

CONGRESS adjourned on Thursday last. A bill for the suppression of the Kuklux outrages in the South was agreed upon and passed by both Houses before the adjournment.

A new cattle disease has appeared in Mercer county, Ill. The animals live but a few hours after the attack, and so far every attack has been fatal. One man lost twenty-three head in three or four days.

The State Lunatic Asylum, at Lincoln, Nebraska, was burned on Monday of last week, and two inmates are supposed to have perished in the flames.—The loss is stated at $150,000.

PRESIDENT GRANT has issued a Proclamation conveying the United States Senate, on the 10th of May. This is done to take action on the report of the Joint High Commission, for some time past in session, at Washington, to settle the difficulties between this country and England.

RECENT news from South America state that a terrible inundation has occurred in Northern Peru. Lambayeque, an inland town of 8,000 inhabitants, was wholly destroyed, and great loss of life was occasioned. Among the towns inundated are San Jose, Payta, San Pedro, Pacasmayo, Lambayeque, and many others.

MR. DAVID K. PLANK, of Morgantown, visited Reading, on Friday to attend to some business, and while going to the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Jacob Forney, in the evening, he was knocked down by two men and robbed of $1,000. Reading must look out for the reputation of the place will suffer.

MISS Jennie McBride, of Philadelphia, has recovered a verdict of $10,000 for a breach of promise of marriage against J. C. Wagner, a rich oil merchant, at Franklin, Pa. Jennie has done better than the Philadelphia girls or even the "gay girl from Scranton," who have gone to the oil regions to speculate. She has struck oil!

RECENTLY a democratic member of the New York House of Representatives resigned his position, having become disgraced by corrupt practices, leaving the House politically. The democrats set to work at once and bought over a Mr. Winans, Republican member from Chautauque giving him it is reported, $75,000, and now they have one majority again. Mr. Winans votes with the democracy every time. There is no doubt Mr. Winans is now just where he belongs and where he ought to have been long ago.

The election in the District of Columbia under a recent act of Congress, giving them a new form of government, was held on Thursday last. A delegate to represent the District in Congress, members of the House of Delegates, and members of Council were voted for, and the result was a Republican victory by a much larger majority than was expected—the majority for Delegate to Congress being about three thousand. Fifteen of the delegates to Congress of the House of Delegates are Republicans. There was great rejoicing over the result in Washington.

The Conference Committee of the Legislature to which was referred the Senate and House Appropriation Bills, agreed upon a bill and reported it to both branches on Friday, and the report was adopted by both houses under the previous question. In the Senate the vote was 27 to 4, and in the House, 67 to 30. Snyder, Perry, Northumberland, and Union counties form the seventeenth Senatorial District, and will elect one Senator, and the counties of Snyder and Union, for one Representative District with one member. This appointment is a decided improvement on the Senate protemerator, and the Republicans of Snyder and Union counties may be well satisfied that we fared no worse.

Uncle Sam's Bank Account.
Congressman Packer has sent us a comparative statement of the net receipts and expenditures of the United States Government for two years from March 1, 1867, to March 1, 1869, and the two years from March 1, 1869, to March 1, 1871, by which it is exhibited that the amount gained by increase of expenditures has been as follows:

Increase of receipts,	$81,914,045.74
decrease of expenditures	126,709,942.21
Total,	$211,694,988.95

Reduction of public debt from March 1, 1867, to March 1, 1869, was $26,441,985.00

Reduction from March 1, 1869, to March 1, 1871, was $204,754,413.09

Showing an increase in reduction of public debt of $178,312,427.00

During the two years from March 1, 1869, to March 1, 1871, the amount of reduction in the public debt has been $204,754,413.09, most of which has been in the purchase and cancellation of bonds bearing interest in corp, and in the payment of obligations overdue and convertible into interest-bearing bonds or certificates. The amount of interest which will hereafter be saved to the Government on the debt actually paid, is $11,537,461 annually, or $961,465.09 monthly in gold.

Can any man point to a Democratic administration with a financial account in comparatively as healthy a condition as the above? With a gradual decrease of taxes, it appears that there is a gradual increase of funds, and a corresponding decrease of principal and interest of the National debt.

Young lady physicians are multiplying throughout our country, and as a result, it is said, the young men are becoming more sickly than they used to be.

Forty years ago Simon Cameron purchased a spur of the Broad Mountain in Pennsylvania. It is now worth $2,000,000. Coal has been mined out of it for thirty-five years, and he has realized in the shape of royalty, about $300 a day.

How cruelly rigorous are the debt laws of Brazil! It is shown in the experience of a Southern gentleman who removed to that country a few years since and became a citizen. Having contracted through unfortunate business obligations a debt of $1,200, two of his accomplished daughters have been sold into slavery, to satisfy the demands of the creditor. Though brought up in refinement, they are now earning money as menials to liquidate their father's obligation.

The festive red men are again at it on the plains, lifting hair and making permanent settlers. Among the most incomprehensible of all policies is that which feeds, clothes and arms the Indians during the winter, in order that they may be gotten into a condition to be sent to the States in the spring and summer. It may be all right, viewed from a civilized point of view, but investigated through the windows of a frontier cabin, with the death shrieks of women and children ringing in the ears it must appear rather inexplicable.

PROTECTING BIRDS—Iowa has enacted a law prohibiting, under severe penalties, the killing of any birds in the State, except the owl, hawk and a few others of like species. The people have found, by experience, that the wholesale slaughter of the innocents places a premium upon the increase of crop-destroying insects. The Maryland Legislature has enacted a similar law, and it would not be a bad idea for other States to do likewise. Nothing is surer than that the constant fusillade kept up against snipe, partridge by spurious sportsmen, particularly in the spring and autumn, operates disastrously against natural growth in the economy of nature birds are designed to destroy worms and any increase in the latter superinduces a corresponding increase in the former.

The condition of France is pitiable indeed, and bids fair to become worse rather than better. It would seem as though the miseries endured by the besieged citizens of Paris, during its investment by the Germans, would cause them to welcome peace in almost any form, and to seek gladly a respite from the horrors of starvation, turmoil and strife, and apply their energies unflinchingly, to relieve the sufferings that war has inflicted upon them. But the world is horrified by the daily accounts of blood and carnage among the disunited factions of their unhappy people, and questions seriously, their fitness to maintain a republican form of government, whatever may be the result of their present fratricidal strife.

One hundred thousand men are now under arms for the purpose of deposing the regularly appointed authorities of the government, and every day witnesses the arrest and imprisonment of some of the leading members of the liberal party, and evidences more terrible and more destructive of human life, than many of the great battles which marked the struggle of France in a recent contest with a foreign foe.

SOLD OUT.—A fellow in the New York legislature, professing to be a Republican, and elected as one, has sold out to Tweed and Tammany, and promises to go with them in all their iniquity; thus restoring legislative power to them. Before the treason was announced, it was stated that $75,000 was offered for a vote. The fellow's name is Orange S. Winans, and he hails from Chautauque. The N. Y. Tribune thus refers to the sale: "It is probable that the darkest hour in the life of a woman is when she wakes on the morning after the loss of her honor, and feels how empty is the future, and how pitiful is the price of infamy. The past, with its possibilities of honest life, self-respect, and the esteem of others, is gone forever. Nothing is left but mere living on the wages of shame, which sink to the fingers and burn them boiling pitch. A leper, when his first discovers the fatal whitening of his skin, is not more lonely. Into this moral prison house Orange S. Winans entered on Saturday. He may try to brazen out his foul misfortune, but he cannot conceal from himself his sense of the permanent worthlessness of the life he has stained and polluted. In all the almshouses and penitentiaries of the State there exist to-day no creature so needing, but beyond the pity of charitable hearts.

IMPORTANT TO SCHOOL DIRECTORS.
We copy the following from the late school law, for the information of some of our school boards that they may know what the law requires of them. It shall be the duty of the board of directors to publish an annual statement of the amount of moneys received and expended, and the amount due from collectors, and settling forth all the financial operations of the district, by one or more publications in one or more papers of the county in which they reside. If there is an amount of tax not collected, or an amount due to the district, it is to be stated as "amount of tax due," at the foot of receipts, and so carried out; and if there is an amount of debt yet due by the district it is to be stated as amount yet due for— and so carried out as the foot of expenditures; in order, in both cases, to balance the account in accordance with the facts. If there was a building tax and a house or houses erected during the year, the amount of it expended in the year for this purpose, it is to be stated in the same way with the balance on hand, or the debt for this purpose, if any, under proper heads "receipts," and "expenditures for Building," as in case of ordinary school tax and expenditure.

It is very clear that M. Theirs aims to put down the insurance without aid of the late "invaders." He does not wish it to be said in the future that his Administration was saved, only through the assistance of German bayonets. He does not propose to afford the rebellious Parisians an opportunity of boasting that they would have triumphed over the Government if the latter had not called in the "enemies of France" to back them. He has no idea of having it recorded in history that he was proposed up, like Louis XVIIIth, with foreign bayonets M. Theirs and his colleagues further realize that the Government, which they may be instrumental in bringing about, will have more prestige and more power, from their having put down the Paris revolt, unaided. This explains why it is that the German troops left around Paris, until the conditions of the peace treaty are complied with, do not take hand in the fray.

A Strange Pair.
The Louisville Journal has the following: "There is on exhibition in this city a most remarkable freak of nature. To those who delight in eccentricities of this character the history of the boy snake couple, found two or three years since in the wilds of Africa, would be exceedingly interesting. When seven years of age he was captured in company with a house-snake, which is supposed to have charmed the young specimen of the genus homo from the paternal hearthstone. There is a remarkable likeness in respect to color, each bearing the same flesh marks, and the affection which made them companions in their native jungles continues to this time. By their keeper they are said to be inseparable. The alternate nut-brown and cream spots which mark the one are identical in the other. The larvae in the boy, as in the snake, is wanting; and consequently each is as dumb as an oyster; at least they remain to day as reticent of their origin as the most polite President of the States could wish.

The nine-tenths of our evening town clocks consist them to the same couch and, watching their young and tender forms about each other, they go to sleep to dream of mother and home, far from the land in which their young infamy was reared."

Address of the Democracy.
To the Down-Trodden Citizens of Kentucky, New York City and Some Other Places.
[From the Washington Chronicle.]

Not having room for the entire address of the Democrats in Congress to the "Dear People," we are compelled to give a simple synopsis, which, if not exactly correct, is what the address might be:

Resolved. The selfish and ungenerous Republican party is not satisfied with saving this nation from destruction and governing it for twelve years to the great detriment of rebels and impious Democrats, but will all resolved to win victory in the future as in the past therefore.

Resolved. That we protest against their want of generosity in holding on to all the offices, and demand in the name of justice and empty pockets, a fair fight.

Resolved. That our Democratic friends at the South be requested to suspend Kuklux outrages for at least six weeks previous to the occurrence of any election in the Southern States, unless otherwise directed by the Democratic National Executive Committee.

Resolved. That the recent election in Washington was so arranged and guarded that Democrats could commit no more fraud than Republicans, and that we regard such regulations as an outrageous interference with the time honored rights and practices of the Democratic party.

Resolved. That the defeat of R. T. Merrick in this District is "a blessing in disguise." It settles us down where we can take a good start; renders it like that we shall win some victories next year, for it knocks us into the middle of it.
