It is there one thing that shocks the Democratic mind more than another, it is that the fall trade is opening briskly.

EVERY rebel jailer or guard who was at Andersonville, Belle Isle, and Libbey Prison supports Samuel J. Tilden, says the New York Commercial.

Half a million of dollars of Southern claims growing out of the war are found to have been approved by the Democratic House. Were they for damages or trespass?

TILDEN is and always has been such an earnest reformer that he would not wait for Congress to reduce the income taxes of the poor people, but he began it with himself in a private, modest sort of a way.

WHICH SHALL WE HAVE?—The grand issue of the contest between Hayes and Tilden: A relapse into the tyrannical and loathsome despotism of the old slave barbarism in the success of Tilden; or the maintenance of the ever increasing forces of civilization—light, happiness, and comfort for all—nationality and freedom—in the triumph of Hayes!

Judge Stanley Matthews, of Cincinnati, considers it certain that Hayes and Wheeler will carry Ohio by from 20,000 to 25,000 majority, and that Indiana will give them a majority of about 10,000, because a large number of Greenbackers, who voted for Williams, will not vote for Tilden. He believes that the Republicans will get the electoral vote of every Northern State.

TILDEN'S VERACITY.—Down goes the national debt. The Republican Administration persist in paying it off. Since Grant was inaugurated over six hundred millions have been liquidated. In the face of this fact Tilden said the Government did not live within its income. It certainly would not have done so had all taxpayers been as dishonest as the great railroad wrecker.

SCHURZ ON HAYES.—Says Carl Schurz: "As a foreign-born citizen who loves his rights dearly as anybody, I do not hesitate to declare that if there is any man in this country in whose hands I would consider my rights safe as in my own, that man is Rutherford B. Hayes. I shall therefore vote to make him President with a feeling of the most absolute safety."

If the South will pay for the war her leaders brought on, if the South will restore the husband to the widow, the brother to the brother, the son to his parents, the Government will consider it claim for $2,500,022,386. But never, never will the Republican party allow the disbanded Confederate Congress to come to Washington and draw the amount of these unjust claims from the United States Treasury.

The Republicans of this country, by the assistance of all good men, have a work to achieve of vast importance. That work is before us and there are but a few days remaining in which to accomplish it. The idea of a "Solid South" must be met by a solid East, West, and North. The opposition have dropped the hoodwink of "reform." They never meant it. By united action and individual effort we will. Onward at once!

GOLDEN WORDS.—"Until every question arising out of the rebellion relating to the integrity of the nation and to human rights has been settled, and settled rightly, no man ought to be trusted with power in this country who, during the struggle for the nation's life, was unfaithful to the Union and liberty."
Rutherford B. Hayes, in a speech in 1867.

"I would prefer to go into this war, if I knew I was to die or be killed in the course of it, rather than live through and after it without taking any part in it."
Rutherford B. Hayes, in 1867.

marked improvement in business, the first indications of vitality, which has been beyond the ability of manufacturers to supply. The improvement has extended to nearly all the great manufacturing interests, the recent reduction in the price of coal affording many of the large establishments a profit, where they formerly ran at a loss. American cotton fabrics are meeting a large demand from regions where they were formerly unable to successfully compete with those of other countries. A great war in Europe, which now appears to be certain, would create a large market for broad-stuffs which the United States can readily supply. The country has certainly reached the bottom of its business embarrassments, and is now on the upward grade, if no disturbing elements arise in the politics or finances of the nation.

A DETAILED summary of the bills for the payment of Southern war claims, which were introduced into the Democratic Congress at its last session, has been carefully prepared from advance sheets of the Congressional Record, and the following is a recapitulation of them:

Rebuilding levees on Mississippi river	$5,250,000
Refunding bridges to West Virginia	2,000,000
Refund of cotton tax	8,000,000
Supplies used or destroyed	1,250,000
Loss and occupation of property	1,800,000
Restoration of captured property	5,000,000
Refund and remission of direct tax	5,125,000
Disloyal mail contractors	300,000
Disloyal elements under repeal of section 3,500 of the revised statute	500,000
Private relief bills	4,710,000
Total	$23,835,000

It will thus be seen that the total sum proposed to be appropriated amounts to more than our national debt. In view of this amazing fact the importance of a Republican majority in the next Congress cannot possibly be exaggerated.

THE DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN INVESTMENT.—The large sums employed by the Democracy in the present campaign has surprised many people. Where the money comes from is no mystery. The wealthy of the party helped for their advances to secure Tilden's election by a small percentage upon the vast aggregate of rebel claims ($2,483,241,361 introduced by Confederate representatives at the last session of the House. A return of these advances is to follow immediately upon Tilden assuming office. It will be remembered that, at the last session, while the Democracy cut down the expenses of the Government, they reduced no taxes, neither by a reduction of the tariff, nor of the internal revenue. Consequently, at the close of the fiscal year, in the Treasury there will be a heavy surplus, out of which the payment of the rebel claims will immediately begin, and the advances for election purposes returned.

In other words, in the event of Tilden's election the government will be overwhelmed by the payment of rebel claims now forbidden by law, from the payment of which all advances for Democratic election purposes will be reimbursed. The nation ruined by the payment of foot soldiers' claims, and made to foot the bill of its own ruin. Such is Democracy—Democratic reform!

Voters of Snyder County.
We copy the following from the Advocate and Press, and recommend a careful reading and a conscientious action upon the impulse and disposition to do engendered by such fair and unbiased reading.

If during the rebellion any one had proposed to turn over the affairs of the Government into the hands of those who were in sympathy with the rebellion they would have been denounced as traitors and public enemies. To-day a great party proposes to do what in 1861 or 1864 would have aroused public indignation. It proposes to turn over the Government to those who not only sympathized with the rebellion, but to those who actually participated in it, and who to-day hate the Government as much as they did when they were forced to lay down their arms at Appomattox.

The ex-Confederates control Democracy, and if Democracy should win they would control the nation. There may be a few loyal men in the Democratic ranks, who mean well and who would not follow if these ex-rebel leaders should undertake to carry out their schemes, but they are in a hopeless minority and could no more control the party or shape its policy, if once in power, than a penny whistle could draw the roar of the tompost.

A solid South for Democracy means the marshaling of the disloyal element of that section against the loyal North. There can be no other meaning to it, and blind indeed is that citizen who is led into any other belief. A solid South, if triumphant, would lead to the depreciation of our currency, the loss of public credit, the increase of the national debt, the paralysis of our industries, and the eventual bankruptcy, through repudiation, of the nation.

If it is wise to confront dangers when they come, it is greater wisdom to take steps to prevent their coming.

These steps can be taken by voting the Republican ticket, and we appeal to all who love their country better than party; to all whose reason has not become the slave of prejudice; to all who value liberty above oppression; and who have the good of mankind at heart, to vote the Republican ticket. The party to-day is as great a defense to the Union as our armies were during the rebellion. To destroy it would be even worse than the surrender of the Union army would have been to the rebel Confederacy.

We have seen some unscrupulous, calculating the paper closing out "or" a stock of goods on the injury to our business that we are still do, at the old stand and prop. Our assortment is as good, better than any in the country. We ask all our old customers to continue with us and invite all others to call and examine our goods and prices. We have by honorable and fair dealings built up a trade and propose continuing the same way.

The receipts of the Pennsylvania railroad company for October are estimated to have been about $1,000,000, probably one-half of which were profits.

Don't fail to go to the election on Tuesday, 7th inst. and vote the entire Republican Ticket.

The great danger of allowing the Democratic party to obtain control in all the branches of the Government, is that they would temporarily bankrupt the country by allowing Southern war claims and damages for property destroyed during the war amounting to millions and millions, and by pensioning off Confederate soldiers. The Confederates, if they get the power to do as they please—and the election of Tilden would go far to give them that power—would claim that the Confederate soldiers fought honestly as American citizens for an honest purpose, and in as good a spirit as the Northern soldiers who have been pensioned, and that they were provoked and driven into war by the North. There would even be danger that the claims for the value of slaves would be considered and paid. But, say Democrats, the Constitutional amendments prevent the payment of Rebel war claims and the value of slaves. When did the Democratic South care a fig for the Constitution? It succeeded—it claimed it had the Constitutional right to secede, and Northern Democrats opposed to the bitter end every Constitutional amendment declaring Rebel war claims should not be paid. Put Confederates in power in the Executive chair, in both branches of Congress, and the U. S. Supreme Court, and they will have "indemnity for the past and security for the future." They will do again what they did do. History repeats itself. The only safe and sensible plan is to govern the Union by the defenders of the Union. And besides, this is the only way known to the imperious demands of genuine patriotism.

Republican Prospects.
Mr. Chandler, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, has issued the following address:
Republican National Committee
Fifth Avenue Hotel, October 19.
The Republican national committee congratulates the party which it represents and the country upon the results of the fall elections already held. In Maine a majority of less than 5,000 has been increased to nearly 15,000. In Vermont the old ascendancy has been fully maintained. In Colorado a Democratic majority of 2,000 has been overcome and a Republican Governor and both branches of the Legislature have been elected, securing two United States Senators and three Presidential electors. In Ohio, a Republican majority of 5,500 has been increased to between 9,000 and 10,000, and five Republican Congressmen have been gained. In Indiana a Democratic majority of 17,000 has been reduced to 5,000, with a gain of four Republican Congressmen and the Legislature upon joint ballot. These highly gratifying results have been obtained in the face of frauds at the ballot box and an unparalleled use of money by the opposition. They show the drift of popular sentiment, and clearly indicate a national victory for the Republican party in November. All that is now necessary is to continue the vigorous prosecution of the canvass, to secure protection for all citizens in the right of the ballot, to bring all legal voters to the polls, and to practice the utmost vigilance upon the day of the election. Fortunately for the country, our candidates represent the best spirit of reform, to which they are pledged by every act and utterance of their lives. Their success alone will insure honest administration and preserve the government from the unscrupulous hands of those who recently sought to destroy it, and who now seek to prey upon its resources.
