The U. B. Mutual Aid Society of Pennsylvania,

Present the following plan for consideration to such persons who wish to become members: The payment of SIX DOLLARS on application, FIVE DOLLARS annually for FOUR YEARS, and thereafter TWO DOLLARS annually during life, with pro-rata mortality assessment at the death of each member, which for the First Class is as follows:

Table with columns: Age, Assessment, and values for ages 15 to 27.

Will entitle a member to a certificate of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS, to be paid at his death to his legal heirs or assigns, whenever such death may occur.

A member, or his heirs, may name a successor; but if notice of the death of a member to the Secretary is not accompanied with the name of a successor, then the Society will put in a successor and fill the vacancy, according to the Constitution of the Society.

Should the member die before his four payments of five dollars are made, the remaining unpaid part will be deducted from the one Thousand Dollars due his heirs; his successor will then pay only two dollars annually during his lifetime, and the mortality assessments.

Male and Female from fifteen to sixty-five years of age, of good moral habits, in good health, late, and sound of mind, irrespective of creed, or race, may become members. For further information, address L. W. ORTUMER, LEBANON, PA. (See U. B. Mutual Aid Society.)

LADIES AND CHILDREN will find a splendid assortment of shoes at the old price store of F. Mortimer.

Not so Romantic.

A young lady and gent were standing upon the bulkhead erected by the C. & W. Railway on the Lake shore at Milwaukee.

The waves ran high and looked truly beautiful in their terrific grandeur. The lady had remarked this to her companion, who, thinking he could improve upon it, began reciting, "What are the Wild Waves Saying?" He soon found out, for just as this moment a huge white cap dashed over the parapet and pouring a barrel or two of water on each, effectually banished all the romance of the situation in a twinkling.

The young man finished his quotation with a series of highly improper remarks as he mopped his new 'tyle' with a handkerchief; and there was a look of hearty disgust on the radiant face of that fair maiden as she gazed on the empty wreck of her once lovely hat.

A Pa., clergyman, while preaching his sermon one Sunday evening, perceived a young man and woman under the gallery in the act of kissing each other behind a hymn book, and did not lose his temper.

He did not fly into an unseemly rage, and call upon the sexton to rush up the aisle and disband the rioters. No! he remained calm. He beamed mildly at the offenders over his spectacles, and when the young man kissed her for the fifteenth time, he merely broke his sermon short off in the middle of "thirdly," and offered a fervent prayer in behalf of the "young man in the pink necktie, and the maiden in the blue bonnet and grey shawl, who were profaning the sanctuary by kissing one another in pew No. 68." And the congregation said "Amen" Then the young woman pulled her veil down, and the young man sat there and swore softly to himself. He does not go to church as much now as he did.

The "ounce of prevention worth a pound of cure," was strikingly reversed by the old lady, who not long ago, in her perambulations, coming upon a railroad track at a station, asked how soon the next train would pass. On being answered, "in half an hour," she decided at once to delay crossing the track till the cars had passed, remarking sagely that "a body couldn't be too keerful!"

It is probable that this is the same old lady for whom the physician prescribed cod liver oil, and wrote the Latin formula, "Ole. Jec. Ass.," being an abbreviation of oleum jecoris asselli. The medicine was taken and in a few weeks the old lady completely recovered her health. A neighbor expressed surprise at her improved condition, inquiring the secret of so rapid a restoration.—"Why said the old lady, "It was that beautiful medicine, the oil of jackass, that brought me to my feet again."

A party of Des Moines, Iowa, ladies went out plumping the other day and worked industriously to gather two bushels. Just as they had completed the job the owner put in an appearance and gobbled the pile, remarking that he had been busy all summer in keeping "folks outen that thar patch." He had his plums picked cheap.

Pleasing are the changes which the "intelligent compositor" can ring upon sentimental and touching bits of prose or poetry. In describing a lover gazing at his loved one in a despairing way, the novelist wrote: "He watched the window fill all hope had vanished." It appeared in nice, new clean cut italics: "He washed the window-sill with soap and yarnish."

A fun-loving little wife of Cairo borrowed a neighbor's baby and put it on her doorstep, and then discovered it and "went for" Brown. The result was more than satisfactory. Brown "squealed," and said: "Why I gave her three hundred dollars and sent her to Chicago last week!" and the joking wife is after a divorce.

"A horse! a horse! my kingdom for a horse!" cried a celebrated tragedian. "Would not a jackass do as well?" inquired an affected young man, rising in his seat. "Yes," triumphantly exclaimed the actor, "just step up this way, sir." The young man sat down.

"Tommy, my son, what are you doing there with your feet dangling in the water?" "Trying to catch cold, ma, so that I may have some of those cough lozenges you gave me yesterday."

"What's the reason you have the wrong side of your stocking turned out?" said Jim to Pat the other day. "The reason, is it?" said Pat. "Cause there's a hole t'other side av it."

What is the difference between a Jew and a lawyer? The one gets his law from the prophets, and the other his profits from the law.
