The U. B. Mutual Aid Society of Pennsylvania,

Present the following plan for consideration to all persons who wish to become members: The payment of SIX DOLLARS on application, FIVE DOLLARS annually for FOUR YEARS, and thereafter TWO DOLLARS annually during life, with pro-rata mortality assessment at the death of each member, which for the FIRST CLASS is as follows:

Table with 5 columns: Age, Assessment, Age, Assessment, Age, Assessment. Rows show age groups from 15 to 75 and corresponding assessment amounts.

Will entitle a member to a certificate of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS, to be paid at his death to his legal heirs or assigns, whenever such death may occur. A member, or his heirs, may name a successor; but if notice of the death of a member to the Secretary is not accompanied with the name of a successor, then the Society will put in a successor and fill the vacancy, according to the Constitution of the Society.

Should the member die before his four payments of five dollars are made, the remaining unpaid part will be deducted from the one Thousand Dollars due his heirs; his successor will then pay only two dollars annually during his lifetime, and the mortality assessments.

Male and Female from fifteen to sixty-five years of age, of good moral habits, in good health, hale, and sound of mind, irrespective of creed, or race, may become members. For further information, address L. W. CRAWMER, LEBANON, PA.

Neatly executed at the Bloomfield Times Steam Job Office.

An Irish Jury.

At the Limerick Sessions recently, the jury, after a quarter of an hour's absence, returned into court, "We find him not guilty." Chairman.—Are you unanimous in your verdict? Foreman.—We are, your Worship; we are nine to three. (Great laughter.) Chairman.—This is not a proper verdict.

Foreman.—We first decided, your Worship, that the minority should be ruled by the majority before going into the merits of the case. We then became all unanimous in the end. (Laughter.) Chairman.—But how could you be unanimous when you say you are nine to three? Foreman.—Your Worship, I took down those who were for finding him guilty, and those who were for acquitting him, and the minority agreed to the verdict of the majority.

Chairman.—O, go inside; each of the three men who were in the minority are they of the opinion that this man is guilty? Go inside and let them agree about it. I don't want to hear any more of your deliberations; go inside and let them find that this man did not strike the prosecutor. The jury then retired, and, after a few minutes, returned and handed in a verdict of "not guilty."

Chairman (to the jury).—Gentlemen, you have agreed to your verdict. You say that the prisoner is not guilty? Foreman.—We do. Chairman.—Is that the verdict of the whole of you? Several jurors.—Yes, your Worship.

Chairman.—Discharge the prisoner now. (To the prisoner.) I hope if you ever come here again you will not get off so easy. Prisoner.—It is my first offense, and it will be my last. (Loud laughter, in which the whole court joined.) Chairman.—But the jury say you have done nothing at all. (Laughter.)

Tricking a Gate-keeper.

A minstrel, riding a pumpkin-colored sorrel, perpetrated a heavy sell on a toll-keeper one day. He rode up unobserved, and turned his horse's face about, directly opposite to the direction he wanted to go, called to the toll-keeper, who by this time had come out, "What is the toll?" "Twenty cents," answered the toll-keeper.

"Too high," replied the solitary horseman; "can't pay it. Guess I'll go back." He turned his horse about and proceeded in precisely the direction he wanted to go, the toll-keeper never dreaming of the sell.

A Practical Test.

In a religious excitement a person met a Christian neighbor, and took him by the hand and said: "I have become a Christian." "You are a Christian, then, all at once," said the other; "you profess to act strictly on Christian principles. I am glad of it. I congratulate you. Suppose we now have a settlement of the little account between us. Pay me what thou owest."

"No," was the reply, turning away "religion is religion, and business is business."

Sharp.

"Do you believe there are any people who never heard 'Old Hundred?'" asked a musical young lady at the family table. "Lots of folks never heard it," interrupted the precocious young brother. "Where are they, I should like to know?" was asked. "In the deaf-and-dumb asylums."

"Here we are now, within a quarter of a mile of land," was the joyful announcement made by the captain of an ocean steamer to his grumbling passengers.

"Where? Which way is it?" were the eager exclamations which followed. "Anywhere down below there," said the captain, pointing toward the bottom of the sea. "The lead gives us just two hundred and twenty fathoms of water, and the land comes slap up against the brine."

At the time of an expected invasion at the beginning of the century, some of the town magistrates called upon an old maiden lady of Montrose, and solicited her subscription to raise men for the service of the King. "Indeed," she answered right sturdily, "I'll do nae sic thing; I never could raise a man for myself, and I'm no gawn to raise men for King George."

Little Alice was crying bitterly, and on being questioned, confessed to having received a slap from one of her playfellows. "You should have returned it," said the mother. "Oh, I returned it before," replied the little girl, proudly.
