Nature's Great Remedy THROAT AND LUNG DISEASES!!

It is the vital principle of the Pine Tree, obtained by a peculiar process in the distillation of the tar, by which its highest medicinal properties are retained. Tar even in its crude state has been recommended by eminent physicians of every school. It is confidently offered to the afflicted for the following simple reasons: 1. It cures, not by abruptly stopping the cough, but by dissolving the phlegm and assisting nature to throw off the unhealthy matter causing the irritation. In cases of acute croup or croup it both prolongs and renders less burdensome the life of the afflicted sufferer. 2. Its healing principle acts upon the irritated surface of the lungs, penetrating to each diseased part, relieving pain, and subsiding inflammation. 3. It suppresses and eradicates the mucus. The Deacon's Hat.

A rather ridiculous scene occurred in Norwalk, Ohio recently. The hero is a prominent and much respected deacon. The other Sunday he started for church with an old hat on his head. It was an easy hat, and the old gentleman enjoyed it. It appears there are pegs to hang hats on in the churches there. He thus disposed of his head-gear on reaching the church, and took his seat with the congregation. When the service was over he lingered as is customary and proper for deacons to do. He finally reached the porch, and stopped for his hat, and any respectable citizen can imagine the horror he experienced on beholding but one hat left, and that a most dilapidated and scandalous looking article. He could feel his blood boil within him as he looked at it and thought of the muttonhead who owned it, and had walked off with his glossy beaver instead. He said out loud that the owner of that hat was a mutton-head, and ground his deaconish heel into the floor, and felt much relieved by so doing. Then he tied a handkerchief about his head because the old hat was much too large for him, and he could not wear it, even if flesh and spirit had not revolted, against the spectacle. He told the sexton that the hat must have been built in a dry dock, and the only thing that troubled him in the matter was how a man with a head that size got into the church any way. Then he stalked majestically homeward, with the red handkerchief wound about his head, and the detestable hat held at arms' length ahead of him, and altogether forming a spectacle that fastened the astonished attention of every beholder. Arriving home, he extended the obnoxious article towards his wife, and waiting an instant for her to take in the awful enormity of the offence, he explosively shouted—"Look at that villainous rag!" The lady looked at it and was astonished. "I don't wonder you are sick," he howled morosely, "it makes me sick to think of the bull-head who owns such a smoke-stack palming it off on me, and taking my new beaver for himself in mistake!" (He groaned this out with withering sarcasms.) A pretty mistake I must say when his miserable rag is big enough to cover a cart, and filthy enough to make a crow sick. "But that's your every day hat," asserted his wife, in still greater astonishment. "My hat!" gasped the amazed deacon, staring at her with his eyes half way out of their sockets, and then laughing hysterically, and shivering from head to foot. "Certainly it is," persisted his wife, "and here is your best hat," taking that article from its accustomed place, and holding it out to him. Without a word the miserable man sank into a chair, and after staring blankly at his wife for a moment, slowly said: "The ways of Providence are past finding out. Rub my head, Matilda!"

During an examination a medical student, being asked: "When does mortification ensue?" replied: "When you pop the question, and are answered no!"

An applicant for a pair of boots at one of our shoe shops was asked what number he wore, and replied, as soon as he could recover from his surprise, "Why, two of course, did you ever see a man with three legs?"

"Father," said a young lady the other morning, "have you seen my cantata?"

"Canned tartar!" roared the old gentleman, letting his paper fall to the floor, "have they got to canning them fellows? Zounds! I wonder what the deuce they'll can next!"

The young lady explained. The friction of a threshing-machine burned a barn, last week, at Sharon Springs N. Y. "Thar!" said the farmer to his progressive sons, as he watched the fiery straws floating o'er his head, "thar, boys! that's all on 'count of them'n raw fangled contrivances! Wouldn't'a happened if we'd used flails!"

A clergyman at the examination of the young scholars of his Sunday school, put the following question: "Why did the people of Israel set up a golden calf?" "Because they hadn't money enough to set up an ox," was the reply of a little chap, who took a dollar-and-cents view of the matter.

"Hi! where did yez get them trousers?" asked an Irishman of a man who happened to have a remarkably short pair of trousers on. "I got them where they grew," was the indignant reply. "Then, by my conscience," said Paddy, "You've pulled them a year too soon!"

"My dear boy," said a fond aunt to a very fast-living nephew, "don't you know that in leading this irregular life you are shortening your days?" "It's quite possible," was the cool reply, "that I may be shortening my days, but then look how I lengthen my nights!"
