FARM AND HOUSEHOLD ITEMS

How Smoking Tobacco is Prepared.

The tobacco as it comes from the plantation is dried to the utmost, and passed through a mill in which a revolving cylinder armed with small projections grates it into tiny particles.

The inferior grades of lugs, etc., can be used only for smoking. Indeed, no leaf is worthless for the manufacture of one or another of the innumerable brands somewhere between the golden chaff with which the millionaire fills his costly meerschaum, and the black mixture which Paddy smokes in his clay pipe as he drives his dray—there is a place and use for it all.

Smoking tobacco is generally put up in bags holding from two ounces to one pound each, a pound being the limit allowed by government for any single package.

The number of bags required for this business may be imagined from the fact that in the single factory visited by the writer their manufacture furnishes a support for fifteen poor families, besides which a large number are made by persons who merely do the work to make pocket money.

Fly in the Wheat.

A correspondent of the Star & Sentinel says: Wheat sown on or after the 20th of September will escape the fall fly. By the time it comes up the fly will have finished depositing its nit; so it certainly escapes the fall fly, which is much more destructive than the spring fly.

Thistles.

The Tribune Agricultural editor says: The more a bed of Canada thistle is dug into and plowed out and spaded up the better will it thrive. Under such adversity it takes comfort and spreads. Such is its nature. If, on the contrary, its growth is encouraged until it is fairly in blossom, and it is then mowed—as if it were the most useful forage plant—and carefully carried off the ground and burned or buried in the compost heap, it immediately resents such care and sends up a weakly growth in place of its former vigorous one.
