Simple Remedy for Scarlet Fever.— Take an onion and cut it in halves, cut out a portion of the centre, and into the cavity put a spoonful of saffron; put the pieces together, then wrap in cloth and bake it in an oven until the onion is cooked so that the juice will run freely, then squeeze out all the juice and give the patient a tesspoonful, at the same time rubbing the chest and throat with goose grease or rancid bacon, if there is any cough do soreness in the throat. In a short time the fever will break out in an eruption all over the body. All that is then necessary is to keep the patient warm and protected from draught, and recovery is certain.

IF you have something to attend to, go about it cooly and thoughtfully, and do it just as well as you can. Do it as though it were the only thing you had to do in your life, and as if every thing depended upon it. Then your work will be well done, and it will afford you genuine satisfaction. Often much you genuine satisfaction. Often much more does depending upon the manner in which things seemingly trivial are performed than one would suppose or than it is possible to foresce. Do everything well. Make that the rule of your life, and live up to it, and you will find it most conducive to your some autumn varieties are fit to eat a few weeks after picking, while others keep into early winter. The latter or winter kinds should be left on the trees until weeks after picking, while others keep into early winter. The latter or winter kinds should be left on the trees until the fruit has nothing more to gain by hanging. No work done by the fruit grower will pay so well as assorting the fruit after picked. A few poor apples will spoil the sale of good ones; the whole will be judged by the poorest.—Winter fruit should be kept in a cool cellar, as cool as possible without freezing.—Pears need more careful attention the n = es. Half barrels, lined with v shilfaper, with the fruit packed in b, nand, are the best for keeping all kinds except specimens of high colored fruit; these should be wrapped singly in soft paper and placed in single layers in shallow boxes.

AFTER THE FARMERS.—Farmers should be on their guard, A new dodge of swindling has been put in operation. Several strange men drive through an agricultural district. They stop at all the farm houses and make a contract to take all the butter the farm can furnish at 50 cents per pound. Further, it will be gathered up by fast special teams and the cash paid for it at the door. The pretense is that during the fall and winter, the large cities will be overcrowded and that butter will be scarce. In this way all the farmers in a district are contracted with, and arrangements are made to come for the butter on certain days and at certain points; the contract to go into effect in two weeks. A few days after the departure of the mon a drove of cows come along. They are fine looking milch cows. The farmers having agood thing in view think they might use a few more cowe. They try to buy them and the drover dosen't seem to be anxious to sell. Finally, however, he is induced to sell two or throe to sach farmer at prices considerably higher than the real market value. He then departs, most in parkners, who put up the butter job and they devide their profits. This is the less the farmers, hears of it.—E.
