It is acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most reliable preparation ever introduced for the relief and cure of all Lung complaints, and is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years. When resorted to in season it seldom fails to effect a speedy cure in the most severe cases of Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Asthma, Colds, Sore Throat, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Liver Complaint, Bleeding at the Lungs, &c. An Inducement.

We recently heard rather a good story on one of our city ministers. During the revival in progress in one of the country churches near the city, among the regular attendants at the meeting was a beautiful and estimable, but rather unsophisticated young lady, whose friends were very anxious to have her united to the church.

"She seemed, however, reluctant to do so, and the minister in question was requested "to talk to her." This he did several times, on one occasion saying, in a jocular manner:

"Miss M——, if you will join the church I'll marry you," meaning he would perform the ceremony.

The girl seemed pleased with the proposition, and a few evenings after walked up to the altar and united with the church.

Some few weeks after this the minister preached at the church, and after the services met the young lady.

"Brother ——," said she, "you know you promised to marry me if I would join the church. Are you going to do so? I don't want to wait any longer."

The minister saw his dilemma, and attempted to explain.

"I meant I would perform the ceremony," he said, "that's all. I can't marry you myself, for I am already married, and love my wife too much to desire to swap her off for another."

The young lady became indignant; declared she'd leave the church; and that she "never had much faith in these town preachers."

Our ministerial friend declares that he will never again use any other than plain Scriptural argument to induce a young lady to join the church.

A Pugnacious Judge.

We once heard of a justice of the peace in the Mad-river bottoms getting into a rough-and-tumble fight with a contumacious witness. The witness was about proving the better man, and had the rural Dogberry down, when suddenly the last named assumed the judicial ermine and commanded the peace. The law and order combatant at once desisted and permitted his antagonist to come to a perpendicular. Immediately the 'squire renewed the fight, and in a second was on his back, at the mercy of his enemy. This time he not only commanded the peace, but called out a posse comitatus from the bystanders, who separated the pugilists. The third time the maddened magistrate tried this appeal the witness, sitting astraddle of the justice, said:

"Now look here, 'squire, I want this thing understood atwixt us. I want more fight and less peace or more peace and less fight, and you've got to decide the case mighty quick or I'll bust your law-abiding skull."

Lieutenant B., stationed at Gibraltar, was one day on guard with another officer, who unfortunately fell down a precipice four hundred feet high and was killed. In his guard report appeared this entry: "N. B.—Nothing extraordinary since guard mounting." Shortly after his return to quarters, the brigade major, having heard of the accident, approached B. report in hand, to demand an explanation.

"You say, sir, in your report, 'N. B.—Nothing extraordinary since guard mounting,' when your brother officer on duty with you has fallen down a precipice four hundred feet high and been killed."

"Well, sir," replied B., "I dinna think there's anything extraordinary in it ava; if he'd faun down a precipice four hundred feet high and no been killed, I should ha'e thought it extraordinary indeed, and wad ha'e put it down in my report."

In regard to the intoxicating qualities of lager beer a German gave the following testimony before a court in Dayton, Ohio:

"If you drink five or six glasses of lager, in a little while you will feel more pleasant as if you drink five or six glasses of water in the same time; and if you drink five or six glasses of water, in a little while you will feel more disappointed as if you drink five or six glasses of lager beer in the same time." The jury were out four hours, and stood seven to five.

"Do you call that a veal cutlet, waiter?" said an old gentleman dining at a restaurant. "Why it's an insult to every true calf in the country." "Well, sir, I didn't mean to insult you," returned the waiter.

An old veteran was relating his exploits to a crowd of boys, and mentioned being in five engagements. "That's nothing," broke in a little fellow. "My sister Agnes has been engaged eleven times!"

An Indian maiden in singing in an opera at San Francisco, which gives occasion to some desperate joker to remark that she has been transformed from "a squaw into a squawler."
