Belect Poetry . caught her glance at once, as it rested NEARER HOME.

BY PHOESE CAST. One sweetly solemn thought Comes to me o'er and o'er :

I'm nearer to my home to-day Than I ever have been before

But the waves of that silent sea Roll dark before my sight, That brightly the other side Break on a shore of light.

O, if my mortal feet Have almost gained the brink,
If it be I am nearer home
Even to-day than I think,

Father, perfect my trust, Let my spirit feel in death That her feet are firmly set On the Rock of a living faith,

NOT GUILTY.

In the spring of 18- I was called to Jackson, Alabama, to attend court, having been engaged to defend a been recovered, as well as the letters had taken it?" from which the money had been rifled. These letters were given me for my examination, and I returned dishonesty?" them to the prosecuting attorney. Having got through my preliminaries about noon, and as the case would not come off before the next day, I went advised and informed you?" into the court in the afternoon to see what was going on. The first case was very pretty, and bore that mild, gave her evidence as follows.

At this juncture, when the mistress was upon the witness stand, a young came and caught me by the arm. "They tell me that you are a very fine lawyer," he whispered.

"I am a lawyer," I said. "Then save her! You certainly can do it, for she is innocent." "Has she no counsel ?" I asked.

"None that's good for anythingnobody that will do anything for her. Oh, save her ; and I will give you all your money was ?" that I have got. I can't give you much-but I can raise something."

I reflected a moment. I cast my eyes toward the prisoner, and she was at that moment looking at me. She eaught my eye, and the volume of entresty I read in her glance resolved me in a moment. I arose and went 1,00 to the girl, and asked her if she wished me to defend hor. She said yes. Born, I then informed the court that I was ready to enter the case, and was admitted at once. The loud murmurs of satisfaction that ran through the crowd, told me where the sympathies of the people were. I asked for a of what you had seen, without waitmoment's cessation, that I might speak to my client. I went and sat down by her side, and asked her to state candidly the whole case. She told she answered promptly. me she had lived with Mrs. Nasby nearly two years and had never had any trouble before. About two ey?" weeks ago, she said her mistress had missed a hundred dollars.

"She missed it from her drawer," the girl said to me, "and asked me about it. That evening I know Naney Luther told Mrs. Nasby that she stooped down when she picked it up. saw me take the money from the drawer-that she watched me through the keyhole. Then they went to my trapk and found twenty-five dollars of the missing money there. But sir, I never took it, and somebody must have put it there."

I then asked her if she suspected any one.

"I don't know," she said, could have done it but Nancy. She has never liked me because she thou't was botter treated than she. She is the cook. I was the chambermaid." She pointed Nancy Lather out to

"Then you have not laid up any monry since you have been there?" "No, sir, only what Mrs. Nasby may owe me." "Will you tell me if you belong to this State ?"

"I do, sir." "In what town ?"

She hesitated and for a moment the bold look forsook her. I next turned to Mrs. Nasby.

"Do you ever take a receipt from your girls when you pay them?"

"Always." "Can you send and get one of them for me ?"

"She has told you the truth, sir, returned to the court-room and the about the payments," said Mrs. Nas-

This letter was taken from the mail-bag, and it contained seventy-five dollars; and by looking at the post-mark you will observe that it was mailed the day after the one hundred dollars was taken from Mrs. Nasby's drawer, and is directed to Dorcas Luther, Somers, Montgomery county. And you will observe that one hand wrote the letter and signed the receipt, and the jury will also so observe. And now I will only and it is plain to see how the hundred dollars were disposed of. Seventy five dollars were sent off for safe keeping, while the remaining twenty-five dollars were placed in the prisoner's trunk, for the purpose of covering the real criminal. I now leave my client's case in your hands," The case was given to the jury immediately following their examination of the letter. They had heard from the witness's own mouth that she had no money of her own, and without leaving their scats they returned a verdict of "Not Guilty."

I will not discribe the scene that followed, but if Nancy Luther had not been immediately arrested for theft she wauld have been obliged to seck protection of the officers, or the excited people would have maimed her at least, if they had not done more. The next morning I received a note, handsomely written, in which I was told that the within was but a slight token of the gratitude due me for the efforts in behalf of the poor, defenceless maiden. It was signed "Several Citizens," and contained one hundred dollers. Shortly afterward the youth who begged me to take up the case, called upon me with all the money he could raise ; but I refused his hard earnings, showing him that I had already been paid.
