Congress adjourned sine die at 9 o'clock on Monday evening, after an exciting day in both houses. The Sundry civil appropriation bill was finally passed, with the enforcement amendment modified so as to provide that the election supervisors in each voting precinct shall not have power to make arrests, but shall act merely as witnesses of all the proceedings of the election officers, including the counting and return of votes. One of the last measures passed by both houses was a bill removing the political disabilities of Ex-Governor Vance of North Carolina, and George S. Houston of Alabama.

"All Hands Below." A good story is told of a parrot who had always lived on board a ship, but who escaped at one of the southern ports, and took refuge in a church. Soon afterwards the congregation assembled, and the minister began preaching to them in his earnest fashion, saying there was no virtue in them, that every one of them would go to hell, unless they speedily repented. Just as he spoke the sentence, up spoke the parrot from his hiding place: "All hands below!"

"To say that all hands" were startled, would be a mild way of putting it. The peculiar voice, and its unknown source, had much more effect on them than the parson's voice ever had. He waited a moment, and then, a shade or two paler, he repeated the warning. "All hands below!" again rang out somewhere.

The preacher started from his pulpit, and looked anxiously around, inquiring if anybody had spoken. "All hands below!" was the only reply, at which the entire pious stricken congregation got up, and a moment after they all bolted for the doors, the preacher trying his best to be first and during the time the mischievous bird kept up his yelling: "All hands below!"

There was an old woman there who was lame, and could not get out as fast as the rest, and in a very short time she was left entirely alone. Just as she was about to hobble out, the parrot flew down, and alighting on her shoulder, again yelled in her ear: "All hands below!"

"No, no, Mister Devil," shrieked the old woman, "you can't mean me. I don't belong here. I go to the other church across the way!"

Manhood: How Lost How Restored.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. J. C. AYER'S GREAT PEPPERS, a medicine for the radical cure (without medicine) of Gonorrhoea, Stricture, or Venereal Disease, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Debility, Impediments to marriage, etc. also, Consumption, Epilepsy, and fits induced by self-abuse, or sexual extravagance. Price in a sealed envelope, only 5 cents. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' experience, that the standard, sure, and permanent cure of self-abuse may be readily cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife, pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. For full particulars should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address postpaid on receipt of 5 cents, or 1-1/2 post stamps. Price 25 cents. Address the Publisher, J. C. AYER & CO., 127 Bowery, New York, Post Office Box 4558.
