The Bloomfield Cimes.

NEW BLOOMFIELD, PENN'A.

Tuesday, March 24, 1874.

A CINCINNATI dispatch says a number of the largest distilleries of Cincinnati admit that since the commencement of the women's temperance crusade their business decreased fully 75 per cent. Business is gone no orders are coming in, and wholesale dealers besitate to trust retailers whose stock may go to the gutters.

A TERRIFIC hurricane, accompanied by thunder, lightning and rain, passed over Cairo, Ill., at 3 o'clock on Wednesday morning, causing great destruction of property. The centre of the storm seems to have passed south of Cairo, as the wires work as usual north of the city, and no damages are reported in that direction.

Mr. Sumper's Successor.

The contest for Mr. Sumper's successor is narrowing. The principal candidates are now conceded to be Messrs. Dawes, Adams, Hoar, and Banks. It is thought that the democrats, who have 75 votes out of 280, will unite on a liberal republican. The vote is to be taken to day, and it may be that some less prominent politician will be taken up as compromise candidate.

What Caused It.

The death of Mr. Sumner brings again to mind the attack made on him May 22nd, 1856, and which has ever since affected his health. Mr. Sumner on the 19th of that month, made a remarkable speech in the Senate, which gave great offence to the South Carolina delegation, and the following extract will now be of interest. In refering to that State, he said :

"Were the whole history of South Caro-lina blotted out of existence, from its very beginning down to the day of the election of the Senator to his present seat on this floor, civilization might lose—I do not say how little, but surely less than it has al-ready gained by the example of Kansas, in its valiant struggle against oppression, and in the development of a new science of em-igration. Ah, sir, I tell the Senator that Kansas, welcomed as a free State, will be a 'ministering angel' to the Republic when South Carolina, in the cloak of darkness which she hugs, lies howling."

As we now see the condition of South Carolina, and compare it with the prosperous condition of Kansas, the remarks seem almost prophetic. And where are the members who were engaged in this disgraceful attack? Brooks, the most guilty of the attacking party, died within a year, despised and neglected by those who had urged him on. Butler soon followed him, and during the war Keitt fell, trying to support the Southern cause, and the three are nearly forgotten.

Harrisburg Correspondence.

HARRISBURG, March 21st, 1874. To record the sayings of the Legislature or the week past, would occupy more pace than you would care to use. But to for the week past, would occupy more space than you would care to use. But to record the doings of real interest or for the good of the public will occupy but a few lines. Never has there been a session held when so little was done in so a long time. By some who properly appreciate their capabilities, a disposition is shown to adjourn and leave Legislation to their successors, who it is hoped will have the ability to do more and talk less. The $10 per day, how-ever, is so much more than the majority can possibly make in any occupation they may have at home, that that class will no doubt out vote those who are willing to adjourn, and so lengthen out the session as far as possible. The great mistake now made in tiking salaries for public officials, is, that the honor of the position is entirely over-looked. The consequence is that the places which were once desired for the honor they conferred, are now sought by politicians only for the emoluments connected there-

The bill providing for paying the news-papers for advertising the New Constitu-tion, has been finally passed. The Senate has disagreed with the House on the amendment to the Judicial apportionment bill, and a conference committee, of the two Houses have agreed upon a compromise. It makes no change as far as Perry and Juniata are concerned, but leaves them as the 41st district.

The Senate bill appropriating $1,000,000 to the Centennial exposition, has met with favor in the House, and passed first rend-ing by a large majority. The death of Col. Thompson, was referred to in the House on Wednesday last, by Mr. Hetrick, of Juniata county, in a few appropriate, and eloquent remarks. The report that Speaker McCormick was to receive the appointment to the place made vacant by the death of Hon. Bucher Swope, was generally believed here for some days, except by a few who knew that Senator Scott had no chaues to secure the place for any friend of his, if Cameron objected. While there was a prospect that this appointment would be made, bright vision of political preferment arose before Representatives Mylin, of Lancaster, and Newmyer, of Alleghony, one of whom was most likley to secure the position of Speaker in case McCormick resigned. But alas! for human hopes; with the appointment of Hon. David Reed, as U. S. District Attoracy, for Western Penn'a, there will be no vacancy in the Speaker's chair, and consequently these hopes were blasted. I tender them my sympathy, but congratu-late the people of the western part of the State, in their escape from the infliction of McCornick.

A joint resolution has passed the House, requesting the U. S. to donate the Carlisle barracks to the use of Soldiers' Orphans' schools, and if the buildings are not to be used for the purpose for which they were originally intended, no better use than the one proposed could be made of the property.

The temperance wave has reached this place, but so far the proceedings have been conducted with great propriety. The action taken on the license question, the bill hav-ing been referred back to the committee, shows that the Legislature will hesitate to touch the subject this session, and this proves that the agitation of the temperance people has had its effect.

The House has passed a joint resolution requesting the President to appoint a court to re-examine the charges against General Fitz John Porter. Some persons might think it would be better for the House to show an ability to transport its property of the court of th show an ability to transact its own legiti-mate business before attending to National affairs. Neither House in session to-day.

Miscellaneous News Items.

An extraordinary circomstance in the history of the country occurs on the death of Mr. Fillmore. Never before since the administration of Jefferson has it happened that only one person was alive, except the incumbent, who had filled the Presidential office. Andrew Johnson is now the only ex-President living; and even he was not elected to that office, but came to it as Vice-President on the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. While the younger Adams was President, the elder Adams, Jefferson, Madison, and Monroe were living. When Buchanan was elected, Van Buren, Tyler, Pierce, and Fillmore were alive. When Lincoln was inaugurated Van Buren, Tyler Pierce, Fillmore, and Buchanan were living. Within the last thirty-seven years, seven Presidents have been elected besides Grant. It is an extraordinary fact that not one of the seven is now alive.

Women are clearly proving their ight to a perfect equality with men. Here is Miss Belle Murray, acting deputy-clerk of the Circuit Court of McLean County, Illinois. Not only has she discharged the duties of the office as well as any man could have done, but it is charged that she has embezzled money with true masculine boldness. She is now on trial for the offence, and it will doubtless appear that fast horses, wine, and disreputable male companions have been the cause of her ruin. Now that women have thus proved their ability to steal quite as successfully as men there need be no further discussion as to their right to hold office. Miss Murray ought to be sent to Congress or the Legislature as soon as she is out of her present

Little George Gough was sliding down hill in East Hampton, Conn., about half a mile from home. His mother stood at the window and saw him slide into a pond at the foot of the long hill. Nobody was with him, and he was too young to help himself. She started for the pond as fast as she could run, climbing fences and stumbling through banks of snow. Before reaching the place she became so breathless, seared, and exhausted that she fell half fainting; but she got on her feet again, and staggered on. When she came to the water, which stood three feet deep over the fool in New Orleans." The postmaster was absent, and on his return one of the young clerks informed him of the receipt of the letter. "And what become of it?" inquired the postmaster. "Why," replied the clerk, "I did not know who the biggest fool in New Orleans was, so I opened the letter myself." "And what did you find in it?" inquired the postmaster .-"Why, " replied the clerk, "nothing but the words, 'Thou art the man!' "

The salaries paid to postmasters differ very much. The postmaster in New York receives $6,000 per annum, the highest salary paid, while the Boston official receives $4,000, Philadelphia $4,000, Pittsburgh $4,000, Reading $3,500, and Lancaster $2,800. One of the smallest salaries is paid to the postmaster of Britzmanville, N. Y., who receives the small sum of $2 per annum, while a very large number receive salaries ranging from that amount to $12.

图 Adam Forepaugh, proprietor of the great animal show, which has been exhibited all over the country, has received a letter from the office of the consulate of the United States in Bangkok, Siam, stating that his agent is now on his way hither, in the Dutch ship Osten, bringing with him a white elephant, the first that ever left the kingdom of Siam. Mr. Brady, who after the chief officers of the Pennsylvania had been swept overboard by a heavy sea took command of the ship and brought her safely into port, has been appointed her captain, which looks as if, in one instance at least, the right man is to be found in the right place. A couple were recently married in Hardie county, Iowa, and after the ceremony the bride asked the husband his name. They had been acquainted only a few hours when he proposed and she ac-

The New Orleans City Railroad recently sunk in the river a bag containing 47,000 counterfeit nickel coins, the returns of one year's business. The railroad companies have offered a reward of $1,000 for information which will lead to the discovery and punishment of the counterfeiters.

A Hartford gentleman who had tarried late at a wine supper found his wife awaiting his return in a high state of nervousness. Said she: "Here I've been waiting and rocking in a chair till my head swims round like a top." "Jess so where I've been," responded he; "it's in the atmosphere."

Williamsport, March 17 .- The temperance movement is still in progress with increased interest. Many of the saloons are closed. The ladies started out this afternoon and on reaching Washington street it was ascertained that 200 or 300 Germans had congregated. Lager beer was served from a wagon, and the crowd was boisterous and threatening. Tumblers were thrown and the police threatened. The movement was unexpected and has greatly injured the cause of the liquor dealers. Two arrests were made.

Rockland, Me., March 16 .- At Hosmer's Pond, Camden, last evening, a young man named Kellar, accompanied by Miss Holt, were driving on the road used for hauling ice, when the team broke through, carrying the buggy and occupants under the ice and were both drowned.

Biddeford, Me., March 16 .- The head of woman apparently twenty years old, with dark hair and regular, handsome features, was found on the bank of the Saco river yesterday. A card was tied around her forehead, with a brick attached. The head had been chopped from the body close to Strange Phenomenon.

A dispatch from Raleigh, N. C., contains the following remarkable story :

" Intense excitement prevails here at this moment over the startling discovery of the commencement of an astonishing physical convulsion in the midst of a country which for hundreds of years-as far back as tradition extends-has lain undisturbed in the perennial growth and maturing of superficial nature. Bald mountain, in the western part of the state, is in a state of volcanic eruption.

People who have recently arrived here are eager with the information that the farm houses and cottages along the sides and the base of the mountain have been thrown down by the rocking of the great mass to its foundation. Many of the inhabitants have fled in fear and terror to seek safety elsewhere from the terrible devastations which may result from the ama-zing phenomenon. A thin vapor issues from the top of the mountain, and an up-heaving of fire and lava from the deep bowels of the earth is hourly expected. There is a low rumbling sound of mighty volume constantly audible over the entire surface of the mountain, and the snow melts as fast as it falls from the heavens.'

Treating the Wrong Disease.

Many times Women call upon their family physicians, one with dyspepsia, another with palpitation, another with trouble of the breast, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and in-different doctors, separate and distinct dis-eases, for which be prescribes his pills and water, which stood three feet deep over the ice, she waded in and drew out the boy, but be was dead.

Some years ago a letter was received in New Orleans, directed to "the biggest fool in New Orleans." The postmaster was a constant of the cause, and encourage their practice until large bills are made, when the suffering patients are no better in the end but worked. no better in the end, but probably worse the delay, treatment, and other plications made, and which a proper medi-cine directed to the cause would have entirely removed, thereby instituting health and comfort instead of prolonged misery.
