Quick Sales and Small Profits."

We ask at least that the public examines our stock and prices before purchasing elsewhere, as we always show our goods with pleasure.

HELPICH & BROWER

Bannerville June 14, 1870.

This arrangement was also made for the benefit of the public.

Thus ten years rolled away. During all this time Mr. Newton lived in the same hired house for which he had paid an annual rent of one hundred and fifty dollars. Latterly, however, he had become dissatisfied with it.

It had passed into the hands of a new landlord, who was not disposed to keep it in the repair which he considered desirable.

Fortunately Mrs. Newton had a small supply of money by her when last till the first monthly installment for her husband became due,

she was enabled to carry out her cash plan from the beginning.

"I find," said her husband, "that my expenses during the last year have been thirty-seven cents over a thousand dollars."

"And your income has been a

thousand dollars."

"Yes, I managed pretty well, didn't I?"

"Do you think it managing well to exceed your income?" said his wife.

"What's thirty-seven cents?" asked

Mr. Newton, lightly.

"Not much, to be sure, but still something. It seems to me that we ought to have saved, instead of falling behind."

"But how can we save on this salary, Elizabeth? We haven't lived extravagantly. Still it seems to have taken it all."

"Perhaps there is something in which we might retrench. Suppose you mention some of the items."

"The most important are house rent, one hundred and fifty dollars, and articles of food, five hundred dollars."

"Just half."

"Yes, and you'll admit that we can't retrench there, Elizabeth. I like to live well. I had enough of poor board before I was married.

Now I mean to live as well as I can."

"Still we ought to be saving up something against a rainy day, Ezra."

"That would be something like carrying an umbrella when the sun shines."

"Still it is well to have an umbrella in the house."

"I can't controvert your logic, Eliizabeth, but I am afraid we shan't be able to save anything this year. When I get my salary raised, it will be time enough to think of that."

"Let me make a proposition to you," said Mrs. Newton. "You say one half of your income has been exceeded on articles of food. Are you willing to allow me that sum for the purpose?"

"You guarantee to pay all bills out of it?"

"Yes."

"Then I will shift the responsibility upon you with pleasure. But I can tell you beforehand you won't be able to save much out of it."

"Perhaps not. At any rate I will engage not to exceed it."

"That's well. I shouldn't relish having any additional bills to pay.

As I paid every month, I will at each payment hand you half the money."

The different characters of husband and wife may be judged from conversation which has been recorded. Mr.

Newton had but little prudence or foresight. He lived chiefly for the present and seemed to fancy that whatever contingencies might arise in the future, he would somehow be provided for. Now trust in Providence is a very proper feeling, but there is a good deal of truth in the old adage that God will help those who help themselves.

Mrs. Newton on the contrary, had been brought up in a family which was compelled to be economical, and although she was not disposed to deny herself comforts, yet she felt that it was desirable to procure them at a fair price.
