THE POST.

Middleburg, March 25, 1875.

AN INGENIOUS DEVICE.—A capital piece of rascality was recently attempted between a notorious Carlisle thief in durance vile and his comrades outside. The prisoner was sent a letter from his fiance, containing merely a lock of hair wrapped in the leaf of a book. The jailer did not consider the souvenir important enough to be delivered, but a few days after came a similar missive, and yet another. This aroused suspicion, and the governor took the matter in hand. He examined the leaves of the book. It was only that of a common novel twenty-six inches on a page. To the naked eye the hair, and noted the small quantity of the stuff. Counting the lines he found them of accurate length and twenty-six in number, the same as the lines of the page. Struck with the coincidence he laid the hair along the lines of the page when they were nicely reached, beginning at the top with the smallest hair. After some trouble, he found that the end of each hair pointed to a different letter, and that these letters combined formed a slang sentence which intimated the prisoner that his friends were on the watch and that the next time he left the prison to be examined an attempt would be made to rescue him. The governor and his plans accordingly, the attempt at rescue was made, but the rascals fell into their own trap.

The Smoking and Keeping of Smoked Meat

The following suggestions are among those made by Prof. Nessler in regard to the preservation of meat. The keeping qualities of smoked meats do not depend upon the smoke but on drying, but upon the uniform and proper drying of the meat. Smoke of high temperature and moisture, and the condensation of water upon the meat, are highly injurious to smoking meat. Without smoke the surface of meat dries too rapidly, and the interior remains moist, and therefore liable to decay. Smoke which has been cooled to a temperature, close to the latter, moisture is apt to condense upon it. By far the best place, in most cases, for keeping smoked meat is a suitable smoke house in which it remains dry, without drying out entirely, as it does when hung in a chimney.

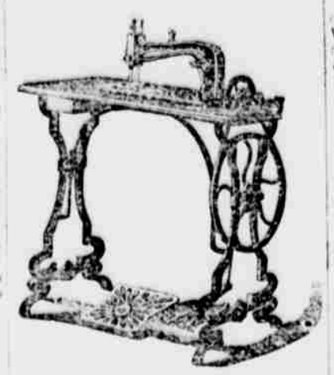
LOCK STITCH



Sewing Machine.
The Grover and Baker machine far excels any other machine for DRESS Making and general family use.
The stitch is beautiful and durable. It is so simple in its combination of parts and its practical operation that it is very difficult to get it out of order, and is easily managed.
It is invaluable in the family, as [illegible] kinds of work can be done, the most fine [illegible], as well as the coarsest with equal facility.
THE GROVER & BAKER with its recent improvements is neat, durable, ornamental, simple, and perfect in its operations. It requires less expense for repairs than any of the manufactures in use, and has been in constant use for
