REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Congress,
SAMUEL ALLEMAN, of Selinsgrove.
(Subject to District Conference)
Assembly,
G. ALFRED SCHOCH, of Middleburg.
County Commissioner,
ELIAS R. SWARTZ, Beaver Twp.
Surveyor,
AARON K. GIFT, of Middleburg.
Auditor,
SAMUEL F. SHEARY, Centre Twp.

THE Democratic conferees in this congressional district met at Newport, Perry Co., last Wednesday, but failed to make a nomination.

At Harrisburg last week, in the case of The Commonwealth vs. Geo O. Evans, the Court refused to grant a discharge for Evans on the ground that the insolvent laws of Pennsylvania did not extend to debts due the Commonwealth. Which means that Mr. George O. Evans will be kept in jail.

THE Republican State Committee met at Harrisburg, on Tuesday the 10th inst. The attendance of members was good and the reports from the State cheering Gen. H. H. Bingham was re-elected Treasurer, and a resolution adopted authorizing the Chairman to appoint the needed Secretaries. The next meeting will be held in Philadelphia.

Good news is that which announces the safe arrival at a Russian town of the Austrian Polar expedition which sailed into the icy regions, and which is the first intelligence the world ever had. Most people had given the party up for lost, and reluctantly concluded that it had met the fate of Sir John Franklin and his ill starred companions.

The cotton crop of the South in 1860 was about three million bales. It was for the year ending August 31, 1874, four million bales, an increase of one million bales, or of thirty-three per cent. Is not this simple statement worth a volume of arguments in proof of the superiority of freedom over slavery? The price of cotton is now much higher than it was in 1860, and the production is thus far much more valuable than ever. Is not this the best evidence that the South is more prosperous than ever, only that, instead of the wealth and comfort being concentrated in a few families, it is more evenly distributed among all?

There is a prospect of peace at the South. Last week Attorney General Williams issued an order to the United States Marshals and district attorneys in that section to enforce the laws therein, and the effect, it is alleged by Southern Republicans, will be to restore order. The President supplements the order by a letter to Secretary of War Belknap, giving him instructions as to the employment of the troops, and expressing a desire to suppress the murders and punish the murderers. Once let it be well known that they cannot kill with impunity, and that the penitentiary awaits them, and the members of the White League will dissolve their organization, and return to their peaceful avocations, if they have any.

As able correspondent of a contemporary thus discourses on the Democratic outlook for this fall:

"The Democratic ticket bears favorable comparison with the Republican, but it will take some very unlooked for event between this and November to change the political aspect of the State, although a fear has been expressed by some of our leading politicians that unless the Republicans come out in their might, the result will be a sad surprise. How it can be is a mystery to me, for at the present time the Republican party hold such exclusive control of all the avenues of power that nothing short of the most shocking mismanagement can displace them. Besides, the business interests of the State are in so precarious a condition that a change would bring into it ruin and difficulty untold.

"Merchants and manufacturers are well aware of this, and it is folly to suppose they would jeopardize their invested capital simply to witness the ascendency of a political party with which so many of them have always been at variance. The rank and file of the people are unprepared for the change, from the fact that the distrust occasioned by the accession to power of a party so long kept in poverty would throw back the various improvements now going on, cause a stagnation of business, and so impoverish their resources as to cause more misery than either of the great panics through which we have passed. To sum the whole matter up—the State of Pennsylvania is not prepared to change her present administration—and the Democratic party could well afford to save themselves the trouble and expense of making nominations for a number of years to come."

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Gov. Dix's decision in the Havemeyer case is made public. The decision censures the course of the Mayor, but declines to remove him or take any further action in the case.

We lay aside [illegible] matic exchanges, and admit a confusion of ideas never before experienced. A few years ago we could locate Democracy in our sleep; but now, with our eyes open, and in the full possession of all our faculties, we are puzzled to know where to find it. In vain we read the State addresses of the unterrified; the more we read the more we become befogged; and like a skipper in the midst of a Newfoundland fog bank, we are forced to guess at the situation, and accept with caution everything we hear and see. Like the bill-poster's dream, we see protection, free trade, inflation, contraction, paper money, specie payments, redemption, and repudiation pass before us in such hopeless confusion that we despair of finding but one point of agreement among our Democratic brethren, and that one, opposition to the Republican party. We believe on this one point the Democracy of the country, from Maine to California, are united. They are willing to accept any creed, preach any doctrine, abide by any faith, to effect the overthrow of the Republican party. In one section they favor the practical repudiation of the public debt as the easiest way to lighten the burdens of taxation: in another they would have the nation keep faith with its creditors, and do away with promises to pay by a single stroke of legislation. In the South they would use the party to check the growth of intelligence among the blacks, and in the North they agree to accept the situation and favor the education of all classes. They clamor everywhere for what they term a constitutional exercise of personal liberty, and yet denounce as an invasion of their rights any effort on the part of the General Government to protect and secure the exercise of personal liberty on the part of our citizens everywhere. While they stand ready to applaud the Government in its efforts to protect a single citizen in a foreign land, they stand equally ready to denounce as tyrannical the protection of American citizens in our own. In a word, the Democratic party to day is without a policy, except the vague one contained in five words: Opposition to the Republican party. Yet to tens of thousands of thoughtless men this one declaration is sufficient to unite them in combined movement to overthrow the party in power. They never stop to ask why they seek its overthrow, or to speculate on the consequences which would follow: The destruction of our financial system; the depreciation of our credit at home and abroad; the terrible dangers which would threaten our newly made citizens; the paralyzation of our commercial, mercantile, manufacturing, and agricultural interests, are nothing to them compared to party success. It is from this class of unthinking men, who blindly follow the fortunes of Democracy, that we have most to fear. To defeat their combinations, and thus turn aside the deadly weapon which they would aim at the heart of the Republic, calls for the closest union of patriotism and intelligence—a union which rises above mere partisanship, which has for its object and aim the safety of the nation and the advancement of civilization. Our greatest danger lies in our overwhelming strength. It tends to beget a feeling of security which may prove fatal to our cause. In the presence of an active and unscrupulous enemy we should leave no point unguarded. A thorough organization of our forces should be completed in every town, city, and State. Every thoughtful man who has weighed the consequences of Democratic rule should be urged to join hands in the common defense. Local issues should be laid aside until the national work is over. Keep the General Government in the hands of true men, and with this assured we can settle local questions at our leisure. Remember the political battle to be fought this fall has for its stake the House of Representatives. Permit Democracy to gain a foothold there and the wheels of progress will be turned back at least a score of years.—Republic.

THE GRAIN MARKET.—There seems to be little doubt now but that England will need double the amount of grain that she has raised. The harvest is estimated to have produced about ten million of bushels, which will leave about ten to be purchased elsewhere. Usually Russia can furnish it cheaper than we can, but it does not seem to be the case this year. The probability is that there will be a heavy call on us. This seems so certain to be the case, that in Philadelphia, which has now become the leading port for the export of grain, extensive arrangements are being made to accommodate the trade.

It is to be hoped that this idea will be realized. It is just what is needed to revive our dropping Western agriculture; and with it, of course, a revival of general trade. It is to be regretted that so many vital interests should be made to rest on the mere chance of an European failure, and not upon a steady, regular, and certain demand. It is chiefly on the uncertainty of the European market that our agriculture suffers so much. This uncertainty will always exist until we have our chief market near at home. Some think it is the reliance on this uncertainty which makes our continual panics. However this may be, it will not make any difference this year or now. We want an immediate market in order to advance prices, and if Europe gives us the one now promised, it will be a good thing for us.—Phila. Press.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.—Letters testamentary upon the estate of Henry Gerhart late of Centre township, Snyder Co., dec'd having been granted to the undersigned, all persons knowing themselves indebted to said estate are requested to make payment without delay, and those having claims on the same will presen them to SOLOMON BOWERSOX,
Sept. 17, '74. Executor.

A NEW INVENTION.—A Plow Sulky that you can Ride and Plough, and any Plow can be attached to it. Boys, old men, Cripples or any person that can drive a team, can do the best of plowing, more of it, with fewer Plow Shears and with less draft for the team, than can be done by hand by the best of plow-men, and that in dry, rough and stony ground, and the most of the ground ploughed with the Sulky, will do with one less harrowing, than that ploughed by hand.

The reason why the Plow runs lighter attached to the sulky is because the weight of the plow and Furrow is carried on the wheels, it has been tested with a Dynomometer, and found to run twenty-five per cent lighter than by plowing by hand, and that with the weight of a man on the Sulkey.

The reason why you can do more plowing with the sulkey is, that there is little or no time lost by your plow running out, and then backing, as it is almost impossible for the plow to jump out when attached to the sulkey, even in dry and stony ground.

The reason why you can do better plowing with the Sulkey, is that the plow is so attached to the sulkey that it must take an even depth and width furrow.

The reason why any person that can drive a team can plow with the Sulkey is that they have nothing to do but to drive.

The Reason why it takes fewer plow shares in plowing with the Sulkey, is that the plow runs perfectly level and wears the share level on the bottom.

The reason why the Sulkey suits old men is that they can hold or fasten an umbrella over them and do not need to fear sunstroke.

The reason less harrowing will do in Sulkey plowing, is that the sulkey plows an even depth and width furrow which leaves the ground much smoother than can be done by hand plowing.

The reason why it is less expensive to plow with the Sulkey is, that you can hire a boy at 40 cents per day, where you would have to pay a man a dollar per day to plow by hand, saving 60c per day, a plow share at 75c that would last two days in stony plowing by hand, would last four days with the Sulkey, making a gain of 18¾ cents per day and the average gain of time with the sulkey over hand plowing, in hard ground is stated say 2½ acres per day with the Sulkey and 1¼ acres per day by hand plowing which is a gain of ¾ acre per day allowing $3.00 per day for plowing would be a saving of $2.50 per day.

Total gain per day for sulkey $2 25¾ the difference in the time saved in the harrowing of the sulkey plowed and hand plowed ground we have not accounted for, neither have we for the difference in the crops of good and bad plowing, but all know the difference in crops raised on good or bad plowing is great, the above calculation is made for hard ploughing, where in hand plowing the plow would jump out of the ground very often, and will not with the Sulkey, and the reason why we make the above assertion is, that we are able to convince one and all that they are true and ask the farmers of Snyder and Northumberland counties, to select their best hand plowman get their day and give us a trial, and we will convince them, not only that the aforesaid is true, but that the J. L. Vangorder Patent Plow Sulkey is one the best Farm implements now in use.

The undersigned having purchased the right to manufacture and sell the Vangorder Patent Plow Sulkey, in the counties of Snyder and Northumberland, do hereby notify the farmers of said counties that we are prepared to deliver Sulkeys to all wishing to give them a trial. Price $80 when delivered by agents, a reasonable deduction will be made when ordered in lots of four and more to be delivered at one time and place, or when the purchaser takes them from the Factory of Slifer, Walls & Shriner, Lewisburg, Union county Pa.

In ordering Sulkies please state whether you use right or left hand plows and we will deliver you Sulkies to attach your own plows to.

All orders must be addressed to
