Tuesday, June 9, 1874. LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

NO CUTS INSERTED. After the expiration of present contracts no more cuts or electrotypes will be insorted unless on metal base and not then unless quite light faced.

Removed.-We are now pleasantly fixed in our new office. It was a terrible job to remove our engine and other machinery, but with the assistance of kind friends it was all safely accomplished, the engine put into proper place, and the presses set up, and we are able to issue our paper without any delay. We shall be pleased to receive the call of our friends at any

The Times complains of a blacksmith in Newport, who charges "10 cents on a week day to lasten a shoe on a horse, and 50 cents to do the same work on Sunday," which the cilitor thinks is outrageous. It is rather high, but then, you know, Blocumbed tolks never patronize Newport, only in "cases of necessity."—News.

Does the News mean to slander the tradesmen and mechanics of Newport by saying they make it a rule to overcharge transient customers, and take advantage of people's necessities? We don't believe such an insinuation, but think that smith an exception to the general rule.

Information Wanted .- Information of the whereabouts of William Black is desired by his sister. When last heard from Mr. Black was living at Potter's Mills, Centre county, Pa. Any information concerning Mr. Black will be thankfully received and should be addressed to Orrin Sargent, Wilson's Creek P. O., Tioga co., N. Y., or to D. S. Dunham, Altoona, Pa. The press of the State is requested to make a note of this notice.

Struck by an Engine. - A painter named Kelley was knecked off the Cumberland Valley railroad track on Friday morning near Good Hope station by a locomotive attached to an eastward bound train. He had been seen walking on the track by the engineer, who, noticing that he made no effort to get off the track, but seemed to invite a violent death, tried all in his power to stop the train. Before this was accomplished the man had been hurled from the track. He received a hole in his head and a number of bruises. Kelley was taken back to Carlisle.

Fire at the State Lunatic Asylum.-At a late hour on Saturday evening a week, a fire occurred in the fan house of the State Lunatic Asylum, near Harrisburg. The smoke, instead of pure air, being fanned through the tunnel into the main building, caused a general alarm. Windows were broken to admit fresh air, but finally the doors were thrown open, and about four hundred inmates were allowed to escape, of whom only twelve left the grounds. At 6 o'clock next evening, all but six had been returned to the Hospital. Among the missing is General J. Sidney Jones, of Philadelphia. Loss about $500.

Triching Found. - Yesterday a postmortem examination of the body of Geo. Cordes, who died on Sunday, was made by Dr. H. C. Orth, who took small particles of flesh from the abdomen, diaphragm and muscles of the legs and arms. These were subjected to a microscopical scrutiny and and to contain myriads of living and moving trichine. Last night we had the privilege of inspecting a number of the worms taken from the diaphragm through Dr. Orth's powerful microscope. They could be seen distinctly moving like snakes. One of them, which had become detached from the flesh, looked like a boa constrictor. In a space of about an eighth of an inch square the doctor counted sixty-five trichine. There are no doubt millions of the worms in young Cordes' body.-Harrisburg Patriot of 2nd inst.

An Ugly Collision.-In a game of base ball between the Normal School boys of Shippensburg, and the College boys at Mercersburg, two of the most prominent players met with quite a serious accident. While Beven and Keiser, both of Shippensburg, were running to catch a ball, they ran together and were terribly cut about the head and face. Mr. Beven's eye was almost knocked out and cut badly. Mr. Keiser received a very deep and long gash in the head. It was necessary to have it sewed shut. They both fell to the ground. Mr. Beven was carried to the depot in an almost insensible condition. He was better on arriving at Shippensburg. The necident put an end to the game, which the Shippensburg boys were in a fair way of Destructive Storm.-The Wanesboro' (Franklin County) Record says : A thunder gust of more than ordinary violence passed over this part of the county on Sunday eveover this part of the county on Sanday evening last. A few miles Southwest of town hail fell in large quantities, many of the atones says our informant being as large as ordinary hen eggs. We regret to learn that Mr. Jacob J. Miller sustained a loss approximating $1000. About thirty seres of wheat are said to have been destroyed for him, twelve or fifteen of his finest, apple trees were blow down, fencing prestrated, etc. The crops of David R. Miller, Lewis Lecron, Simon Lecron, Geo. Shefler (tenant to the worship of the Triuxe God, on June)

Mr. David Miller, of Rye township, died on the 80th ult., from a cut in his knee.

The cut was considered trifling at first, and happened a few weeks ago, but yet caused the fatal result.

A horse belonging to Wm. McKee, of this frightened the team, (which was a good one), and they broke away and ran down through town at a terrific pace, never halting until they reached the river. Just after starting, Mr. Page, his wife, son and wife, and two children were thrown out of the wagon, but strange to say, none of the parties were seriously injured. The Sabbath was forgotten in the excitement.—

Dellville, Perry county, will be dedicated to the worship of the Triuxe God, on June on the Jacob's farm) were also very seriously damaged. There are doubtless other farmers in that section who were equally unfortunate. Forest trees were also uprooted, window lights broken, etc. A stable at Shady Grove was capsized during the same storm.

A second storm passed over our town about 9 o'clock, the same evening, drenching the earth with water, but inflicting no damage.

Gone. - The Selinsgrove Times says :-Elias Hartman, who has long been a resident of this place, got tired sticking at home always, and last week started off on a tour. Next day another man's wife was seized with the same feeling, and followed. They are both gone and no one knoweth whither. Mrs. Hartman is a disconsolate widow, and Henry Walter a disconsolate widower. Those left behind should console themselves for being as well off as those who have gone hence.

The "Normal Echo Literary Society," of Millerstown, held its sixth Anniversary on Friday evening, the 6th inst. The ringing of the bell at 71 o'clock summoned a large concourse of people to listen to the entertainment. The salutatory address by Mr. L. E. McGinnis, of Acker, Pa., was prepared and delivered with a degree of excellence reflecting great credit upon that young gentleman. The Essay by Miss Hufford, contained many beautiful thoughts and was read with a distinctness of accent and a purity of the lady student. a purity of tone seldom acquired by

An original oration by Mr. S. A. Magee, deserves more space than we can here allow for description.

The debaters, Messrs. Jones, Shearer, Gibbons and Heffley, acquitted themselves in a very able manner.

The recitations by Misses Cauffman and The recitations by Misses early manifestation of delight by the audience.

An original Poem, "Joan of Arc," by Miss Maggie Lauver, contained true merit, and we regret that we can not notice it as fully as it deserves in this article. The performers throughout were rewarded with showers of bouquets, more or less copious as the merits of each deserved.

The exercises were largely interspersed with select music by the young ladies and gentlemen of the school. Prof. Wright may well be proud of the success of the school, and the praise of his patrons so often expressed is well founded. VISITOR.

Love-Feast-Accident.-A correspondent from Blain sends the following :

The German Baptists, or Dunkards, as they are generally known, met on Thursday afternoon, June 5th, at the house of E. D. Book, near this place. They had preaching in the afternoon and in the evening they had their love-feast. They held it in the barn, it having two (2) large floors, it in the barn, it having two (2) large floors, which were very much crowded, and a good many outside, who could not get in, or did not want to get in. The outsiders were very noisy, which does no great credit for our very intelligent neighborhood. It seems that some of the young men had a little too much of the "fire water," as the Indians call it. A young man who had his sister there in a buggy, had the misfortune to upset before he got altogether off the place, pitching his sister out, and breaking both bones of one of her legs at the ankle. The fractured bones were set by Dr. Bradfield and the lady is doing well. It is not certainly known whether he had any "fire water," but one thing is certain, any "fire water," but one thing is certain, and that is, that the ground on which he upset was not very uneven. Our crops look well. Wheat is very good, oats doing finely, while the corn is nearly ready to

Mt. Patrick, Pa., May 80, 1874.

Mr. Epiron—Having a few leisure mo-ments, I thought I would jot an item or so well and promise a good harvest. The corn well and promise a good harvest. The corn is coming up nicely, which makes our farmers look as if they would like to do some poor man a favor; not so with the boat boys on the raging canal—their business being exceedingly dull, freights are low, and loading very scarce, consequently they look rather grum. The proprietor of the Liverpool Steam Mills has taken a new departure, went and got belting, and started up his saw mill in connection with his grist mill, and is now ready to accommodate the mill, and is now ready to accommodate the public, either by grinding their grain, or sawing their lumber, and having a good miller, all who favor him with their custom, will have their work done in a satisfactory manner. The enterprising Mr. Matchett is progressing with his digging for Ore in the Buffalo mountain, with good prospect of success. Mt. Patrick may yet boast a furnace. Yours &c., J. M. C.

Brief Items.

We return our thanks to the friends who kindly assisted in the removal of our office.

Oliver Wise who was injured on the R. L, on Friday a week near Perdix, died at the Harrisburg hospital on Sunday.

Bark peeling is receiving especial attention in some townships this season. Ry, township alone will send a number of hundred cords to market this apring.

An unoccupied dwelling belonging to the Iron Co., at Duncannon, was set on fire on Tuesday night and destroyed. It was probably the doings of an incendiary.

A few days since a mare belonging to H. Folk, Esq., of Rye township, strayed from home. After a two day's search for her he learned she was at the stable of John Zorger, at Shermansdale.

X Mr. David Miller, of Rye township, died on the 80th uit, from a cut in his knee. The cut was considered trifling at first, and happened a few weeks ago, but yet caused the fatal result.

28th. Rev. C. T. Stern, of Baltimore, will conduct the exercises. All are invited to be present.

A little child of Lewis Roddy, living near Koughs' warehouse, fell in a wash-boiler of suds, and when discovered was supposed to be dead. Dr. Orris being sent for, prescribed the usual remedies, and after considerable labor the child was resuscitated .- News.

On Monday of last week a stranger attempted to rob David Rhoady, of Middleburg, Snyder county, of his watch. He was on the tow path at the time, and saved his "time" by taking to the water.

The members of the Methodist E. Church, expect to hold a strawberry festival in the Square at Newport on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of next week. A temporary building will be erected for the occasion.

A colt belonging to W. A. Sponsler, Esq., hitched in the lead in coming up from Newport last Friday, was scared by a vehicle coming down the hill towards him, while at the watering place at the foot of the narrows, and turning square around breaking off the tongue of the wagon. Mr. Robinson who was at the hind end of the wagon, caught the colt before any further damage was done.

Cumberland County. - From the Carlisle papers of last week, we copy the following:

Decoration was not generally observed in this place on the 30th uit. A committee of twelve only visited the various places of burial and strewed our deceased soldiers' graves with flowers.

The fire in the South Mountain, above Big Pond has been raging extensively, and at last accounts was sweeping down the Adams county side of the mountain. A large force of men are fighting the fire.

William Fisher, an employee in the Thomas Iron Company's ore bank, made a narrow escape from death, on Friday a week, by part of an embankment caving in on him. He sustained severe, but not dangerous injuries.

On Thursday last Mr. B. K. Peffer, one of our most enterprising farmers, and successful cattle feeders, brought 20 head of unusually fine steers to town. The lot averaged 1,266½ lbs., and gave evidence of judicious selection, and attention. They were in admirable condition for the butcher's stall. The bullocks were weighed on the scales at the Cumberland and Perry Exchange, in the presence of a number of Exchange, in the presence of a number of persons. Two smaller lots of excellent cattle, fed by Samuel Hemminger and L. Peffer, were weighed on the same scales, the same day. We regret to say that this entire lot of cattle, embracing two car loads were shipped by the purchaser, Mr. A. B. Bechtel, of Reading, to that city.

On Friday evening last, about dusk, a number of boys concluded to take a swim in the Conodoguinet creek, near Hepburn's mill, in Westpennsborough township. Among the number was a young man named Young, aged 19, residing within about half a mile of the mill. At or near the place where the boys entered the water is a deep hole known as the "suck hole." Young attempted to swim across this dan-Young attempted to swim across this dan-gerous place, when he suddenly disappear-ed beneath the water. Twice his head ap-peared above the surface, but when he went down the third time he remained down. He was drowned. His body was recovered about midnight. The "GENTLEMAN IN BLACK," who is the tutelar demou of dram-shops, assumes his sourcest aspect when the rapid progress of VINEGAR BITTERS is re-ported "down below." The People's Veg-etable Tonic is playing the mischief with his bitters fired with rum. All disease which those demoniac nostrums aggravate, under pretense of relieving, such as indi-gestion, sick-headache, constipation, rheu-matism, gout, and intermittent fevers are cured by it.

₽ Probably no one disease is the cause of so much bodily misery and mental un-happiness, (and the disease is almost universal among the American people) as dyspepsia. Its causes are many and va-rious, lying chiefly in the habits of our people: the remedy is simple and effectual. Use Dr. Wishart's Great American Dys-pepsia Pills. They never fail to cure.
