SEWING MACHINE.

The most perfect, and generally useful machine in existence. For the family of the farmer or machanic, where the work required of a sewing machine ranges from the heaviest garments of man's wear to the most delicitie and ornamental fabrics for lattice and children it has proved itself theroughly efficient and entirely satisfactory. Of unequalled simplicity and compactness of construction, capable of being learned and operated with one-fearth the usual expenditure of those and labor, with a capacity for quantity, quality and variety of execution beyond its compactions, and a rejuntation for durability and reliability shown and appreciated by thousands, it is offered to the people for the most critical inspection and comparison, with confidence that its overloss merits cannot fail to convince the careful examiner, of its superiority.
