Colorado Elections. The election in Colorado last week was carried by the Republicans by a majority of over 2000 - gains being reported in all the counties but one.

Connecticut. also, shows heavy Republican gains, much to the chagrin of the Democracy as they were particularly desirous of carrying that State by a heavy majority.

ROBERT T. LINCOLN, son of the martyred President, made a speech to twenty thousand Republicans on the Tippecanoe battle ground last week. He was followed by Senator Blaine, and General Harrison. Lincoln, it is reported, impressed his hearers as being "a chip of the old block."

LOYALTY ABUSED.—The loyal sentiment of the nation is thoroughly aroused, and this means a sweeping Republican victory. Intelligent men, who love the Union, recognized the fact that Democracy in power is simply the restoration of those evils which threatened our Government during the rebellion. They feel that a vote for the Democratic party would be a vote against the Union and its brave defenders.

The indications are that Philadelphia will give 24,000 majority for Hayes and Wheeler. And the State outside of the city about 16,000 more. Col. Hoyt, chairman of the State committee, places the Republican majority in the State at 20,000, and 20,000 more in Philadelphia, making a total of 40,000 for Hayes and Wheeler. Either result is satisfactory, but having a pride in seeing the State outside of Philadelphia do so well as that city, we hope to see Snyder county do her full share towards it.

THE CHANGE WROUGHT.—When the Republican party came into power the nation was in a state of anarchy, and the slave pen was within the shadow of the nation's Capitol. What a change has God wrought under the sway of the Republican party? Today the flag floats over freemen everywhere. Slavery has died before the breath of freedom, and another decade of Republican rule will wipe out forever the spirit of oppression which still lingers around the recent fields of bondage. The prayer of freemen throughout the world is, that the party that has done so much for American liberty and human progress will continue to govern the country until every vestige of evil growing out of the institution of slavery is removed.

It might be well for Mr. Stenger to define his position on the question of the payment of the Southern claims. Many of them were presented at the last session of Congress, and were appropriately referred to the committees. It is not possible for the South under the amended constitution to procure compensation for slave property, nor to be reimbursed for the debt incurred by the rebellion, but there are claims amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars which are not barred by any constitutional provision. There are claims for property taken, and damages caused by the invasion of Union armies, which penetrated every Southern State, either by sea or land. They took "food for man and beast," they quartered in their towns and cities, they occupied the best farm houses they could find, and they lived to a large extent off the country they invaded. Southern citizens still hope to be paid for damages of this character, just as our people of the border hope to be paid their claims, and it might be well to know whether our member of Congress intends to support them. His strong sympathy with the disciples of Hill and Tucker renders his position doubtful.—Franklin Repository.

An exchange says that there are sixty-eight German papers in the United States; and that forty-three are supporting Hayes and Wheeler.

Correspondence.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6, 1876. History teaches by example. The Act of the Deeds of the South would seem to have been driven to Democracy, to the Contradiction of the Tilden's Policy.

History teaches by example. The history of what was done with the Tories during and after the Revolutionary War, is most interesting in comparison with what has been done with the rebels since our late civil war.

What a lamentable history would have been presented to the people of the United States, if after thirteen years from the Revolution, Washington and his patriots, who achieved the independence of the country, had been succeeded in the Presidency and in both Houses of Congress, by the Tories who had fought seven long years to destroy our independence. And what a lamentable history will hereafter be presented to the people of America after twelve years from the rebellion, Grant and his patriots, who saved the Union, shall be succeeded in the Presidency and in both Houses of Congress by the Rebels who had fought four long years desperately and even savagely to destroy the Union.

The glorious reports from all parts of the country show that the Democracy are aroused, shrieks a rebel yell from the hotbed of treason and the telegrams confirm it. An unfortunate colored boy jostles a White Liner at a South Carolina Republican meeting, to which the latter was not invited, is fired upon and when his relatives rush to his aid, indiscriminate firing follows, and only sixteen negroes killed, is regretfully passed over the wires for the enlightenment of the faithful. The Democracy never fail to arouse the intelligent contraband ganders to seek trustful leadership or enlightenment. Their hopes, fears, the toil of years in asserting an independence that grievously interferes with the profits of the Pogram, the Gavitta, the McPeters of Confortit X Roads, and as they see the illusion of re-enslavement disappearing as November approaches, their desperation knows no bounds, and glorious reports greet us at every sunrise of murders and assassinations that would bring the blush of shame to the cheek of a Thug!

Old Dean Richmond's assertion that no politician should have a record of more than sixty days, is again verified. Wm. Bell, jr., a leading reformer, signed an address to the Democracy of Licking Co, Ohio, in 1862 which read: "Strike! to save yourself from drafts, conscription, unrelenting, interminable civil war, from an impending flood of free negroes, from a corrupt Congress and Administration, from a mountain of taxes that will crush the American people forever."

Mr. Everts, in his eloquent address at the unveiling of the Seward statue in New York city, on the 27th ult., said: "Mr. Seward believed it was the consent of the citizen that made the safety and greatness of the nation, and not the power that could coerce citizens," and the New York World sought to insinuate that the nation during a rebellion, had no power to coerce citizens. The World is the democratic mouthpiece, but how does its utterance tally with those of the southern confederates during these "piping time of peace?" "Carry the election peacefully if you can; if you can't, if you must, try the rope; if it works well down here, if they don't vote the ticket shoot them."

Could we but record the multitudinous witnesses said, by "high Democratic authority, to have been buried, suborned, and withheld, by the government, in the case of Gen. Babcock, we undoubtedly could fill columns. But the reformers, from Tilden to Alexander, (and God knows we can go no lower), have ransacked vault, hell, and the grave, to procure them, whereby to convict the accused. Not that they care a straw for smirching the officer of engineers who has been impoverished in defending his good name, but the Democracy are driven to such desperate straits in their efforts to counteract the tidal wave of Tilden's perjury, Hendricks' nautic claim, Dorsheimer's millage prevarications, and Sin-a-it's pitiful ex-ross of his chief's frauds, that their followers literally go about the streets in their peevish imbecility asking the other "what can we do to be saved?"

EPHILON.

Yellow Fever in the South.

The yellow fever is prevailing to an alarming extent in some of the Southern States. In Savannah, Ga., the death rate is the highest ever known, the daily estimate being placed at fifty-six. This is a greater mortality than in 1854, when it averaged fifty-one. The gloom and depression in the city is terrible, there being over 2,000 people sick with the yellow fever. The fatality is notable among the wealthier classes.

Over 8,000 people applied for relief on the 23d ult., many of them representing large families, and the destitution is great. The negroes are without exception, almost dependent upon the benevolent societies and are helped equally with the whites. The epidemic in 1854 ended with the black frost on November 10, and it is expected the scourge will hardly end much sooner this year. Contrary to former experiences, the fatality this year increases with the progress of the epidemic. Every city and township in Georgia has assisted Savannah to the best of their ability; but matters have passed beyond local control, and the state now appeals to the entire country for aid. Reports state that there are over six hundred cases in Brunswick, in the same state, which is nearly half of the population of that town.

Before and After Tilden's Statement.

Before Mr. Tilden made his long answer through his law clerk, the Albany (New York) Times, a Democratic journal of great influence, published in the very shadow of the capitol, and a close observer of Governor Tilden, spoke as follows:

"The charge has been made that Mr. Tilden has 'perjured' himself, in that he made contradictory affidavits on the subject of his income. That charge has not been met by those organs in which the public would naturally look to find an explanation. Mr. Tilden stands before the country as the great 'reformer' seeking the suffrages of the people as an honest man, who will rout fraud and corruption wherever they are found. Whatever may be true concerning Mr. Tilden we deem it but fair that a reasonable time should be extended to him in which to meet this charge with a specific denial. Mr. Ottendorfer, of the Staats Zeitung, has the true conception of the case, and expresses it as follows: 'If Mr. Tilden cannot give a satisfactory explanation in this matter he is certainly not a fit candidate for the Presidency.' We will only add that delays sometimes prove dangerous. It should be remembered that this is an aggressive campaign, and the people may not accept the feigning remarks of journals as an answer to the charge."

And now, after he has had his statement published, it prints these words: "If Governor Tilden required no defense, why is one attempted? If a defense was considered necessary, why was it not undertaken by some body besides a mere law clerk? Again, a charge originally embraced in a paragraph ought not to require three or four columns of denial and explanation to expose its true character. We are not able to persuade ourselves that the defense of Judge Simont' has been entirely successful. However, the election will not probably turn on that alone. The effort is being made to hinge the result on 'reforma.'"

This has considerable significance in view of the fact that this journal zealously supports every ticket the Democracy has put in nomination—Congressional and State, but not that headed by Governor Tilden.

Governor Pillsbury, of Minnesota received a telegraph at Philadelphia announcing the killing of one and the capture of three others of the Northfield bank robbers.

Holloway's Ointment.

Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, Sores and Ulcers. All descriptions of sores are remediable by the proper and diligent use of this inestimable preparation. To attempt to cure bad legs by plastering the edges of the wound together is a folly; for should the skin unite, a boggy abscessed condition remains underneath to break out with tenfold fury in a few days. The only rational and successful treatment, as indicated by nature, is to reduce the inflammation in and about the wound and to soothe the neighboring parts by rubbing in plenty of the Ointment as it is forced into most of the pores of the skin.

A MATTER OF POPULAR INTEREST.

We condemn from the Liberator the substance of a conversation which took place in Philadelphia on the 11th inst. between the Editor of the Liberator and a certain person in America. A visitor once attended the speakers:

Q. "What order do you take with goods?" A. "They are first opened and arranged in the basement on long low counters, and taken thence on the freight elevator to the inspectors' room on the first floor."

Q. "In inspecting the first operation?" A. "No, sir, measuring. The goods are first measured in the price, then inspected. The cloth passes over rollers in the face of a strong light, and two men sit, one before and one behind the rollers, watching with the eye of a hawk for the least pin-hole imperfection, and avoid it when he comes to cut the goods."

Q. "You must employ an army of cutters?" A. "Come to our fifth floor and see. We keep to hands all the time cutting up the cloth into garments—men's suits, and a dozen men work each at a stroke."

Q. "Do you manufacture all your own goods?" A. "We do, and most carefully. Our customers inspect every article and learn, and certify to every garment as extra well made before we put our ticket on it, and become responsible for it."

Q. "Your system must save you a great deal?" A. "In every direction, sir. It is the system and economy we practice all the way through, that enables us to put our price down to the people as we do."

Q. "After inspecting the work, what becomes of it?" A. "Before it goes into Stock it is ticketed. Every single garment has its number and other points noted on it, so that the goods may be traced without fail, upon our books."

Q. "You must have 50 or 60 salesmen?" A. "Why, sir, on busy days you may see 100 salesmen, and be sure of the price—Wanted: a large stock of all kinds of Goods usually kept in a first class country Store. His stock consists of—"
