All Kinds.

A few weeks since, says the Rochester Union, W. H. Dinehart, better known as "Cap," the peanut peddler, paid a small sum to the county agricultural society for the privilege of selling nuts at the fair to be held in a few days. "Cap" bid for the the privilege of selling all kinds of nutsand he insists that this includes dough-nuts. On going to the treasurer, who is the lawyer, to pay his fee, he wanted mentioned in the contract-dough-nuts.

Treasurer-Why you have no right to sell dough-nuts. That's an absurd claim. "Cap"-Yes I have. I bid for all kinds of nuts, and I am going to sell dough-

Treasurer - You have no right to .-Dough-nuts don't grow on trees.

"Cap"-Neither do peanuts, at least I never heard that they did. This ended the dialogue, and "Cap" retired the victor, so far as the argument was concerned. How It Is.

A patron of a certain newspaper once said to the publisher: "Mr. Printer, how is it that you have never called on me to pay for your paper?" "Oh," said the man of types, "we never ask a gentleman for money." "Indeed," replied the patron, "how do you manage to get along when they don't pay?" "Why after a certain time we conclude that he is not a gentleman, and we ask him," replied the editor. "Oh-ah- yes-I see. Mr. Editor, please give me a receipt," and hands him a V .- "Make my name right on your books."

"How long have you lived in this county?" asked a Jersey lawyer of a deaf witness, who had been called to prove the old boundaries of a farm.

"Hey?" said the witness, putting his said the witness, leaning forward. ', You may step down !" yelled the law-"Well, it might be a little more," said the witness, who was then led off by an officer of the court. A very dirty, debased and ignorantlooking man came in to vote in a township of Michigan. Said one of the ladies, offering him a ballot, "I wish you would oblige us by voting this ticket." "What kind of a ticket is that ?" said he. "Why," said the lady, "you can see yourself."—

"But I can't read," he answered. "Why, can't you read the ballot you have there in your hand, which you are about to vote?"? the lady asked. "No," said he, "I can't read at all." "Well," said the lady, "this ballot means that you are willing to let the women as well as the men vote."-"Is that it?" he replied. "Then I don't wan't it; the women don't know enough to vote." A maternal parent was purchasing a secondhand coat for her son in a pawn shop the other day, and the nearest suitable to her offspring's size was several numbers too large. She apprised the house of bondage with the fact, which was evident to him already, and as she passed out he cried to her with fire in one eye and his teeth grating, "What for you find fault wid de goat? It is a beautiful goat. It is your poy, vot is the matter mid him? He is too thin. I dinks you had petter fatten him up and den py a goat for him." An Irishman on his first shooting excursion shot a bird, and seeing something fall, went to the foot of the tree, and picking up a frog supposed it to be a bird and put it into his pocket-The frog kept up such a continual hoping that his comrade asked him what made the bird hop

"Och," said Pat, "the poor thing is coold. I shot all the feathers off it."

The name of the Sheriff of White county, Ill, is Hail Storms. His father was an eccentric gentleman, and he had three sons whom he named respectively, Hail Storms, Rain Storms and Snow Storms.

An Irish housemaid who was sent to call a gentleman to dinner found him engaged in using a tooth brush. "Well' is he coming?" asked the lady. "Yes, ma'am, directly; he's just sharpening his testh !"

A bunch of shingles fell from a wagon on the Troy ferry-boat recently and struck upon the head of a colored weman who said "Y' ought b' shame to muss a culled woman's hair dat way. Wish do shingles fell ovah board."

In Pleasanton, Kansas, they do not hunt quails. The wind blows them slap against the houses, and at dinner time the Feb. 17, 1874.) [New BloomBeld, Perry co., Pa. people go out and pick them up.
