Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron.
For the Cure of Weak Stomach, General Debility, Indigestion, Diseases of the nervous system, Constipation, Acidity of the Stomach, and all cases requiring a tonic.
The Wine includes the most agreeable and efficient Salt of Iron (ferrous) Citrate of Magnesia Oxide, combined with the most energetic vegetable tonic—Yellow Peruvian Bark.
The effect in many cases of debility, loss of appetite, and general prostration, of an efficient Salt of Iron, combined with our valuable Nerve, is most happy. It augments the appetite, raises the pulse, takes off muscular flabbiness, removes the pallor of debility and gives a florid vigor to the countenance.
Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?
If you do, try Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron.
This truly valuable tonic has been so thoroughly tested by all classes of the community that it is now deemed indispensable as a tonic medicine. It cures but little, purifies the blood and gives tone to the stomach, renovates the system and prolongs life.
I now only ask a trial of this invaluable tonic.
Price $1 per bottle.

THE BEST PAPER! TRY IT!
BEAUTIFULLY ILLUSTRATED.

The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN now in its 8th year, enjoys the widest circulation of any weekly newspaper of the kind in the world. A new volume commences January 3, 1874.
Its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical and Scientific Progress of the World, Descriptions, with beautiful engravings, of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and improved industries of all kinds, useful notes, Recipes, suggestions and advice, by practical writers, for workmen and employers, in all the various arts.
The Scientific American is the cheapest and best illustrated weekly paper published. Every number contains from 10 to 15 original engravings of new machinery and novel inventions.
Engravings, illustrating Improvements, Discoveries and important works, pertaining to civil and mechanical engineering, mining, marine and metallurgy; records of the latest progress in the application of steam, steam engineering, railway, ship-building, navigation, telegraphy, telegraph engineering, electricity, magnetism, light and heat.
Farmers, mechanics, engineers, inventors, manufacturers, chemists, lovers of science, teachers, clergymen, lawyers and people of all professions, will find the Scientific American useful to them. It should have a place in every family, library, study, office and counting-room. In every reading room, college, academy or school.
A year's numbers contains 52 pages and several hundred engravings. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. The practical receipts are well worth ten times the subscription price. Terms $3 a year by mail. Discount to clubs. Specimens sent free. May be had of all News Dealers.
PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. Munn & Co. are solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.
Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of new inventions and sketches examined and advice sent free. All patents are published in the Scientific American the week they issue. Send for Pamphlet, 100 pages, containing laws and full directions for obtaining Patents.

Collamer's Little Mistake.
Old Mr. Collamer, one of the members of our church, is extremely deaf. Last Sunday the clergyman, during his sermon had occasion to introduce a quotation, and as it was quite long he brought the volume with him, and when the time came he picked up the book and began to read from it. We always sing the Old Hundred doxology after the sermon at our church, and Mr. Collamer seeing the pastor with the book thought the time had come, so while the minister was reading, he opened his hymn book at the place. Just as the clergyman laid the volume down the man sitting next to Mr. Collamer began to yawn, and Mr. Collamer, thinking he was about to sing, immediately broke out into Old Hundred at the top of his voice. As the clergyman was just beginning "secondly," and as there was of course perfect silence in the church, the effect of Mr. Collamer's vociferation was very startling. But the good old man didn't notice that anything was the matter, so he kept right on and sang the entire verse through. When he concluded he observed that everybody else seemed to be quiet, excepting a few who were laughing, so he leaned over and said out loud to the man who yawned, "What's the matter with this congregation anyhow? Why don't they go home?" The man turned scarlet, and the perspiration broke out all over him, for he felt the eyes of the congregation were upon him, and he knew that he would have to yell to make Mr. Collamer hear. So he touched his lips with his finger as a sign for the old man to keep quiet. But Mr. Collamer misunderstood the motion. "Go in' to sing another hymn, hey? All right," and he began to fumble his hymn book again. Then the sexton sailed up the aisle, and explained matters out loud to Mr. Collamer, and that gentleman subsided while the minister proceeded with his discourse. The elders have written Mr. Collamer a note requesting him in the future not to join in the sacred harmony.

A gentleman, speaking of a friend who was prostrated by illness, remarked that "he can hardly recover, since his constitution is all gone," said a bystander, "I do not see how he lives at all." "O," responded the wag, "he lives on the by-laws."

Vicksburg offers a reward for the recovery of an old lady, aged one hundred and eleven, who, it is supposed was kidnapped by some felonious journalist from a rival city, desirous to secure her obituary for his own local items.

An imaginative Irishman gave utterance to this lamentation: "I returned to the halls of my fathers by night, and found them all in ruins! I cried aloud, 'My fathers! where are they?' And echo answered, 'Is that you, Patrick McCarthy?'"

The following concise and comprehensive note was sent to an Illinois merchant by a neighboring farmer the other day: "Send me a trace chain and two hinges—Jane had a baby last night—also, two padlocks."

A Barrister, blind of one eye, pleading with his spectacles on, said, "Gentlemen, in my argument I shall use nothing, but what is necessary." "Then," replied a wag, "take out one of the glasses of your spectacles."

"Why don't you ask your sweetheart to marry you?"
"I have asked her."
"What did she say?"
"Oh I've the refusal of her."

Mr. Smith is bound to have his joke. His wife walked nearly in front of a railroad train the other day, and he said that if she had gone a step farther, his children would have had a stepmother.

An Iowa newspaper proclaims itself an "honest newspaper," and in another part of the same paper says: "When a man professes honesty now-a-days, keep your eye peeled for a thief."

A dry goods merchant of Hartford was asked how he spent his evenings. His reply was, "At night I store my mind, and during the day I mind my store." He was alive at last accounts.

A fashionable young lady dropped one of her false eyebrows in a church pew and badly frightened a young man who sat next her who thought it was his mustache.

An attorney observed to his brother in court that he thought whiskers were unprofessional. "You are right," replied his friend; "a lawyer cannot be too bare-faced."

A woman said to her lodger, "There are some black flakes among the milk, but it's not dirt; it's only dust."
