FARM AND HOUSEHOLD ITEMS

Strange Taste.

It is a good thing, we suppose, that tastes differ. In the absence of Asparagus, in Holland and Belgium, people cook the tops of Hop vines as a substitute, and call it good, and in England they have been in the habit of using the tender Hawthorn branches. Latterly, however, they have taken to eating the flower stems and buds of the Ornithogalum pyrenaicum, a wild plant and a native of England, of the "Star of Bethlehem" family, which is sold in the markets under the name of Wild Asparagus. It is tied up in bunches and at first sight might be mistaken for heads of green wheat, with a portion of the straw attached. The Editor of the Gardners' Chronicle says it is "the best substitute for Asparagus yet tried, better by far than the Hop tops of which our Belgian and Dutch friends make so much, and better than any 'green corn' we have yet tasted, in spite of what our American friends may say, and a great deal better than Hawthorn leaves." We never feel disposed to quarrel with any one's taste, but we cannot help feeling great sympathy for any one who has no taste for good Sweet Corn -something of the same kind of sympathy that we feel for one deprived of one of the natural senses, or of some of life's greatest blessings. We noticed sometime since in an English agricultural journal what would be considered here a strange report of a Vegetable Committee. In reporting on the trial of Beans, we think at the Cheswick Gardens, they declared the Lima tough and stringy, the pods unfit for use, but the shelled Beans might, perhaps, be made eatable by skillful cooking. The idea of making the Lima catable, especially by those who can relish the fearfully strong Windsor Bean, is rather laughable—but there is no accounting for taste.

Salt-rising Bread.

A correspondent of the Household gives the following receipt for making salt-rising bread, which is superior to common yeast bread, and is considered by some as more wholesome : " Put three teacups of water, as warm as you can bear your finger in, in a two-quart cup or bowl, and three-fourths of a tea-spoonful of salt; stir in flour enough to make quite a stiff batter; this is for the rising, or emptyings, as some call it. Set the bowl, closely covered, in a kettle, in warm water, as 'warm as you can bear your finger in,' and keep it as near this temperature as possible. Notice the time when you 'set' your rising ; in three hours stir in two tablespoonfuls of flour, put it back, and in five and one-half hours from the time of setting it will be within one inch of the top of your bowl .-It is then light enough, and will make up eight quarts of flour; make a sponge in the center of your flour with one quart of water of the same temperature as rising, stir the rising into it, cover over with a little dry flour, and put it where it will keep very warm, but not scald ; in threefourths of an hour mix this into a stiff dough; if water is used be sure it is very warm, and do not work as much as yeast bread; make the loaves a little p it warm for another three quarters of an hour : it will then be ready to bake. While rising this last time have your oven heating ; it needs a hotter oven than yeast bread. If these rules are followed, you will have bread as white as snow, with a light brown crust, deliciously sweet and tender.

Feeding Corn to Hogs.

As another evidence of the increased profit of feeding corn on the farm to swine over selling the grain in market, a writer in the Cincinnati Gazette gives the following testimony: "In August, 1872, I bought thirty-seven head of hogs, at $4 per cwt., the average weight being 126 pounds; cost of the lot $186.48. On Dec. 10, when I sold them, the average weight was 270 pounds, or a gain of 144 pounds per head. They ate twelve bushels of corn apiece .-This, at twenty-five cents per bushel, would be $3. The total cost of the hogs, when fattened, was, therefore, $267.40. I sold them at $4 per cwt., amounting to $399.60. Balance in favor of feeding, $101.12. By feeding my corn it brought me nearly forty-eight cents a bushel, the market price being only 25 cents."

To have Apples Every Year.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune tells three ways of having apples every year: 1st. Take scions from a tree in 1878, and put them in a good thrifty tree, and do the same in 1874, and you will get fruit in alternate years. 2nd. If you cut off the thrifty trees and growth of 1878 in the last of June, leaving three or four buds that would come on in 1874, you would force out the next year's buds and gain one year. 3rd. If you remove all the blossoms on one-half of your tree in the bearing year, you will have fruit on that the odd year. These things I have done successfully. I have now in bearing the Victory apple of the odd year produced in this way ; next year the scions of the last year will bear in the regular year.

Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as casily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

and building up an Iron Con-stitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering crea-tures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hes-itate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERU-VIAN SYRUP blown in the glass. Pamphlets Free.

"THE ALDINE,"

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally ad-mitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the Worta A Representative and Champion of American Tuste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temperary or limely interest claracteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellary of pure, light and graceful literature; and a collection of petures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivate of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price of character. The possessor of a competer volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT, 1874.

The illustration of THE ALDINE have won a worldwide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood outs are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates," is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating tasts which recognizes the advantages of the superfor artistic quality either and the advantages of the superfor artistic quality either active to the product of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a bester rendering of the artist's original.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorsdo picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosento represent "The East" and "The Work." One is a view in The White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives The Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the nature of the secence themselves is a pleasing confrast, and affords a good display of the artisl's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size 118 x 181 and in appearance exact face-similes of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but pseudiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attesped by the following testimolial, over the signature of Mr. Moran himself.

Those chromes are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, with masterial of American menufacture, from design of American secency by an American painter, and a American secency by an American painter, and a American secency by an American painter, and American sense of all this, they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire, and neither are they any the worse if by reason of recular facilities of production they cost the publishers only a triffe, while equal in every respect to other chromes that are sold singly for double the subscription price of THE ALDIME. Persons of tast will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a facure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chrome, 14 x 95 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.
