

THE POST

MIDDLEBURG, AUGUST 1, 1872

Southern belles reign at White Sulphur Springs. Cape May has a new hotel called the Senate House. New wheat is being delivered to the mills in York county.

Sixty-one stocks of rye were raised from one grain, in the Cumberland valley. Land sharks in a term quite applicable to the majority of the Long Branch hotel keepers.

A Kentucky farmer has sold two short-horn heifers for $6500 each. The liberal Republican ratification meetings held in this State have all been failures.

Lightning has been very destructive of horses this season, in the Cumberland valley. A couple were married at Lafayette, Ind., the other day, in a balloon, one mile above the earth; a wedding in high life.

A heavy shock of an earthquake was felt on Long Island and in Connecticut on the morning of the 11th inst. A rhinoceros escaped from a menagerie in Vermont recently, and gave the farmers a free show by wandering through their meadows.

While hoeing cotton on a plantation in North Carolina, a negro woman found a lump of gold weighing half a pound. A mulatto child was recently born on the plantation of Mr. Sillan, near Cypremont, La., with but one eye, set in the middle of its forehead.

New Orleans street railroads offer $1,000 reward for the arrest of parties who put counterfeit nickles in the fare box. A California lady purchased a chicken for home consumption, and found a piece of placer gold worth $5 in its craw.

The washer-women of Detroit are said to be organizing a trade union to protect themselves against "Chinese cheap labor." Some of the churches of Reading have resolved to close during the hot weather. Preachers, there, must be dignified fellows, and ought to have refrigerators connected with their pulpits to keep them cool.

Wisconsin is exciting itself about a little girl whose head is said to weigh seven-eighths of a pound. How they manage to weigh the head without the body is not stated. An Illinois man lately started a steam chicken manufactory with several thousand eggs. The forcing process was carried on so vigorously that only four were hatched, the others being roasted.
