

J. CRONE, EDITOR & PROP.

Death of Hon. Charles Sumner.—Charles Sumner, United States Senator from Massachusetts, died in Washington City on Wednesday. He was taken sick on Tuesday, but recovered sufficiently to reach the Senate. During the night he got another severe attack which lasted until ten minutes before 3 o'clock when he expired calmly and without a struggle. During the last hours of his illness, his mind seemed to be clear, and he was conscious to the last.

Way Talk in Europe.—It is stated that Bismarck's opinion is that an other war with France is inevitable; that she will be backed by Russia, and that all Europe will be involved in the contest. It has not been long since all the Emperors of Europe in bilious after dinner speeches declared that the peace of Europe should be maintained. So if this be true we can put no more faith in what Emperors say when drunk, and the proverb in vino veritas falls into disrepute.—Harrisburg Tel.

REPORT OF THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

From the annual report of President Thompson, of the Pennsylvania railroad company, we observe that the receipts of the main line, from Philadelphia to Pittsburg, and its branches, were:

For 1873,	$24,886,008 90
Expenses,	15,440,305 16
Net earnings,	9,445,703 74
Net earnings in 1872,	8,247,852 18

Income in 1873, 1,197,851 56. And after paying ten per cent dividends, interest on bonds, and there is a net profit for 1873 of $2,198,767 14.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.—We have the day is not far distant when the enlightened public opinion of the country will demand universal education applicable and enforced in every section of the Republic. Our perpetuity and safety as a government depends on the intelligence of our people. The higher the standard of intelligence the safer and more permanent will be our institutions. In his Farewell Address Washington left us his views on the subject. He said: "Promote as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. In proportion as the structure of a government gives force to public opinion it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened." The party that follows this advice will not lack the earnest support of the people.

THE LAST BUT ONE.—Millard Fillmore, who died at his home in Buffalo on Sunday evening, 7th inst., was born at Summer Hill, Cayuga county, New York, January 7th 1800. His early education was limited, but through industry and energy he succeeded in acquiring enough money to enable him to study law, and he was admitted to the bar of Erie county in 1823. Soon afterwards he settled in Aurora and commenced the practice of his profession. In 1829 he was admitted as counselor of the Supreme Court, and in 1830 he removed to Buffalo, where he entered into partnership with N. K. Halland, practiced law until 1847, when he was elected Comptroller of the State. He served in the Legislature, and was elected to Congress in 1832. In 1836 he was re-elected, and again in 1838 and 1840. In 1848 he was elected Vice President on the ticket with Gen. Taylor. The latter died July 9, 1850, and the next day Mr. Fillmore succeeded to the Presidency. His term expired in 1853, when he retired to private life. In 1854 he ran on the Native American ticket for President, but only received the electoral vote of Maryland. By his death Andrew Johnson is left the sole surviving ex-President of the United States, Franklin Pierce having died a few years ago.

A Few Things Congress Can Do.—Congress can pass the bill to establish a national savings depositary, and thus provide a place of security for the surplus earnings of the industrial classes, and by the amount of interest paid to the capital and the power of the working men and women of the country, and encourage economy and prudence on the part of the whole people.

Congress can, by a courageous and progressive policy, aid materially in restoring confidence to the people in the strength and security of our financial system, but this will not be accomplished by withholding support to proper and useful measures of improvement, either as to necessary public buildings, river and harbor expenditures, and other means of encouragement to progress and economical expenditure by the people. Congress can confine appropriations to works of utility, such as public buildings which will save expenditures for rent, the improvement of the lines of water navigation, so as to cheapen the transfer of property from one section of the country to another, and thus save money to the people of both sections. Congress can restore the 10 per cent duty which was unlawfully taken off of foreign fabrics, increase the taxes on whisky and tobacco, to which few, if any, will object, and thus provide all the revenue necessary to the steady and efficient operation of all legitimate Government work.

Congress can, by the regulation of fees and the abolition of the ex officio moiety system, equalize the compensation of revenue officers and increase the public revenue without additional tax upon the commerce and business of the country.—The Republic.

Pennsylvania Items.

The lawyers of this State aggregate 3,000. —Frank A. Beamish, a municipal officer of Scranton, has been arrested and held in $1,000 bail to answer the charge of collecting moneys and appropriating them to his own use.

A new blast furnace for the manufacture of pig iron, and to be supplied with new appliances, is about to be erected at Sheridan, Berks Co. The blowing tube, it is stated, weighs 18,500 pounds.

Capt. Long, of company H, 16th Regiment, has been arrested and sent to prison at Norristown, to await his trial on the charge of refusing to pay over $400 of the company's money to his successor, as treasurer. He refused to accept offers of bail.

Recently a steer weighing about 1000 pounds and belonging to Joseph Gehman, Earl township, Lancaster county, fell into a well twenty feet deep. In order to rescue the steer, the wall of the well had to be removed.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company gives notice that the third and final instalment of twenty five per cent, being twelve and a half dollars per share, upon the new stock of 1873 will be due and payable between May 1st and 18th next.

The borough council of Carlisle recently passed an ordinance prohibiting the erection of signs and permanent awnings over the pavements of that borough, and the Herald wants another passed to "have the town fenced in and whitewashed, and then sold cheap for cash."

Fifty senators and representatives took chances in a little lottery last week in Harrisburg. A young lady had a beautiful was cross, bonnet and wreath, which she disposed of in this manner. Senator Wareham drew the wreath, Senator Cooper the bow and Representative O'Brien of Philadelphia, the cross.

The New Castle, Pa., Courant says, "Two men are now in jail in that city for dressing in female attire and peddling patent corsets. They practiced their little game in that city for about six weeks, and fitted most of the belles of New Castle, as well as older ladies, and always insisting that they should fit the article to the purchaser."

During the absence of Anthony Cogswell, of Chambersville, Pa., his wife died and was buried. On returning he had the coffin opened, and it was found that the body had turned in its place, indicating that the woman was only in a trance when interred. The discovery so affected the husband that he is now a maniac.

That awfully wicked man, Mayor Stokley, has just smashed another gambling house, in Philadelphia by arresting fourteen persons engaged in the great reform game of faro, and capturing the paraphernalia of the institution. That in part accounts for the fury of late exhibited by the democratic papers at Stokley's reelection.

The famous old frigate Constitution—"Old Ironsides"—that captured the British frigates Macedonian and Guerriere, and did other good service during the war of 1812, is upon the stocks at the Philadelphia navy yard for the purpose of thorough repair. She is to be entirely rebuilt for service as a school ship, but her model will not be changed.

In 1776 the number of stopping places and taverns between Fort Pitt (Now Pittsburg) and Philadelphia, on the road used by wagons in traversing a distance of 320 miles, was 41. Among the taverns on the road was Harris Ferry, now the beautiful capital city of Pennsylvania. The following are some of the names of the inns: Prince of Wales, Plough, Unicorn, Blue Ball, The Ship, Wagon and The Hat.

A correspondent of the Doylestown Intelligencer, writes: "We have examined our peach buds and find they are all right. The prospect for a crop of peaches at this time of year was never better. The wheat fields look fine, and the grass fields have passed through the winter unscathed. The skies are bright as spring approaches, and we hail with delight the season of fruit and flowers."

General News.

The remains of Dr. Livingstone will be transported from Africa to England at the public expense.

An appropriation of $25,000 is asked from Congress in aid of the Orphans' Homestead at Gettysburg.

Rev. John L. Stephens, an American missionary at Guadalajara, Mexico, was assassinated at Acapulco on the 2d instant, and his body horribly mutilated.

William A. Stone, a lawyer, of Canastota, N. Y., convicted of arson in the third degree for setting fire to that village was sentenced to prison for life.

The municipal elections were held in Maine on the 9th inst. Augusta and Bangor elected Republican Mayors, Belfast the citizens candidate, and Biddeford the Democratic ticket.

A woman down east has an accurate picture of a juniper tree printed on her leg by a flash of lightning. And the editor who chronicled the event has had a lively time explaining to his wife how he got it.

A San Francisco masked ball was attended by a young lady who personated Nicotine. Her dress was made of tobacco leaves, her necklace was cigars, and she carried a fan and a parasol constructed of the weed.

During a heavy storm encountered by the steamer Pennsylvania from Liverpool on the 27th ult., Captain Bradburn, the first and second officers and two seamen were washed overboard and drowned, and the fourth officer had one of his legs broken.

The Supreme Court of the United States holds that all savings banks are bound to pay internal revenue tax on their contingent funds, and that an action for the debt will lie for the recovery of the tax, even although it has never been assessed.

The Jacksonville Republican tells a romantic story of Waldo Blossom, of Boston, now in Florida, who has fallen heir to over $1,000,000 worth of property left him by a man named Larimer, whom he saved from utter destruction some twenty years ago.

It is something for the nation to be proud of, that in scarcely one instance have the ladies who engaged in the temperance crusade been offered violence or rudeness from American saloon keepers. In no other country in the world, we venture to say, under similar circumstances, would such a proof of chivalrous and manly feeling have been shown.

At a meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association, held at Dover, Del., on Wednesday, the general tenor of all the reports made favored the expectation of a very large yield, so far as can be foreseen now. The germs in the buds have not been killed by the severe cold, but, upon dissection, are found healthy and promising. The expectation of all is that the crop must be very heavy.

There are two Indian tribes in Maine, the Passamaquoddy and the Penobscot, and each are represented in the Legislature by one of their own number. These two representatives of the red men take no part in legislation, but are allowed to draw their pay just the same as the representatives of the white men. They spend most of the time during the session in the rotunda engaged in chatting with each other in the dialect of their fathers.

Kingston, N. Y., was startled recently by a singular discovery made by some workmen. They were repairing a building known as the Woolsey House, situated in the lower part of the town, and in taking down the chimney a skeleton was discovered lying in the flue. It was pronounced by the physicians who examined it to be the skeleton of a woman, apparently about eighteen years of age, and it had probably been in the place where it was discovered about a year.

A singular coincidence is related by the Bowling Green (Ky.) Patriot: "A few hours before the death of Hon. Jacob Vanmeter, on Friday, the 6th inst., he requested that his grave be dug large enough for his wife's body in addition to his own. He said that his wife's death would follow almost immediately. No alarm was excited by the singular request of the old man, as Mrs. Vanmeter's health was as good as it had been for months. On Saturday, however, Mrs. Vanmeter was taken suddenly ill, and died before Sunday morning. On Monday the bodies of the aged couple were taken to their final resting place, and in accordance with the old gentleman's request, now occupy one grave."

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT. A sallow or yellow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness with frequent headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in mouth; dryness of throat and internal heat; palpitation; in many cases a dry, tearing cough, with some throat; uneasy appetite, raising of food, choking sensation in throat; distress, heaviness, bloated or full feeling about stomach and sides, pain in shoulders, back or breast, and about sides; colic, pain and soreness through bowels, with heat, constipation alternating with diarrhoea; flatulence, nervousness, coldness of extremities; rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy; numbness of limbs, especially at night; cold chills alternating with hot flashes; kidney and urinary difficulties; dullness, low spirits, uneasiness and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of the above symptoms likely to be present at one time. All who use Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext., or Golden Medical Discovery for Liver Complaint and its complications are a cure in its praise.

A Cure for Liver Disease. RICE, Texas, May 10th 1873. Dear Sir—My wife last year, at this time was laid up with Chronic Liver Disease. I had one of the best doctors to see her, and he gave her up to die, when I came upon some of your medicine. I bought one bottle, and she was cured. She then weighed 82 pounds, she has taken eight bottles in all, so you see I am an advocate for your Medicine. W. M. MEAZEL.
