Will entitle a member to a certificate of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS, to be paid at his death to his legal heirs or assigns, whenever such death may occur.
A member, or his heirs, may name a successor; but if notice of the death of a member to the Secretary is not accompanied with the name of a successor, then the Society will put in a successor and fill the vacancy, according to the Constitution of the Society.
Should the member die before his four payments of five dollars are made, the remaining unpaid part will be deducted from the one Thousand Dollars due his heirs; his successor will then pay only two dollars annually during his lifetime, and the mortality assessments.

TRESPASS NOTICE.—The undersigned residents of Saville township, hereby give notice that all persons are forbidden to enter upon their lands for the purpose of hunting, fishing, nutting or trespassing for any purpose whatever, under penalty of the law.
PHILIP JACOBS, JACOB HEMMERGER, DAVID E. ROBINSON, JOHN SWAITE, WILLIAM BRUCH, CHRIST. SCHWAB, Saville township, Oct. 2nd, 1873.

Dr. called on cholera patient, a German. Prescribed. Next day found patient well. "Well," said the Dr., "the medicine brought you out!"
"No, sir. I didn't take it."
"What did you take?"
"I ate sour kroust and turnip sauce."
So the Dr. wrote in his memorandum, "Sour kroust and turnip sauce good for cholera."
Next week another call. Irishman this time. Prescribed sour kroust and turnips. Next day called—found the Irishman dead. So he wrote opposite the old memorandum, "Sour kroust and turnips good for a Dutchman, but death to the Irishman."

While a Senior Scientific was reciting a lesson in chemistry, the following took place between him and the professor:
Prof. How do you account for the fact that snow doesn't melt on the tops of mountains?
Stud. (after mature reflection)—I think it is because there are no clouds above them.
Prof. That is your theory?
Stud. Well, Mr.—, will you inform us how the snow came there, in the first place; did it come down or go up?
The student is still reflecting.

"Dear old aunt Mary," said a school girl, "don't see very well, and last Sunday she was buzzing around getting ready for church, looking for umbrella, specs, overshoes, and last but not least, her prayer book. The latter she thought she had secured by grabbing something off her bureau at the last moment, and when she got to church it proved to be my musical box, and the old lady, in trying to find her place in this uncommon book of prayer, touched the spring and it went off in fine style to the tune of "O Jim Along, Jim Along Josey!"

A ten cent currency note—one of the new issue—was shown to a clergyman, a few days ago, as a curiosity. "Is that a counterfeit?" he inquired. "No; that is one of the new ten cent bills." "Well," replied the clergyman, with a comical look, as if he smelt the joke in the distance, "there was a contribution at my church last Sunday, and we found one of those bills in the box. The deacon and I both thought it counterfeit, and tore it up."

A new use of patent pills has been discovered. A farmer living in Kansas village was abruptly visited by robbers one night not long ago, and having a gun and powder, but no shot, loaded with a box of fever pills, and blazed away. The result was as satisfactory as though the rascals had swallowed the pills, one of them was killed outright, and another dangerously wounded.

A New Jersey paper up the river is in trouble. The editor wrote the other day of a certain official that "his conduct indicates a great want of propriety; and he must think so in his soul." But when the type-setter got hold of the article he misunderstood the sentence, so that it appeared in the paper thus: "His conduct indicates a great want of sobriety; he must be drunk as an owl."

"I say, Dick, don't you think that if the women had to do the fighting, instead of the men, they would make bloody work of it?"
"No—why do you ask?"
"Because I think they would, they have such an engaging way with them."
"That's very true, but they have also such a captivating way, that there would be doubtless more prisoners than killed."

"Pat," said a traveler, "why did you make the stone wall around your shanty so thick?" "Why, please your honor, I hear they have extraordinary high winds in America, so I thought if I built it about as thick as it was high, if it should blow over it would be just as high as it was before, yer honor."

What animal took most luggage in to the ark, and which the least? The elephant who had his trunk; while the fox and the cock had only a brush and a comb between them!

A passenger on an Ohio railroad, aroused from serene slumber by the tooting of a whistle, exclaimed petulently; "The train has caught up with those cattle again!"

A baby was born on a street railway car in St. Louis. If it's a boy it ought to be christened H'oscar. But as it's a girl, the mother has determined to name it Car'line.

An epicurean has discovered that the pleasantest way to take cod-liver oil is to fatten pigeons with it, and then eat the pigeons.

A Connecticut father has christened his daughter Glycerine. She will be good for chapped lips.
