

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The President, in his annual message to Congress, says: In addressing my third annual message to the law-making branch of the government it is gratifying to be able to state that during the past year success has generally attended the effort to execute all laws found upon the Statute-books. The policy has been not to inquire into the wisdom of the laws already enacted, but to learn their spirit and intent, and to force them accordingly.

PROPERTY. The past year has, under a wise Providence, been one of general prosperity to the nation. It has, however, been attended with more than usual ebullishments in the loss of life and property by storm and fire. These disasters have served to call forth the best elements of human nature in our country, and to develop a friendship for us on the part of foreign nations, which goes far towards alleviating the distress occasioned by the calamities.

OUR FOREIGN RELATIONS. The relations of the United States with foreign powers continue to be friendly. The year has been eventful in witnessing two great nations speaking one language and having one lineage settling by peaceful negotiations disputes of long standing, and liable at any time to bring those nations into bloody and hostile conflict. An example has thus been set which, if successful in its final issue, may be followed by other civilized nations, and be finally the means of returning to productive industry millions of men now maintained to settle the disputes of nations by the bayonet and the broadsword.

TREATIES. I recommend the legislation necessary on the part of the United States to bring into operation the articles of treaty relating to the fisheries, and to the other matters touching the relations of the United States toward the British North American possessions to become operative as soon as the proper legislation shall be had on the part of Great Britain and its possessions. It is much to be desired that this legislation may become co-operative before the fishermen of the United States begin to make their arrangements for the coming season. I renew the recommendation for an appropriation for determining the true position of the forty ninth parallel of latitude, where it forms the boundary between the United States and the British North American possession, between the lake of the Woods and the summit of the Rocky Mountains.

FRANCE AND GERMANY. The resumption of diplomatic relations between France and Germany have enabled me to give directions for the withdrawal of the protection extended to Germany in France by the diplomatic and consular representatives of the United States in that country. It is just to add that the delicate duty of this protection has been performed by the Minister and Consul General at Paris, and the various consuls in France under the supervision of the latter, with great kindness as well as with prudence and tact. Their courses have received the commendation of the German Government, and has wounded no susceptibilities of the French.

UNITED STATES AND GERMANY. The government of the Emperor of Germany continues to manifest a friendly feeling toward the United States, and a desire to harmonize with the moderate and just policy which this Government maintains in its relations with Asiatic powers, as well as with the South American republics. I have given assurances that the friendly feelings of that government are fully shared by the United States.

ITALY. The ratifications of the new treaty of commerce between the United States and Italy have been exchanged. The two powers have agreed in this treaty that private property at sea shall be exempt from capture in case of war between the two powers. The United States have spared no opportunity of incorporating this rule into the obligations of nations.

SPAIN. The forty-first Congress at its third session made an appropriation for the organization of a mixed commission for adjudicating upon the claims of citizens of the United States against Spain, growing out of the insurrection in Cuba. That commission has since been organized. I transmit herewith the correspondence relating to its formation and its jurisdiction. It is to be hoped that the commission will afford the claimants a complete remedy for their injuries.

RUSSIA. The intimate friendly relations which have long existed between the United States and Russia continue undisturbed. The visit of the third son of the Emperor is a proof that there is no desire on the part of his government to diminish the cordiality of those relations. The hospitable reception which has been given to the Grand Duke is a proof that on our side we share the wishes of that government. The inexorable course of the Russian Minister at Washington rendered it necessary to ask his recall and to decline to longer receive that functionary as a diplomatic representative. It is impossible, with self respect, or with a just regard to the dignity of the country, to permit Mr. Catcazy to hold inter-relations between the United States and other powers. In accordance with my own wishes, this government has been relieved of further intercourse with Mr. Catcazy, and the management of the affairs of the imperial legislation has passed into the hands of a gentleman entirely unobjectionable.

JAPAN. With Japan we continue to maintain intimate relations. Prompted by a desire to put an end to the barbarous treatment of our shipwrecked sailors on the Korean coast, I instructed our Minister at Peking to endeavor to conclude a convention with Korea for securing the safety and humane treatment of such mariners. Admiral Rodgers was instructed to accompany him, with a sufficient force to protect him in case of need. A small-voiced party soon set out on reaching the coast was treacherously attacked at a disadvantage. Ample opportunity was given for explanation and apology; neither came. A force was then landed, and after an arduous march over a rugged and difficult country, the forts from which the outrages had been committed were reduced by a gallant assault, and were destroyed. Having thus punished the criminals, having vindicated the honor of the flag, the expedition returned, finding it impracticable, under the circumstances, to conclude the desired convention. I respectfully refer to the correspondence relating thereto herewith submitted and leave the subject for such action as Congress may see fit to take.

MEXICO. The Republic of Mexico has not yet repealed the very objectionable laws establishing as what is known as the Free Zone on the frontier of the United States. It is hoped that this may yet be done, and also that more stringent measures may be taken by that republic for restraining lawless persons on its frontiers. I hope Mexico, by its own action, will soon relieve this government of the difficulties expected from these causes. Our relations with the various republics of Central and South America continue, with one exception, to be cordial and friendly. I recommend such action by Congress regarding the overdue instalments under the award of the Venezuela claims commission of 1866. The internal dissensions of this government present no justification for the absence of effort to meet their solemn treaty obligations. The ratification of the Retradition Treaty with Nicaragua has been exchanged.

BRAZIL. It is a subject for congratulation that the great Emperor of Brazil has taken the initiatory step toward the abolition of slavery. Our relation with that empire, always cordial, will naturally be made more so by this act. It is not too much to hope that the government of Brazil may hereafter find it for its interest, as well as intrinsically right, to advance toward the emancipation more rapidly than the present act contemplates.

CUBA. It is to be regretted that the disturbed condition of the island of Cuba continues to be a source of annoyance and of anxiety. The existence of a protracted struggle in such close proximity to our own territory, without apparent prospect of an early termination, cannot be other than an object of concern to the people, who, while abstaining from interference in the affairs of other powers, naturally desire to see every country in the undisturbed enjoyment of peace, liberty and the blessings of free institutions. Our naval commanders in Cuban waters have been instructed, in case it should become necessary, to spare no effort to protect the lives and property of bona fide American citizens and to maintain the dignity of the flag. It is hoped that all pending questions with Spain, growing out of the affairs in Cuba, may be adjusted in the spirit of peace and amicable, which has hitherto guided the two powers in their treatment of such questions.

NATIONAL DEBT. The national debt has been reduced to the extent of eighty six millions, fifty-seven thousand, one hundred and twenty-six dollars and eighty cents during the year; and by the negotiation of national bonds at a lower rate of interest on the public debt has been so far diminished that now the sum to be raised for the interest account is nearly seventeen million dollars less than on the first of March, 1869.

TAXES. I recommend that all taxes from internal sources be abolished, except those collected for spirituous, vinous and malt liquors, tobacco in its various forms and from stamps. In readjusting the tariff I suggest that a careful estimate be made of the amount of surplus revenue collected under the present laws after providing the current expenses of the government, the interest account of a sinking fund, and that this surplus be reduced in such a manner as to afford the greatest relief to the greatest number.

GOLD. Continued fluctuations in the value of gold, as compared with the national currency, has a most damaging effect upon the increase and development of the country, in keeping up prices of all articles necessary in every day life. It fosters a spirit of gambling and speculative finance. If the question can be met as to how to get a fixed value for our currency, that value constantly and uniformly approaching par with specie, a very desirable object will be gained.

THE KULEVIC. Warning not having been heeded, on the 7th of October a general proclamation was issued suspending the writ of habeas corpus in nine counties in South Carolina. Direction was given that, within the counties designated, persons supposed, upon cred-marshal to be dealt with according to law. In two of said counties—York and Spartanburg—many arrests have been made. At the last account the number of persons arrested was one hundred and sixty-eight. Several hundred whose criminality was ascertained to be of an inferior degree were released for the present. There have generally been confessions of their guilt. Great caution has been exercised in making these arrests, and notwithstanding the large number, it is believed that no innocent person is now in custody. The prisoners will be held for regular trial in the judicial tribunals of the United States. As soon as it appeared that the authorities of the United States were about to take vigorous measures to enforce the law, many persons absconded, and there is good ground for supposing that all of such persons have violated the law. A full report of what has been done under this law will be submitted to Congress by the Attorney General.

UTAH. In Utah there still remains a remnant of barbarism repugnant to civilization, to decency and to the laws of the United States. Territorial officers, however, have been found who are willing to perform their duty in a spirit of equity, and with a due sense of maintaining the majesty of the law. Neither polygamy, nor any other violation of the existing statutes will be permitted within the territory of the United States. It is not with the religion of the self-styled saints that we are now dealing, but with their practices. They will be protected in the worship of God, according to the dictates of their conscience; but they will not be permitted to violate the laws under the cloak of religion. It may be advisable for Congress to consider what in the execution of the law against polygamy, is to be the status of plural wives and their offspring. The propriety of Congress passing an enabling act authorizing the territorial legislature of Utah to legitimize all children born prior to a time fixed in the act, might be justified by its humanity to those innocent children. This is a suggestion only, and not a recommendation.

DISABILITIES. More than six years have elapsed since the last hostile gun was fired between the armies then arrayed against each other, the one for the perpetration, the other for the destruction of the Union. It may well be considered whether it is now time that the disabilities imposed by the Fourteenth amendment should be removed. That amendment does not exclude the ballot, but only imposes the disability to hold office upon certain classes. When the party of the ballot is secure, the majority are sure to elect officers reflecting the views of the majority. I do not see the advantage properly of excluding men from office merely because they were before the rebellion, of standing and character sufficient to be elected to positions requiring them to take oaths to support the Constitution, and admitting to eligibility those containing precisely the same views of less standing in their communities. It may be said that the former violated an oath while the latter did not. The latter did not have it in their power to do so. If they had taken this oath it cannot be doubted that they would have broken it as did the former class. If there are any great criminals distinguished above all others for the part they took in opposition to the government, they might, in the judgment of Congress, be excluded from such amnesty.

THE CIVIL SERVICE. In my message to Congress, one year ago, I urgently recommended a reform in the civil service of the country. In conformity with the recommendation, Congress in the ninth section of an act making appropriation for sundry civil expenses of the government and for other purposes, approved March 3, 1871, gave the necessary authority to the Executive to inaugurate a civil service reform, and placed upon him the responsibility of doing so. Under authority of said act, I convened a board of gentlemen, eminently qualified for the work, to devise rules and regulations to affect the needed reform. Their labors are not yet complete, but it is believed that they will succeed in devising a plan which can be adopted to the relief of the executive, the heads of departments and members of Congress, and which will redound to the true interests of the public service. At all events the experiment shall have a fair trial.

I have thus hastily summed up the operations of the government during the last year, and made such suggestions as occur to me to be proper for your consideration. I submit them with confidence that your combined action will be wise, statesmanlike, and in the best interests of the whole country. U. S. GRANT, Executive Mansion, December 4, 1871.

DEATH OF HON. JOHN BIGLER.—Hon. John Bigler died at Sacramento, California, on the 30th ult. Mr. Bigler was a native of this State. He was born in Cumberland county, on the 8th of January, 1804. He learned the trade of a printer, and became editor of the Centre county Democrat, and the Pittsburg Post. He afterward published a paper in Ohio. In 1849 he emigrated to California, and became Governor of that State, the same year in which his brother William was elected Governor of Pennsylvania. He had been previously twice elected Speaker of the General Assembly of California. He was re-elected governor in 1854 and was again the democratic candidate in 1859, but was defeated. In 1857 he was appointed by Mr. Buchanan as Minister to Chili in South America, which position he held until the appointment of his successor by Mr. Lincoln.

ENGLAND continues in great distress, owing to the condition of the Prices of Whales. The feeling of grief for the present and uneasiness for the future appears profound and widespread. The whole royal house-

Prince and by others in attendance show that the last hours of the sufferer are approaching. Business is almost wholly suspended throughout the country, and the greatest anxiety prevails in London and the other cities to obtain the latest news.

This revolution in Mexico still continues. After several days' fighting the Government troops have been compelled to abandon the city of Saltillo.
