A jury was empanneled who rendered a verdict that deceased came to his death from choaking. SUDDEN DEATH.—This community was shocked on Friday morning last when the news began to spread that during the night Mrs. George Schnure had suddenly died. Her death occurred about 10 o'clock in the evening, a short time after she had retired to bed. Feeling a suffocating sensation, she got up and went to the window to get a draft of fresh air. Vomiting also ensued. Mr. Schnure gave her all the aid he could and sent after a physician as well as several members of the family who where at a neighbors house enjoying a sociable entertainment. But she died as soon as the physician arrived. We believe she remarked, as soon as seized with suffocation, that she believed this would kill her. These were the last words she spoke. She was a Miss Spyker of Lewisburg, was Mr. Schnure's second wife, and was highly esteemed by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She was nearly 56 years of age.—Times 19, inst.

West Beaver Teachers' Institute.

KLINE'S SCHOOL-HOUSE, Jan. 18, '77. Teachers present, Messrs. Ulsh, Filson. Wagner, Edmonds, Glass, Spangler, Lepley John Steely, Joseph Steely Misses. Bowes and McGlinsey. Essay by Libbie Bowes: subject, 'Home education.' The essay contained some very good points, of which we will give a few. 'Some parents conclude to educate their children at home. They have the qualification and means to do so; and what place can be better for the proper training and development of the mental and physical powers of a child, than home?"

"The whole physical, mental, and moral education can be under the control of the parents. Surrounded by such favorable circumstances, it seems scarcely possible that the seed of sin could be sown.' 'This theory has its bright side full of hope and promise and works well with some few children, who would be model children under any circumstance. But the mass of children, in order to be qualified to live and act their past in the world, must be educated with the world.' 'If the little world of home were to constitute all their future life-world, then" by all means give them the home education but the real world, on whose stages they will soon be ushered will be divested of all these loving eyes and forgiving hearts, and will subject them to an ordeal, to pass which will require the experimental preparation of all their previous years. 'We would not be understood as wishing to lessen the influences of home. No, we would rather, if possible increase its power; but we would not make it a juvenile hermitage. We would make it be a harbor, into which the frail vessel when launched on the ocean of life, might run for shelter from storm, —a place for refuge,—a beacon light ever burning to warn off the reefs and quicksands,—the store house of counsel and comfort.

The subject of arithmetic was then taken up and taught by J. O. Wagner.

Afternoon Session. Mr. Filson gave an interesting account of the reunion at Middleburg. Primary Reading was then taught by J. Lepley. He formed a class of little children present and taught them from the black-board. Geography was taught by W. Ulsh. Place selected for meeting Feb. 3. J. Ulsh's School-house. Lecturers for the above mentioned place. Messrs Filson and Jno. Steely. Adjourned.

Capitol Letter.

HARRISBURG Jan. 20, 1877.

This has been an important and eventful week as it marks the first of real substantial progress in either branch and as we predicted gives promise of a short session of honest faithful legislation. In the senate twenty-six bills have already been introduced only a few of which have been reported from the committees and passed third reading. From these the most important are an act relating to Orphans' Courts providing for the payment of money to foreign guardians; an act prescribing the duties of the judgs of courts of common pleas in their charges to the jury and answers to points of law; an act granting power to borough councils to fill any vacancies that may occur in their own body until the succeeding municipal election. In the house an act to provide for the payment of justices costs in certain cases; to submit to the voters of this commonwealth the question of removing the capitol to Phila., to secure the compensation to be received by arbtrators; act to stay the execution of judgment for two years in certain cases; act giving priority to all claims for the wages of manual labor, to revise, amend and consolidate existing laws for the assessments and collection of state taxes and county borough and township rates and levies; and act substituting a poll tax in lieu of that on trades professions and occupations; to regulate stay of execution in certain cases. These include all the bills of general or local importance. Others of a minor character are on the calendar but they do not affect your locality.

THE PROSPECT,

therefore, notwithstanding the seeming delay at first warrants our previous assertion. The effort of the democratic side of the house is to retard and interrupt legislation so as, if possible to make as bad a record as that which blurs the the pages of the past few years. The republican leaders are bold, able, and determined they will see that the work they have been sent to transact is done well and as speedily as its faithful execution will permit The service of the democratic side of the house will not be sufficent to repay the cost of printing their speeches on the record.

PRESIDENTIAL MUDDLE.

This question has occupied the attention of the legislature to some extent. A series of resolutions were introduced recommending that Congress decide the question constitutionally, honestly and in accord with the precedents, and pledging the moral and material support of this state in the inauguration of the lawfully declared elected president. Against this the democracy raised a terrible but useless howl and introduced in their stead a set of partisan resolutions the plan of which would certainly result in the election of "Slippery Sam," but even they became ashamed of these and their consideration was indefinitely postponed by a unanimous vote of the house yesterday. The former resolutions were adopted by a strict party vote Another movement having reference to this same question has been freely discussed in Republican caucus but not brought publicly before the legislature. That is the question of placing in the hands of the governor a sufficient sum of money to put the National guard of the state in point of number and equipment in readiness for active service if they should be demanded by the exigencies of the circumstances. This matter was only suggested by the disloyal threats of democratic leaders and papers and has been left for the present to be determined as facts may develop in the future. Your readers may rest assured that our state will be among the first to protect from insult or danger the national or constitutional authorities.

GOVERNOR'S RECEPTION.

This most brilliant of any that has taken place in this city occured on Thursday evening. Fully five hundred guests were present representing the members of the legislature, heads of departments, distinguished guests from different portions of the state and the governor's military staff in full uniform whose regalia formed a beautiful contrast to the rich velvets, satins and silks of the ladies and the sombre broad cloth of the gentlemen. The festivities interspersed with dancing continued until midnight when the happy throng wended their ways homeward.

DON.

ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN.—Young man, stop and consider the year you are just entering. Let not the past with its expectations unrealized deter you from renewed effort in the cause of honesty and progress; neither allow the successes of the past to embolden you to extra hazardous undertaking. Remember that integrity, a due regard to your fellows, with perseverance, will —humanity speaking—be, rewarded with success in business, form a character which will stand the test of time, and compel the admiration of the community. To preserve that integrity, cultivate a proper self-respect. Respect yourself, and from the high order of thought and feeling which you will thus cultivate, you will learn to respect others. No man can maintain a sound self-respect, if he associates with the vile, the debauched, and reckless. Virtue flourishes not in the pestilential atmosphere of vice. Integrity cannot live in the chamber of falsehood. Let your associates be from among the good as they are known by their daily walk. Avoid the society which holds its nightly meetings on street corners and in the saloon. If tipplers "entice thee, consent thou not" to be of their number. Break off from such, right here and now. You cannot be in daily contact with the thing you should avoid without being finally overcome by it. It is the constant dropping of the water that wears away the rock. The man who plays with fire must be singed. Ink will blacken the whitest paper. Did you ever know a boy who associated with liars who did not imbibe the contagion? Evil communications corrupted good manners in the time of St. Paul, and human nature runs in much the same life grooves to day. The world—especially business men—makes great account of a young man's associations in selecting an employe. They have traveled so far in life as to have learned the power and value of good associates. Do not allow yourself to be fascinated by mere glitter, and never be hasty in forming judgment of those with whom you meet in the business of life. Much of the prompt acceptance or rejection of business offers, which now passes for intuitive business ability, is the variest guesswork. It is most surface indications of a poorly balanced mind. Take time to consider an offer, but, when once accepted, execute the contract to the letter. Let your character for integrity be such that your simple word is as good as your seal.—Ex.

SCARCITY OF MONEY.—There is no doubt but the present condition of all kinds of business, and industry is fearfully depressed, and it behooves every family to look carefully to their expenses. Winter is coming on when children are liable to Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Coughs and Colds will prevail everywhere, and Consumption with other throat and lung diseases, will carry off many.—These diseases should not be neglected, Doctor's bills are eXpensive, and we would advise our people to use BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP. It never has failed. One bottle at 75 cents will keep your whole family well during the winter. Two doses will relieve any case. Sold in all towns in the United States, and by your Druggist, John A. Monta Oct. 5, '76.

A CARD TO THE AMERICAN PUBLIC.—For many years we have made two medicines sell-it to the ailments of a vast class of sufferers. Thousands of cures have been made by them and, in fact, the word failure could never be coupled with them. But within the last two years counterfeits of our medicine have sprung up dangerous in their close imitation of our trade Mark. To secure the people we have placed upon each genuine box of Holloway's Pills and Ointment a Government Stamp similar to the signature of our Agent, Mr. Joseph Taylor, without which none is genuine. We shall relentlessly pursue any one found guilty of this with the utmost vigor of the law. We most earnestly beg that the great mass of the American people will aid us in our efforts to protect their health, and help us in our task of bringing these most unprincipled men to the bar of justice. Unless all refuse to purchase Holloway's pills or ointment unless the Mr. Joseph Taylor's signature is attached to each box of Pills or Pot of Ointment and the seal will soon be reached.

The public's obedient servants,
HOLLOWAY & CO.

THE SUN.

1877. NEW YORK. 1877.

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will in every way be a sheet of four pages, and on Sunday it will be a sheet of double size, while the weekly edition will be a sheet of the same dimensions and of the same character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the extermination of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, insincerity, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—a body now not far from a million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy account of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate, and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for THE WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be glad to them, and every such person who sends us one or more subscribers from one place with the cash will become entitled to the value for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are merely repaid; and considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world and we trust also one of the very best.

It has been a HEALTHY RESORT for some years past for people suffering from pulmonary affections, such as Coughs, Colds, Asthma, and debility, many thousands have entirely recovered.

A new Brick Hotel has just been completed, 100 feet front, with back buildings, four stories high, including French roof, and all modern improvements for the accommodation of visitors.

Price of FARM LANDS only $5 per Acre, payable by instalments within the period of four years. On the above plan of payments, 10 to 20 acres of land will count fully as much as 100 acres further north.

Persons unacquainted with Fruit Growing, can become familiar with it in a short time on account of surroundings.

Five Acres One Acre, and Town Lots in the town of Landisville and Vineland, also for sale.

Whilst visiting the Centennial Exhibition, Vineland can be visited at small expense.

A paper containing full information will be sent upon application to CHARLES K. LANDIS, Vineland, N. J., free of cost.

The following is extracted from a description of VINELAND, published in the New York Tribune, by the well known Agriculturist, Solon Robinson:

All the farmers were of the "well to do" sort, and some of them, who have turned their attention to fruits and market gardening, have grown rich. The soil is loam, varying from sandy to clayey, and undulating enough to be interested with small streams and occasional wet meadow, in which deposits of peat or muck are stored, sufficient to fertilize the whole upland surface after it has been exhausted of its natural fertility.

It is certainly one of the most extensive fertile tracts, with an almost level position, and suitable condition of soil for easy cultivation, we know of this side of the Western prairies. We found some of the oldest farms apparently just as profitably productive as when first cleared of forest fifty or a hundred years ago.

The geologists will soon discover the cause of this continued fertility. Low on the country is marly deposit, and all through it are found evidences of various aquatic vegetables, generally in the form of bituminized substances, showing many distinct forms of animal shells, of the tertiary formation; and this marly substance is scattered all through the soil, in a very comminuted form, and in the best condition for easily assimilating by such plants as the former desires to cultivate.
