Revision of the Constitution.

Philadelphia, September 1.-The commission appointed to revise the constitution of Pennsylvania met here to-day, Justice Agnew presiding. The commission will hold a continuous session, meeting daily until their labors are done. Until the work is finished nothing will be made public concerning their proceedings.

THE condition of affairs in the South, has caused the President to write the following letter :

Long Branch, N. J. Sept. 2, 1874.

To Gen. W. W. Belknap, Secretary of War:—The recent atrocities in the south, particularly in Louisiana, Alabama and S.
Carolina, shows a disregard for law, civilities and personal protection, that ought not to be tolerated in a civilized government. It looks as if, unless speedily checked, matters must become worse, until life and property there will receive no protection from the local authorities until such authority become paralyzed, under such ac-cumulations, it is the duty of the govern-ment to give all the aid for the protection of life and civil rights legally authorized.

To this end, I wish you would consult with the Attorney-General, who is already informed as to the outrages already com mitted, and the localities where the est danger lies, and so order troops as to est danger lies, and so order troops as to mitted, and the localities where the greatbe available in case of necessity. All proceedings for the protection of the South will be under the Law Department of the Government, and will be decided by the Attorney-General in accordance with the provisions of the enforcement acts. No instructions need, therefore, be given the troops ordered into the Southern States, except as they may be transmitted from time to time on advice from the Attorney-General, as circumstances may determine hereafter. Yours truly. U. S. GRANT. [Signed]

In accordance with the above instruction Attorney General Williams, Thursday evening, addressed a letter to the Secretary of War, designating the localities in which troops are most needed to suppress outrages, and General McDowell has been directed to so distribute his forces as to protect the localities designated.

The Luxury of New York Hotels and Their Tables.

It is a matter of much interest to those who visit New York to keep posted about the hotels. Recently there has been quite a rivalry among the first-class hotels about table for its guests. We speak more par-ticularly of the hotels on Broadway and Chesapeake and Ohio railroad was coming Fifth Avenue-the Grand Central being the largest, most centrally located, and elegantly furnished. Of these four or five leading hotels, the bills-of-fare are covered with the names of the most luxuriant viands of the season. The bill of the Crand Central especially, deserves setting apart as a notable specimen of modern culinary skill in the number, variety, and richness of its dishes. It contains no less than eleven (11) courses for dinner, and gives the hours for no less than six (6) meals every day, for the moderate sum of from $3 to $4 per day, including, of course, an elegantly furnished room for each guest. It would seem from this that the tours of our travelers and the visits of our business men become rounds of pleasure as well as of business.

Last week a terrible accident occurred at the stove works of Messrs. Orr, Painter & Co., Reading, by which a young unmarried man, named Albert Savage, aged 22, was instantly killed. The deceased. who is a stove mounter by trade, went to work as usual, and at the time above mentioned was standing near an emery wheel that was running at full speed and making about 1,000 revolutions per minute. Savage was talking to the engineer of the establishment, John Endy, about moving the pully of the wheel, or changing it to another shaft, when all of a sudden the wheel cracked, split into four quarters, the pieces flying in as many directions, one of which struck Savage on the left breast, making a fearful gash and knocking him back fully twenty-feet. When he fell he threw his head back, gasped for breath, and died in-

The ice dealers on the Kennebec are feeling pretty sick because they refused $4 a ten for their ice early in the season. There are 150,000 tons yet unsold, and very few vessels are now loading.

Fearful Experience of Two Boys.

The Tamaqua Item says : "Our community was in a fever of excitement and alarm the other evening, over the news that two little boys-the one s son of Mr. Christian Filler, the other of Mrs. Ryan, both of Centre street-were missing. The fellows left home in the morning, and not having been seen or heard of at nightfall, the greatest auxiety took possession of their parents.

Sympathizing friends soon organized parties to search the woods for them, and when daylight came the next morning, no clue had been obtained as to their whereabouts, the excitement spread throughout the entire community and became most intense.

About half-past twelve o'clock the hearts of the foxious parents and friends were gladdened by the discovery of the lost ones. Next door to the residence of Mrs. Ryan, the mother of one of the boys, stands an unoccupied frame building. A little girl named Oschman, who-was hunting for them, chanced to put her head in through a broken window, when she saw a little hand poked out of a hole at the bottom of the door of a closet under the stairs.

She quickly gave the information, when eager parties rushed in, opened the doorand there they were, alive and well! They had gone into the old house to play, and entered the closet and closed the door, which shuts with a spring latch on the ontside, and they were prisoners. When found they were of course somewhat worn out with over twenty-four hours of confinement without food or drink, but they did not appear much the worse.

A Desperate Remedy.

As an illustration of the power of one poison to counteract another in the human system a recent case in this city furnishes a highly important and interesting instance. We give the statement as related to us by Dr. Harris, who was called to the relief of a would-be suicide, and who administered the successful antidote. The person had taken between forty and fifty grains of opium, and was fast dying. He could no longer swallow, his extremities were cold and had turned black, while his respirations only numbered between six and seven to the minute. This last of itself seemed to indicate that all hope was gone, as anything less than eight respirations a minute had heretofore been known as a sure precursor of death. As a last resort the doctor determined to try heroic treatment, and he accordingly, with a hypodermic syringe, injected two-thirds of a drachm of nux vomica, dissolved in a teaspoonful of water, beneath the skin overthe heart, stomach, spine and on each arm above the elbow, and on the calf of each leg. The quantity of nux vomica would have been the death of any well man in existence, but in antagonism to the opium it was in this seemingly hopeless case an agent of life, and in fifteen minutes the man was sitting up in bed conscious, and rapidly recovering. - South Bend (Ind.) A Railroad Smash-up and Miraculous Escape.

Gordonville, Va., August 29. - Last evening about five o'clock a team of four horses belonging to Mr. Jarrett, of Madison county, took fright on the street and bills-of-fare, each striving to set the best broke into a run. At the same time the in, and the horses being near, ran straight forward and on the railroad, where the engine struck them, cutting one fine horse so badly that it had to be killed and knocking the other off the track without injury. The wagon was rolled along the track against the platform near the old reception depot of the C. & O. railroad, and was torn completely to pieces, no two wheels being left together, and the body and grain were scattered along the track. Mr. Jarrett, who was driving, seized the pilot of the engine and clung on until the train stopped, and received no injury except a bruise on one of his arms. His nephew, a small boy, who was in the wagon, was rolled completely up amongst the pieces of wheels and grain and was taken forth uninjured. This is something never witnessed before, and there must have been loss of life if it had not been up grade and the train going Great Rainfall.

Mr. George Beckwith, of New Haven, reputed to be good authority in matters of this kind, says that the rainfall on the 7th, 8th and 9th ult., was much greater than has occurred in several years. He says: "It began about 9 o'clock on Friday evening, the 7th, and, continuing steadily during the night, at 6:39 A. M., on Saturday, the 8th, had a depth on the surface of 1.561 inch. From 6:30 A. M., till about noon it was only nominal or occasional. It then began, and continued with vigor from 6:30 P. M., till 6:20 A. M., on Sunday, 4.615. In the forenoon from 6:80 A. M., there was an interval of an hour or two, when it again began with less force, and continued till about 9:30 P. M., when it ceased, having made in this last interval 1.31 inch. The whole depth was 10.936 inches, being about one-third of the annual fall in that locality, and nearly three times as great as any that has occurred in the present year."

A Strange Purchase. The Wilmington, N. C., Star, of the north of the W. & W. Railroad made a most singular purchase on Saturday evening last, the only excuse for which is the fact she was not aware at the time what she was purchasing. It appears that in riding past a certain shop on the line of the street railway she requested the proprietor to pick her out a good cabbage.

27th ult., says : A lady who keeps a boarding house

He did so, took the article into the car and deposited it by her side; received his pay and retired. The cabbage, a good, solid one, to all appearances, was taken home and placed on a table, where it remained until sometime the next morning, when the lady started to prepare it for cooking. It was then she made a startling discovery-nothing more or less than a snake's head peering out from behind one of the loose leaves.

Assistance to solve the mystery of this strange affair was summoned and an investigation commenced, when a large snake was found snugly ensconced in the heart of the cabbage, which was perfectly hollow. Of course it is not presumed that the snake ate his way into the cabbage, the only plausible theory being that he made his nest in it before it had matured and that the leaves gradually grew and closed over the orifice, with the exception of the slight opening preserved in one side by the make's occasional egress and ingress to and from his singular abiding place. The cabbage was grown in one of the gardens near this city and there is no telling how many hands it had passed through before the singular discovery was made.

What has he been Doing?

A mysterious attempt was made in Bellville, Mo., Tuesday evening, Aug. 25, to assassinate the Rev. J. P. Davis, pastor of a Methodist church of that city. According to Mr. Davis's statement he left bome about half-past seven o'clock to make a pastoral call on the family of Mr. Hilary West, South High street. Not finding any one there he concluded to take a walk. When near the German Methodist Church he heard a soft, light, quick step behind him, and some one cried "stop!" He then turned and saw a pistol close to his nose. He pushed the weapon aside, as the assassin discharged it, and the bullet passed through the fleshy part of his left arm. Mr. Davis struck his assailant, who staggered back, dropped the pistol, and fled. The weapon was a small, haudsome, seven-barrelled revolver, apparently new, and two chambers were empty. Mr. Davis says that he had heard a pistol discharged on Jackson street, just a few minutes before the attack, and thinks that it was done to test the weapon. The curious part of the story is that M. Davis describes his wouldbe-murderer as man, but small in stature, of light build, having small delicate hands, and a feminine voice. Was it a woman?

A Terrible Explosion.

Two reckless lads living at Robella, Allegbeny county, stole a can of nitro glycerine from the depot at that place one day last week and concluded to test the power of the liquid, which they did in a most effeetual manner. Placing the can at the base of a steep bill they climbed a considerable distance above it and proceeded to roll huge stones down until the can was struck and the contents exploded with a fearful result, the shock-caused by it being plainly felt over the whole neighborhood. Two cows and seven horses some distance off were killed, a barn near by blown to pieces, a carpenter knocked from the roof of a house upon which he was at work, receiving probably fatal injuries; a church steeple toppled over, breaking nearly all the windows, besides quite a number of citizens and dwellings in the vicinity being more or less injured. The nito-glycerine belonged to a contractor engaged in drilling a coal tunnel. The boys, who escaped unhurt, have been arrested and will doubtless be called upon to serve a term in the penitentiary.

Alleged Lawlessness in South Carolina. Greenville, September 3 .- Judge Thompson H. Cooke, a prominent republican, opposes Senator Patterson's proposal to introduce troops to preserve the peace of the Eighth circuit as a personal reflection on his (Cooke's) ability to maintain order, as well as upon the people of that section. He sees no evidence of any resort to violence being intended. No political murders or outrages have been committed in his district nor any portion of the state for the past two years. There is no bad blood between the whites and blacks there.

A Very good Way.

Cap. Jordan stole a gun from Noah Scott. They are negroes, and live near Atlanta. Cap. was arrested, and his proposition was that, instead of being locked up, he should allow Noah to give him a whipping. After much discussion it was agreed that the whipping should consist of thirty-nine lashes on the hare back wither strap. A great number of people went out to the bushes to see the punishment, which was relentlessly inflicted and philosophically borne.

13 Two respectable and finely-dressed mulatto women from Boston were refused rooms at the Pawnee house, Martha's Vineyard, a few days since, because of their color, though they were nearly white.

Hand Cut off by a Bullock Press.

About half-past one o'clock on the 5th inst., a sad accident occurred in the press room in the German Democrat office. Mr. William Geary, the engineer, was cleaning around the cutting cylinder of the Bullock press, when one of his hands came in contact with the cutter, and in a second was amputated just above the wrist.

The accident occurred on the same press that caused the death of Mr. Bullock, the inventor. Mr. Geary is a young married man, and well known in Philadelphia
