The Bloomfield Times.

NEW BLOOMFIELD, PENN'A. Tuesday, April 28, 1874.

THE Arkansas difficulties, bid fair to be settled peaceably, both Governors having agreed to disband their forces, and leave the matter to the decision of the legislature. in a special session to be held at once.

A serrous jam occurred in the river opposite Lock Haven, on Monday of last week, caused by a raft getting fast. Over 200 rafts were piled up promiscously, and damage amounting to many thousand dollars was done, before an opening was made.

A resolution was offered in Congress last week, directing the committee on Civil Service Reform, to inquire into the expediency of providing for the election of postmasters. We believe that would be a step in the right direction.

A VETO.

The President has returned the Finance bill to the Senate with his veto. He declines to sign any bill which looks towards an increase of paper currency. This bill in his belief, is a departure from the true principles of finance, and its approval would be a departure from principles expressed in every message sent to Congress by him on the subject. He recommends earnestly such legislation as will secure as speedily as practicable a return to specie payments, and refers to the pledges of the Government to make provisions at the earliest practicable mo ment for a redemption of United States notes in coin.

He recommends that the revenues of the country be increased, so as to meet current expenditures as a preparatory measure towards specie resumption. The veto took all parties by surprise, but gives the opponents of inflation, who are undoubtably a large majority of the nation, unbounded satisfaction.

Harrisburg Correspondence. HARRISBURG, April 25th, 1874.

This week the temperance question has been the most exciting one. The vote which was announced to be taken on Wednesday "explanatory" of the Local Option law, brought a great crowd up to the House at the Wednesday session, and among the number was a delegation of about fifty ladies from Pittsburg and Allegheny. The ladies very indignantly deny that Mr. Wainwright, the chairman of the committee on Vice and Immorality, who reported the bill refered to represents Allegheny county, but say he mis-represents it. The House has not been so crowded at any time this session, and as the members made their remarks during the passage of the bill the spectators frequently expressed their satisfaction or dissent, much to the disgust of the Speaker, who had more than usual trouble to keep order. Various motions were made calculated to postpone or defeat the passage of the act, but all were inefec-tual, and it passed first reading by the fol-lowing vote: I have classified the vote so that you can show the politics of each vote if you desire.

AYES—Ash, Brockway, Butler, Crawford, Crossler, Crogan, Eyan, Foster, Gerwig, Regemen, Helpes, Hettrick, Henry, Hildebrand, Jamtson, Jones, Chilhadelphia, Josephs, Kaufman, Kennedy, Kimmit, Ristler, Laftus, Loucks, McCormick, McOullough, Berks, McCullough, iPailadelphia, Morgan, (Schuykill, Mylin, Newell, O'Brian, O'Nell, Petriken, Piper, Porter, Pyle, Reyburn, Reynolds, Rouey, Rutter, Shelbley, Shuman, Smith, (Berks), Smith, (Phil'a.) Smyler, Ricckel, Tully, Timer, Tshady, Vodges, Waddell, Walnright, Welst, Wood, Worrall, Ferkes.

Norn.—The names of the Democrats are set in Relic, the others are Bepublicans.—[Ed.]

So it will be seen that there are 55 men in the House, who are ready to assume the duties of the Supreme Court, even to set aside judicial decisions on this same subject, and who are firm friends of the liquor interests. Of the members 31 are Democrats and 24 are Republicans. A more mischievous bill was never passed by any legislative body. Certainly a more straightforward way to deal with this question would be to repeal the law entirely and the opponents of temperance having found by the vote on Wednesday, that they have a majority in the House, a bill has since been reported repealing the law, and there is now no doubt but what it will pass the House. Its fate in the Senate is uncertain, the probabilities being in favor of its defeat by that branch of the Legislature.

The desire in the Senate to raise the Salaries of Judges seems so strong that one would suppose that many of the Senators are looking forward to the time when they can wear the judicial honors. This week another vigorous effort was made to raise the salaries, but I am glad to state was not successful. The pertinacity of Col. McClure in this matter is particularly noticable.

On Thursday the Senate held an executive session to consider the Judicial nominations made by the Governor. All the nominations falled of an approval, for the lack of a two-third vote, the Democrate mostly refusing to vote. In the afternoon lack of a two-third vote, the Democrats mostly refusing to vote. In the afternoon the Governor again re-nominated the same Judges, and again they lay over. The query now is, how long will this farce be continued ""

Mr. Allen, of Dauphin, stated to the House on Thursday, that he had been of-fered $5,000, to vote for amendments to the fered $5,000, to vote for amendments to the bill relating to limitations of actions. This is a bill in which the Reading Railroad Company is largely interested, as it affects a suit for a large quantity of valuable coal lands held by them. Justice to innocent parties who might be suspected, would seem to demand that Mr. Allen should make some more positive statement, as to who made him this offer.

The Democrats of the House are so pleased with the Grant veto of the currency.

pleased with the Grant veto of the currency bill, that they offered a resolution endorsing this action of the President. This the Republicans amended so as to make it endorse all the acts of the administrations both State and National, and carried the resolution then by a party vote.

QUID NUNC.

The Presbytery of Carlisle, at its session in the First Presbyterian church at Carlisle, April 14th and 16th, passed unanimously the following paper on the subject of intemperance, and directed it to be published widely in the religious and secular journals of the day, and to be read from the pulpits of the churches under its care. (The Presbytery is composed of some 44 ministers and 47 churches in the counties of Dauplin, Cumberland, Adams, Franklin, Fulton and Perry.)

Called, in the Providence of God, to meet at a time of general and deep interest on the sub-ject of intemperance, the Presbytery of Car-llsle, true to the past history of our church, nsie, true to the past nistory of our church, would again express its earnest convictions upon this important matter.

1. We regard with devout gratitude and praise to God that Divine quickening of public sentiment and conscience, through the agency of Christian women, which has been manifestive to the sentiment of the sentiment and conscience, through the agency of Christian women, which has been manifestive to the sentiment where the sentiment was a sentiment of the sentiment. of Christian women, which has been manitested in so large a part of our country. We rejoice in that spirit of love and tenderness and Christian zeal with which they have carried on their work; in their evident dependence, through prayer, upon the Spirit of God and the power of kindness and persuasion; on the large and unexampled success which has already attended their efforts, as manifested by the largelive dimplayed sale of orders aprille, the closing unexampled success which has already attended their efforts, as manifested by the largely diminished sale of ardent spirits, the closing of thousands of saloons and drinking places, the rescue of many failen men, the enforcement of law by a strong and increasing public sentiment, and the promotion of religion, of which temperance is a special fruit.

II. Recognizing the fact, that while the State has suffered; and society has suffered, and the Church of Christ has greatly suffered for many generations past from this fearful vice of drunkenness, and crime of drunkard-making woman in the quiet sphere of home has been a chief and eilent suffer, we hail with gladness such efforts as she, guided by the spirit of love and the Spirit of God, may put forth to abate and utterly suppress the vast evil of intemperance; and we carnestly call upon all the members of our churches and congregations to deeply and prayerfully consider their duty to "Help these women by an open and active sympathy and co-operation with them."

III. Deeply deploring the apathy manifested by many professing Christians towards this worthy and divinely sanctioned cause of temperance, we most carnestly commend to all the members of the churches under our care, that they be found the fast and unfilinching and active friends of temperance; that they abstain they be found the fast and unflinching and ac tive friends of temperance; that they abstain from all customs and fashions that would countenance to any extent the sin of intempercountenance to any extent the sin of intemper-ance; that they avoid even the appearance of evil; that they disentangle themselves from all implications with the traffic, use and manu-facture of ardent spirits; that they present in their whole lives, by total abstinence from everything that will intoxicate, a standing ex-emplication of the noble spirit of Paul who said, "It is good neither to eat flesh nor to drink wine, nor anything whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended or made weak."

IV. Belleving that intemperance is not only

IV. Believing that intemperance is not only a bitter curse to man, and a foc to his dearest interests in this life and in the life to come, but a great sin against God, and a mighty ob-struction to the progress of the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ in the world, we earnestly invoke all our ministers and elders and church members to bring the whole weight of their influence against it, in the regulation of their own family customs; in a sedulous care for the purity of the church from all compilcity with the evil; in the careful instruction of our youth in the Sabbath schools; and by such public ef-forts throughout their communities as shall at once and forever give to our religion its true position of irreconcilable opposition to a vice and a sin so enormous in its mischlefs and so disgraceful to the Christian name.

The Brazillian government seems to be very much in earnest in its contest with the Roman Catholic Church. Besides the conviction of the Bishop of Pernambuco, the Bishop of Olinda has been arrested, and the Archbishop of Bahia has formerly protested against the act. The bitter warfare between church and state appears to have suddenly awoke him. In getting out of bed hurriedly, resting his elbow on the rail, it slipped, and he fell with his throat on the top of a lamp, hung by a chair at the side of the bed, the globe cutting a gash nearly three inches in circular form, severing the carotold artery, from which he died almost instantly.

On Bainbridge Island, Washington Territory, recently, a logger accidentally discovered the out-croppings of a coal mine. He mentioned the fact in conversation and some of his hearers at once proceeded to the locality, and finding that there was a coal vein there, they chartered a steamer to Olympia and pre-empted the land, thus snatching a fortune from the logger.

On Thursday night a little girl employed in the family of Thos. P. Cope, of Germantown, was shot in the face. On Friday night Ann McGarvey, also employed in the same family, was hit by a bullet which, however, only grazed her skin. Both cases of shooting, it is supposed, were committed by the same person, but who it was is a mystery.

A trapeze performer named A. H. Searles fell twenty feet from a bar, while performing at the Theatre Comique, in Jersey City, last week, and sustained probably fatal injuries.

A Spunky Drinker.

The Lewistown Sentinel says :

On Monday of court week a well-dressed gentleman, rather tipsy, being espied by Judge Bucher in the court room, was called before his Honor, and interrogated as to where he got his liquor; but he refused or was unable to answer, whereupon the Judge sent him to jail. After lying in limbo until Saturday, he was again brought before the court—this time perfectly sober—and again interrogated as to where he got the liquor. He replied that he could not tell without being guilty of a breach of confidence, and therefore must decline to

"Well," said Judge Bucher, "you will have to decide between telling or going to

A Wrong Custom Corrected.

It is quite generally the custom to take strong liver stimulents for the cure of liver complaint, and both the mineral and vegetable kingdoms have been diligently searched to procure the most drastic and poisonous purgatives, in order to procure a pow-erful effect upon the liver, and arouse the lagging and enfeebled organ. This system of treatment is on the same principal as that of giving a weak and dilapidated man large portions of brandy to enable nim to do a certain amount of work. When the stimulant is withheld, the organ like the system, gradually relapses into a more pid or sluggish and weakened condition than before. What then is wanted? Med-icines, that while they cause the bile to flow freely from the liver, as that organ is toned into action, will not overwork and thus de-bilitate it, but will, when their use is dis-continued, leave the liver strengthened and

It deals directly with and wholly upon the exciting topic of the day, having for its subject the new woman movement against intemperance, and although in the shape intemperance, and' although in the shape of a story, is a most powerful argument against the evil of which it treats. Its fidelity to facts, striking pictures of oftrecurring incidents, and intense dramatic effects, will convince the most casual reader of the truth of its arguments, and awaken impulses which cannot fail to produce great good to the community. It will prove a real blessing and pleasure to many and as it carries with its truths a singular charm of interest, it is a work which will be without doubt largely read. We can confidently recommend it to our readers as one which, whilst they can make large circuwhich, whilst they can make large circu-lation for, will prove of untold value to all who read it; and to every woman who has the slightest interest in this movement it will be of the greatest interest and worth. The publishers are desirous of giving it early and large circulation, and want agents to sell it; they will furnish a complete agent's outfit, with grant of territory for $1.00; and we strongly recommend any of our readers desiring profitable employ-ment, (whilst they can be doing a large measure of good circulating it,) to apply for an agency at once, as we learn that choice of territory is being fast taken up for it.
