushed up to the astonished priest, saying:

"All is right, your riverence; you dine at forty-three, and a mighty good dinner you'll get."

"Oh, Pat," said the grateful pastor, "the blessings of a hungry man be upon you."

"Long life and happiness to your riverence. I have got your malady. I only wish I had your cure."

A drover went into a restaurant on Tenth avenue last night and ordered a plate of chicken soup. After eating a few spoonfuls, he called the waiter to him and said:

"Look here! what was the length of the stilt used by the chicken when it waded through the water on this plate?"

"You infernal fool!" said the waiter, "the chicken didn't wade at all. It had wings and flew across the kettle, and it's shadow fell on the water and was boiled some, and that's how that soup was made!"

The drover said no more, but finished his soup with a heavy heart, and pocketed the spoon and went away.

One profession, says Punch, is safe from the invasion of woman. She may enter the army, but it is impossible that she can man the navy. Not alone she can't it is true. But she can help man it and without her aid we imagine it would be a difficult operation to get it done.

"Mary, go into the sitting-room, please, and tell me how the thermometer stands."

Mary, after investigating, said, "It stands on the first mantle-piece, jest agin the wall mem."
