NEW BLOOMFIELD, PENN'A. Tuesday, March 17, 1874.

THE Gettysburg Star & Sentinel goes a long distance for its State news. Four weeks since we published an account of a remarkable room in Spring township, and last week we noticed it copied in the above paper credited to the Chicago Tribune.

Ex-PRESIDENT FILLMORE, died at Buffa-No, on Monday evening of last week .-His funeral took place on Thursday. On the day succeeding his death, both houses of Congress adjourned out of respect to his memory. The public buildings in Washington were ordered to be draped in mourning, and business was suspended on the day of the funeral.

SENATOR SUMNER died at Washington, on Wednesday last, at about three o'clock, after a very short illness. Mr. Sumner was probably better known throughout the enation than any other Senator. Though many disagreed with him politically, there mever were any who dared charge him with having used his official position to advance the pecuniary interests, either of himself or his friends, and in these days of general peculation this is a rare compliment. On the announcement of the sad event both Houses of Congress adjourned. The Legislatures of the various States which were in session at the time, also adjourned. In Boston, flags were placed at half mast, and arrangements were made by the city authorities to have the body lay in state at Fanuell Hall.

> Harrisburg Correspondence. HARRISBURG, March 14th, 1874.

This week the temperance people have given some intimations that they do not intend to allow the liquor advocates to have things all their own way. On Wednesday evening the committee on vice and immorality, held a meeting in the hall of the House, to hear arguments in favor of the repeal of the Local Option laws. Several prominent lawyers had been hired to present the matter in the most favorable light for the liquor interests. But the temperance advocates were also present at that meeting, and the ladies turned out in strong force. The effect of their presence on the speakers was very evident, as it appeared to take them entirely by surprise. One of the speakers showed his annoyance by complaining that the evident intention of the temperance people, was to awe the speakers by the unusual attendance of so many ladies. The speakers, however, did as well as could be expected in so bad a as well as could be expected in so bad a cause, but were apparently dissatisfied with their own success. No specches were made by the advocates of Local Option, but when the other party bad concluded their arguments, Rev. D. A. Laferty arose and requested all who were opposed to the repeal of the Local Option law to join in singing "Praise God from whom all blessings flow." The nearly unanimous response of the crowd present to this request, show-that the speeches had not had a dispiriting that the speeches had not had a dispiriting effect on temperance people, and gave a scene long to be remembered.

The House on Wednesday, showed a disposition to economize by voting to reduce the salary of members of the Board of Public Charities, from $3000 to $2000, but then you know, the members of the Legislature, are not serving on that board.

The Committee to which was referred.

The Committee to which was referred the advertising bills for the New Constitution, made a report which appears to be acceptable and there is a chance now that bills will soon be paid. Under this bill which passed first reading, no weekly paper can get over $600, and no daily over $1,200.

Both Houses adjourned on Wednesday afternoon, on the announcement of the death of Senator Sumner.

The committee appointed to ascertain what changes will be necessary to accommodate the enlarged Senate and House, report that a change of desks will make sufficient increase of room in the Senate Chamber, and that a change of desks and a one story extension to the Hall of Rep-resentatives, which will resemble a portico, will be all that will be required to comfortably seat the 201 members. cost is not to exceed $20,500. The estimated

The House has made some changes in the Judicial apportionment, but not as many as was thought would be made if the work of changing was once commenced.

The Legislative apportionment bill has been before the Senate this week, and has been before the Senate this week, and ans been vigorously opposed by the Democrats, who declare their rights are grossly viola-ted by the present arrangement. There is considerable truth in their charges, I must admit, but then politicians will work for the interests of their own party, and prob-ably if the Democrats had the majority, they would pass a bill fully as unjust. The bill has passed a second reading by a strict party vote, but may yet be improved by amendments. amendments.

The House appears to have tired of holding Saturday and Monday sessions with a slim House, and adjourned yesterday until Tuesday morning. So far the work done this winter by the Legislature is a disappointment to the people, both as regards quantity and quality, and many members do not hesitate to express their chagrin at the progress made.

Death of the $40,600 Cow.

The eighth Duchess of Geneva, the noted high-priced short-horn cow of the late sale at New York Mills, is dead. It will be remembered that we published her likeness, with a short history of her breeding and produce, in an issue a few weeks since. The cow was due to calve about a week ago, but owing to a malpresentation of the feetus she suffered greatly, and finally delivered her calf dead. It was at the time thought that she would recover and still prove of great value to her spirited owner, but fever set in, and despite the best medical assistance she died a few days after. Although this cow was bid off at Mr. Campbell's sale for $40,600 by the agent of Mr. R. Pavin Davies of Gloucestershire, England, it was through inadvertence on his part, as in the excitement of the moment he lost sight of the relative values of the currencies of the two countries, and bid more than he supposed. In view of this fact she was, by request of Mr. Davies, resold for his account to our own countryman, Col. Lewis G. Morris, of Fordham, N. Y., for $30,600, the same price that was paid for her daughter, 1st Duchess of Oneida, at the sale mentioned, the purchaser being Lord Skilmersdale of England. This loss to Col. Morris will be a matter of regret to Short-horn breeders throughout the country. In a financial point of view it is, of course, a severe one, but we apprehend that the disappointment, in another sense, will be felt much more keenly by the spirited and enthusiastic breeders upon whom it directly falls. The plans and expectations frustrated by the inopportune loss of the cow cannot be readily righted, though the price were again willingly forthcoming for her duplicate. In full appreciation of this fact, we extend to Col. Morris our fullest sympathies and re-

Another Kansas Tragedy.

A special despatch from Topeka, Kan., gives an account of a horrible murder there on Thursday night, which was not, however, discovered until Saturday evening. It appears that Daniel Farris, the keeper of a grocery on Sixth avenue, had been missing for two days. Suspicion of foul play being aroused, several officers visited the store on Saturday afternoon and found Frank Olds and his son Fred in possession.

On being closely questioned they told contradictory stories and were arrested .-The premises were searched, and the dead body of Farris was found under a heap of potatoes in the cellar with a bullet hole through his head and his throat cut. An inquest was held on Monday, and the facts elicited lead to the belief that Fred. Olds committed the murder, though the evidence against him is not yet positive.

Frank Olds, the father, drives an express wagon. His son Fred is a wild, idle boy. Farris came from Indianapolis about a year ago. He leaves two children in that city. His wife died some time ago. Great excitement prevails among all classes of citizens, nothing of so atrocious a character having occurred in Kansas since the Ben der murders.

Singular Mail Matter.

The Elmira Advertiser of recent date says : "When the mail agent going north on the train yesterday morning threw the Dundee mail-bag off at Starkey, something inside exploded, and smoke was seen to come out of the bag. On examination it was found that some infernal machine in the shape of a small cannon had been placed in the bag, and so arranged that a alight jar would set it off. No one was hurt. The agent took it in charge for Special Agent McDanolds to investigate .-And Special Agent McDanolds did investigate it. It is a miniature brass mortar, with a spring trigger, into which fits closely a rubber ball. It is a toy called parlor artillery, but must be a curious plaything, as it explodes with a sound like a rifle. It had been boxed up duly stamped, and sent through the mail loaded. The box in which it had been placed was torn to shreds, though the address 'Davis Dimmock, Dundee, N. Y., could be made out. It might have burned up the mail-bag had it not been fortunately discovered."

Twenty-five Feet of Snow.

San Francisco, March 9 .- All freight trains caught in the snow blockade have been abandoned for the present. In Summit Valley the snow is twenty-five feet deep on the level. Several snow plows and engines are off the track. One eastern bound passenger train is still at Alta. A western bound passenger train is at Reuo. Another western bound passenger train is at Toano; one eastern bound passenger train lies at Halleck's. At Cisco over six feet of anow has fallen during the present storm.

Juli Delivery at Doylestown.

Doylestown, March 13 .- Marcus Chapman, alias Charles Carpenter, the bank forger, and one Jack Shipman, a pickpocket hailing from Easton, Pennsylvania, confined in our jail, made their escape last night by unlocking their door with false keys and scaling the walls with ropes made from their bed clothing. It is supposed they had accomplices outside to aid them in escaping. The sheriff of Bucks county offers a reward of $250 for their return.

Recent Elections.

The election in Camden, N. J., last week resulted in the choice of John H. Jones, Democrat, for Mayor, by 41 majority. The Republicans elect the Recorder by 30 majority, and the Democrats the Receiver of Taxes by 441 majority. The Democrats elect five of the eight Councilmen. This is the first time the Democrats have been successful in fourteen years.

The New Hampshire election is very close. Neither party can as yet claim a majority in the legislature. For governor there was no election by the people, though the Democratic candidate came within about 300 votes of having a majority over his two competitors.

Disaster at Sea.

The steamer Pennsylvania from Liverpool reports she took a violent hurricane on the 27th ult., at midnight. The sea carried away the bridge on which were Captain Bradburn and the first and second officers and two sailors, and they were all washed overboard and lost. The fourth officer had his leg broken. The ship's hull and machinery are uninjured. She also lost her boat and deck houses. Captain Bradburn was from Baltimore. The other officers are from England. The vessel was one of the line that runs from Philadelphia.

Shot Bead by a Woman.

While Mrs. Carpenter, a widow, living on the corner of Fifth and Kowa streets, in Leavenworth, Kansas, was at work in her kitchen one day last week, John White, of the Fifth Infantry band, entered the room, locked the door, and made improper advances to her. She ordered him to leave the premises, but he refused to go, and she then threatened to shoot him, to which he replied, "Shoot and be damned." Whereupon she went into an adjoining room, returned with a pistol, and shot him through the head. A Coroner's jury pronounced the killing justifiable.

The Williamsport Crusaders.

Williamsport, March 13 .- The woman's temperance movement commenced here February 23, with one hundred and ninety names enrolled. To-day eleven hundred women are at work. Three immense mass meetings have been held; daily prayer meetings and visits to saloons; whole city aroused; drinking men signing the pledge, and dealers, with scarcely an exception, meeting ladies with kindness.

A Bed-ridden Man's Nuptials.

Mr. Ervan Ross, of Lauderdale county, Ala., who never walked a step in his life, and had to be held up on his side on his bed during the ceremony, married his second wife a few days ago.

Miscellaneous News Items.

"Christian Sharpe, inventer of the famous Sharpe rifle, died suddenly at his residence in Vernon county, Connecticut, last week, of hemorrhage of the lungs, aged sixty-three.

13 Daniel Harvey, who participated in the recent strike of engineers on the Pittsburg, Cineinnati and St. Louis railroad, last week pleaded guilty of putting a bolt of iron on the frog at Pendleton to throw the trains off the track, and begged the clemency of the court.

A boy in Dubuque was put in a boiler to hold a hammer against rivets while being headed, and when it was found the hole left for him to come out was too small, and it took six men three hours to cut a hole large enough to

A female, while crossing the railroad bridge at Bridgeport, Ohio, was blown off into the creek and drowned. Several persons noticed the accident, but could render no assistance. The body has not been found, nor has it been ascertained who the person was. No one is missing in the neighborhood, and it is thought she was a

A boy named Wilson, residing near Evansville, Ind., came to the city a few days ago and gave himself up to the police authorities, saying that he had accidentally shot his mother, but had not hurt her much. It was afterwards ascertained that the shooting was intentional, being the result of a quarrel. He shot her four times, perhaps fatally.

13 At Crete, Saturday, Gregory Yeager a boy of ten years, shot and killed a son of S. H. Graben, three years old. Graben, who is a night watchman, on returning home in the morning left his revolver on the table. Yeager picked it up and pointing it at the little boy, said, "This is the way the Indians do when they come," and pulled the trigger, the ball entering the child's head, killing him instantly.

While the temperance women of the west "are marching on" with unusual zeal, their sisters in the East besitate to begin the crusade. A great deal of feeling has been developed in Philadelphia, but no bar-room has as yet been invaded. In fact, there seems to be a disposition to fall back on the old expedient of awaking the public conscience and educating public sentiment by means of mass meetings. The National Temperance Publication Society at New York reports that it is receiving heavy orders for books and tracts from various sections of the country.

13 The Martinsburg, Va., "Statesman" records the following strange circumstance: "We learned while in Charlestown yesterday, that Mr. Holmes McQuire, a talented young lawyer of Berryville, Va., died under rather strange circumstances, on last Saturday morning. It seems that on Friday he went to the undertaker and ordered his coffin, and then went to see several of his friends, requesting them to act as pall-bearers, asserting that he would die on the following morning, and then desired to be buried at 3 o'clock Sunday evening-all of which came to pass as he pre-

An old citizen of Floyd county, Ia., named Myers died on the 24th ult. For ten years he has been kept by his children in a shed on the farm, although he died at a neighbor's house. The man was palsied, and it is said had been starved and ill-used, and his grandsons allowed to beat him with clubs, and every means short of actual murder used to shorten his life, and when dead his brutal offspring refused to see his corpse or attend his funeral,

€3" Elder Jacob Knapp, the celebrated revivalist, died on Monday, at Rockford, Illinois. He was born in Otsego county, New York, December 17, 1799. He was brought up a Episcopalian, but became a Baptist and preached as an independent itinerant, preferring, however, the Baptist churches where they would receive him .-He gave up counting those converted under his ministry, when, thirty years ago, they numbered 100,000.
