CHRONIC DISEASES Cured, New paths marked out to Health by that ploneer of all books—PLAIN HOME TALK AND MEDICAL COMMON SENSE, which contains nearly 1,000 pages of original matter, as entertaining as a thrilling story. Health and long life made easy for the learned and unlearned. Crammed full of brand new ideas, which are cheering to the sick, and intensely entertaining to those who are fortunate enough to escape disease. It guards the tender against the pitfalls of human suffering, and points the way of deliverance to those who are already engulphed. By all means, find out all about it. It is for you. It's author, Dr. E. B. FOOTE, of 120 LEXINGTON AVENUE, New York, is consulted by invalids at home and abroad, in person and by letter, and has had the experience of nearly a quarter of a century in the treatment of long standing and difficult diseases of every character; hence his ability to write practical truths for the invalid reader. His consultations are FREE to the sick everywhere; hence his immense correspondence with the sick all over the globe. YOU, READER, ARE AT LIBERTY to consult the able author of Plain Home Talk and Medical Common Sense. Write to him and you will be struck with his Common Sense. Whatever your malady, you will receive light which will do you good, by investing only 2 postage stamp, and waiting to Dr. F. We wish to interest you in both the doctor and his immortal book. The Book itself, which gives satisfaction to all who read it, can be had of agents, or of the publishers direct. Plain muslin binding, $2.50, in the English or German language. Library binding, in English only, $3.75. Sent by mail, postage prepaid, on receipt of the price. A lady writes the author: "I have always felt that you were the physician of the world, from the fact of your wonderful success and original ideas." One reader says—"I have found it to be one of the grandest works of the age." Another says—"I would not be without it for twice its cost." Similar letters reach the author every day. Contents table free.

SCIENCE IN STORY; also by Dr. FOOTE. Cheap edition. 5 vols. in 1, neatly bound, $2; in 5 separate vols. at $5 and $7.50, according to binding. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Just the thing for young people. Contents table free.

Three Points for Consideration.

During the past five years the Vegetine has been steadily working itself into public favor, and those who were at first most incredulous in regard to its merits are now its most ardent friends and supporters.

There are three essential causes for those having such a horror of patent medicines, changing their opinion and leading their influence toward the advancement of Vegetine, 1st—It is an honestly-prepared medicine from barks, roots and herbs. 2d—It honestly accomplishes all that is claimed for it, without leaving any bad effects in the system. 3d—It presents honest vouchers in testimonials from honest, well-known citizens, whose signatures are a sufficient guarantee of their earnestness in the matter. Taking into consideration the vast quantity of medicine brought conspicuously before the public through the flaming advertisements in the newspapers columns, with no proof of merit or genuine vouchers of any kind to back them, we should be pardoned for manifesting a small degree of pride in presenting the following testimonial from Rev. J. S. DICKERSON, D. D., the esteemed and ever-genial pastor of the SOUTH BAPTIST CHURCH, BOSTON:

The Tired Body Sues for Sleep.

BOSTON, March 16, 1874.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—It is as much from a sense of duty as of gratitude that I write to say that your Vegetine—even if it is a patent medicine—has been of great help to me, when nothing else seemed to avail which I could safely use. Either excessive mental work or mental care brings upon me a nervous exhaustion that desperately needs sleep, but as desperately defies it. Night after night the poor, tired body sues for sleep until the day-dawn is welcomed back, and we begin our work tired out with an almost fruitless chase after rest. Now I have found that a little Vegetine taken just before I retire gives me sweet and immediate sleep, and without any of the evil effects of the usual narcotics. I think two things would tend to make brain-workers sleep. 1st—A little less work. 2d—A little more Vegetine. This prescription has helped me.

Now I have a particular horror of "patent medicine," but I have a greater horror of being afraid to tell the straight out truth. The Vegetine has helped me, and I own it up.

Yours &c.,
J. S DICKERSON,

Valuable Evidence.

The following unsolicited testimonial from Rev. O. T. Walker, D. D., formerly pastor of Bowdoin Square Church and at present settled in Providence, R. I., must be esteemed as reliable evidence.

No one should fail to observe that this testimonial is the result of two years' experience with the use of Vegetine in the Rev. Mr. Walker's family, who now pronounces it invaluable:

PROVIDENCE, R. I., 194 Transit Street.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.

I feel bound to express with my signature the high value I place upon your Vegetine. My family have used it for the last two years. In nervous debility it is invaluable, and I recommend it to all who may need an invigorating, renovating tonic.

O. T. WALKER,
Formerly Pastor of Bowdoin Square Church, Boston

The Best Evidence.

The following letter from Rev. E. S. BEST, pastor M. E. Church, Natick, Mass., will be read with interest by many physicians. Also those suffering from the same disease as afflicted the wife of Rev. E. S. Best. No person can doubt this testimony, and there is no doubt about the curative powers of Vegetine:

NATICK, Mass., Jan. 1, 1874.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—We have good reason for regarding your Vegetine a medicine of the greatest value. We feel that it has been the means of saving our son's life. He is now seventeen years of age; for the last two years he has suffered from necrosis of his leg, caused by scrofulous affection, and was so far reduced that all who saw him thought his recovery impossible. A council of able physicians could give us but the slightest hope. He was rallying, two of the number declaring that he was beyond the reach of human remedies, that even amputation could not save him, as he had not vigor enough to endure the operation. Just then we commenced giving him Vegetine, and from that time to the present he has been continuously improving. He has lately resumed his studies, thrown away crutches and cane, and walks about cheerfully and strong.

Though there is still some discharge from the opening where the limb was lanced, we have the fullest confidence that in a little time he will be perfectly cured.

He has taken about three dozen bottles of Vegetine, but lately uses but little, as he declares that he is too well to be taking medicine.

Respectfully yours,
E. S. BEST,
MRS. L. C. F. BEST,

Reliable Evidence.

178 Baltic Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 14, '74.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—From personal benefit received by its use, as well as from personal knowledge of those whose cures thereby have seemed almost miraculous, I can most heartily and sincerely recommend the Vegetine for the complaints for which it is claimed to cure.

Victoria's Crown Jewels.

The imperial crown of the Queen of England, which she wears on state occasions, is perhaps the costliest head-dress worn by any sovereign in the world. It comprises in jewels four large rubies, one of immense size, irregularly shaped and polished; one large brooch-spread sapphire, and fifteen smaller ones; eleven emeralds, thirteen hundred and sixty-three brilliant diamonds, twelve hundred and seventy-three rose diamonds one hundred and forty-seven table diamonds, four large pear-shaped pearls, and two hundred and seventy three round pearls, in all, three thousand and ninety-one jewels. The crown was made by the command of Queen Victoria, in 1838, by Rundell & Bridge of Lloudon, with jewels taken in part from old crowns, and others furnished by her Majesty. It is thus described by Professor Tennant, the present mineralogist to the Queen:

"It consists of diamonds pearls, rubies, sapphires, and emeralds, set in silver and gold. It has a crimson velvet cap with ermine border, and is lined with white silk. Its gross weight is thirty-nine ounces, five pennyweights troy. The lower part of the band above the ermine border, consists of a row of one hundred and twenty-nine pearls, and the upper part of the band of a row of one hundred and twelve pearls, between which, in front of the crown, is a large sapphire (partly drilled) purchased for the crown by King George IV. At the back is a sapphire of smaller size and six other sapphires, (three on each side,) between which are eight emeralds. Above and below the seven sapphires are fourteen diamonds, and around the eight emeralds are one hundred and twenty-eight diamonds. Between the emeralds and sapphires are sixteen trefoil ornaments containing one hundred and sixty diamonds. Above the band are eight sapphires, surmounted by eight diamonds, between which are eight festoons consisting of one hundred and forty diamonds. In the front of the crown, and in the centre of a diamond Maltese cross, is the famous ruby, said to have been given to Edward, Prince of Whales—son of Edward III., called the Black Prince—by Don Pedro, King of Castile, after the battle of Najera, near Victoria, A. D. 1367. This ruby was worn in the helmet of Henry V. at the battle of Agincourt, A. D. 1415. It is pierced quite through after the Eastern custom, the upper part of the piercing being filled up by a small ruby. Around this ruby, in order to form the cross, are seventy-five brilliant diamonds. Three other Maltese crosses, forming the two sides and back of the crown, have emerald centres, and contain respectively one hundred and thirty-two; one hundred and thirty-three brilliant diamonds. Between the Maltese crosses are four ornaments in the form of French Fleur-de lis, with four rubies in the centres, and surrounded by rose diamonds, containing respectively eighty-five, eighty six, and eighty-seven rose diamonds. From the Maltese crosses issue four imperial arches, composed of oak leaves and acorns. The leaves contain seven hundred and twenty-eight rose, table and brilliant diamonds. Thirty-two pearls form the acorns, set in cups containing fifty-four rose diamonds and one table diamond. The total number of diamonds in the arches and acorns is one hundred and eight brilliants, one hundred and sixteen table diamonds, and five hundred and fifty-nine rose diamonds. From the upper part of the arches are suspended four large, pendant pear-shaped pearls, with rose-diamond cups containing twelve rose diamonds. Above the arch stands the mound, containing in the lower hemisphere three hundred and four brilliants and in the upper hemisphere two hundred and twenty-four brilliants—the zone and arch being composed of thirty-three rose diamonds. The cross on the summit has a rose-cut sapphire in the centre, surrounded by four large brilliants and one hundred and eight smaller brilliants."

It is recorded of Mr. Moody that when a small boy he had little faith in prayer. Once when he was creeping under a heavy fence, it fell down upon him and caught him so that he could not get away. He struggled till he was quite exhausted and then began to cry for help; but he was far from any house and no one heard him. At last he got safely out, and this was the account he gave of his escape: "I tried and tried, and I couldn't lift them awful heavy rails: then I hollered for help, but nobody came; and then I began to think I should have to die away up there on the mountains all alone. But I happened to think, may be God would help me, so I asked Him. And after that I could lift the rails just as easy!" His last term of school was in the winter of his 17th year. He was the leading spirit among the boys, and so much mischief did he lead them into that at length the teacher was in despair and threatened to turn him out: At this his mother was sorely grieved. She told him how much ashamed she should be to have one of her sons turned out of school, and directed him to go to the teacher, ask forgiveness of his bad conduct, and try to be a credit to his mother rather than a disgrace. This he did in all sincerity, and all the rest of the term, for the first time in his life, applied himself faithfully to study. But it was too late for him to become a scholar.

Diptheria of a most malignant character is prevailing in portions of Orange county, N. Y. One family lost four children within four days, and in another two were buried on one day. There are many cases, and a widespread feeling of anxiety prevails.

TO ALL!

Itching Piles

Are generally preceded by a moisture, then perspiration; distressing itching as though pin-worms were crawling in and about the rectum, particularly at night, when undressing, or in bed after getting warm; often times shows itself around the private parts, and frequently females are sorely afflicted, extending into the vagina, proving very distressing.
