SAVES FUEL! SAVES LABOR!
THE
NATIONAL STEEL TUBE CLEANER.

(Colonel July 25th, 1874.)
Carbon is one of the worst conducters of heat known, a deposit of 1-32 of an inch on the tubes causing a loss of 15 per cent. of fuel.
This Tube Cleaner is made of spring steel. Each segment is of itself a spring, and distends in a perfect circle so as to press against the inside of the tube, removing all the carbon and scale without the slightest injury to the tube.
Guaranteed to clean better, last longer, and work easier than any in the market. Adopted and in use by the U. S. Navy. For sale by dealers. Send for circular.

A Good Complexion.

Thus an earnest young lady writes to the Household: There is nothing so annoying to a young girl as an imperfect skin. If we address any one, we imagine that person's attention to be immediately drawn to our one source of discomfort, a broken out face; if they speak to us, we are positively diffident on account of our misfortune.

Dear girls, the writer has had experience in this, and can sympathize with you. For three years my face would keep breaking out with a sort of rash, not large unsightly blotches, for such I never had, but I feel sure that if what I used, did help me, it would benefit those who were worse than I was.

I tried everything of which I had ever heard and also plenty of which I never had, but without avail. I became disgusted with everybody, and especially myself. Every day I met girls coarse-featured, who know nothing about complexion and refinement, whose faces were smooth and rosy, while I was destined to wear an irritable and pimply skin, and I became morose and low spirited.

But one day, while reading a magazine, the word "oatmeal" caught my attention. I determined to try it. I bought four pounds, and have used it six months—I have used it twice a day all the time.

I take the dry meal, a little on a preserve plate, pour on just enough cold water to make it thin, strain through a small sieve, and dipping a cloth into water, wash over my face once or twice, and let it dry. This does not require more then five minutes and the result is, what? All my friends exclaim about my beautiful complexion

Please follow my example, and you will not regret the trouble, when you see the result.

Shall We Hang Our Defaulters?

Before long it will become a nice question at what place in the calendar of crime to put the embezzlement of the funds of savings banks, banking institutions, and stock corporations. These are not charitable institutions, but their ruin causes more general distress than perhaps any other known crime. Certainly it would be a delicate point to decide which is the most wicked, he who takes away a single life, possibly worthless or worse, or he who drags a thousand lives down to despair and perhaps to crime. The victims would certainly consider it a righteous sentence that awarded the defaulter the same punishment as the burglar or say even the murderer. It cannot be said, however, that the rest of our system of justice works any better than the which gives impunity to official thieves and private defaulters. That pickpocket is sent to a felon's cell, while Tweed goes out riding, fared sumptuously, and runs away when he is ready. The bankrupt and defaulting banker lives on the interest of his [illegible] while the petty thief earns a precarious livelihood, and goes [illegible] the police choose to [illegible]. The [illegible] cashier is [illegible] transgressions, and that gave a certificate of character, while we are waiting for the world to improve in this respect, let us be considering the new Philistine problem—Shall we hang our defaulters?—N. Y. Tribune. [We really think it the best thing that can be done with 'em.]

A BEAUTIFUL INCIDENT.—A naval officer being at sea in a dreadful storm, his lady was sitting in the cabin near him, filled with alarm for the safety of the vessel, and was so surprised at his composure and serenity, that she cried out—

"My dear husband, are you not afraid? How is it possible that you can be so calm in such a dreadful storm?"

He arose from the chair dashed it to the deck, drew his sword, and pointing it to the breast of his wife, exclaimed—

"Are you afraid?"

She instantly answered—

"No."

"Why," said the officer.

"Because," said the lady, "I know this sword is in the hands of my husband, and he loves me too well to hurt me."

"Then," said he, "remember I know in whom I believe, and that He who controls the winds, and holds the waters in the hollow of his hand, is my Father."

Particular Where He Slept.

He was tall and awkward, and she was short and bashful, but both wore a nervous aspect of exceeding great joy. They entered a hotel in Chicago, and after he had registered his name "and lady," he said to the clerk,

"See here, mister, me and my wife have just been spliced, and I'm going to show Amanda Chicago, if it takes a mule a day. Now give us one of them rooms like the Temple of Solomon, you know."

The clerk called a row bow, and said, "show this gentleman to the bridal chamber."

At this direction the tall rustic became intensely excited.

"Not by a durned sight! Ye shiny haired, biled shirted, dollar breast-pinned, grinning monkey, ye can't play that on me! If I am from the country, ye don't catch me and my wife sleeping in your old harness room."

And they left the house in magnificent anger.

☞Be cheerful, contented and lighthearted. Always remember that there are others whose troubles are greater than yours. In the family circle show the sunny side of your nature. Don't go around complaining, miserable and unhappy. It is too much like the uncomfortable custom of the ancient Egyptians, who never gave a feast without a skeleton in full view, that they might not forget their mortality.
