THE POST.

Middleburg, Feb. 22, 1877.

Local News, &c.

—All communications, business letters &c., for this office, to secure prompt attention should be addressed as follows: THE POST, Middleburg, Snyder County, Pa. Advertisements, communications &c. must be handed in by Monday noon, to secure insertion in next issue

Garden making will be in order in a few days.

Moving day—the day of trouble—is near at hand.

A stormy March and an early Spring is promised.

The festive blue bird will soon make his appearance.

The pruning of grape vines is now in order.

The local option bill is creating considerable excitement.

During the wet, slushy weather, the best advice we can offer is to "Trust in Providence and keep your feet dry."

If the almanac man is to be believed, an eclipse of the moon will take place on the 27th inst.

Last week the weather was mild and spring-like, and overcoats were at a discount.

The Susquehanna river is now free of ice, and all danger past. The stream is falling rapidly.

The country roads are in a bad condition, and traveling over them with vehicles is hard and unpleasant work.

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement headed "What the President Says" in another column.

The Spring term of the Missionary Institute at Selinsgrove, lasting 13 weeks, commences on the first of March.

We can not publish lengthy District Institute proceedings, as there is a great deal of complaint against it by our readers,

TO THE CONSTABLES ELECT.—The Constables elected at the late election, (Tuesday last,) will not take the oath of office until Monday of May Term of Court.

Ladies, You can buy Furs, cheaper of Wagenseller & Son, Selinsgrove, than at any other place in the county. They are selling their large stock at and below cost.

Both parties accept the finding of the Commission. Rational, leading Democrats acquiesce and will heartily sustain President Hayes in the administration of the Government. Right! Pick your flints and try it again.

A two year old daughter of Chas. Kissinger, of Washington Twp., while the mother was at the barn on the morning of the 24 inst., was playing with a candle when its clothes caught fire and the child was so badly burnt that it died soon.

Potatoes are likely to become a tabooed luxury, at least so far as the average eater is concerned, and it may become fashionable to hire a few of the esculents from the grocery to ornament the table on company occasions.

A farmer in Lebanon county, while shoveling snow near his barn a few days ago found thirty partridges frozen to death. Other instances of such discoveries have been noted in our exchanges, and great numbers of these birds must have perished in the snow.

At the last Term of court his Hon. Judge Bucher made the following order: And it is ordered that all licenses granted must be lifted within Fifteen days and upon application to the Clerk of the Q. S for a certificate the applicant must present to the said Clerk a receipt from the County Treasures purporting that the license has been paid.

FIRE AT NEW BERLIN.—Eyer & Dauberman's Planing Mill situated on Penns Creek, New Berlin, Union Co. Pa., was entirely consumed by fire on Wednesday night. There was a large stock of furniture and finished building material in the mill, all of which was burned. The loss is estimated at $10,000, on which there was an insurance of $1800.

AN exchange says: "Now is the time to eat oranges freely. They are plenty and cheap. A distinguished physician has said that if all his patients would eat a couple of good oranges before breakfast, from February to June, his practice would be gone." We'll guarantee to try the thing on and break up the doctors, if some one will be good enough to furnish the golden spheres.

The New York correspondent of a Philadelphia collecting firm writes them in conclusion: "I have nothing more to say only that if you had a load of claims vs. Holloway I would not give a drink for the lot." Publishers will please note that this is the swindling concern that one Haydock claims to be "general agent" for the United States. He is a swindler and a scoundrel.

FIRE.—On Saturday night last, about eight o'clock, eight and one half spans of the Sunbury & Lewistown Rail Road bridge, over the Susquehanna river, at Selinsgrove, were destroyed by fire. It is supposed to have been the work of incendiaries. The Watchman had passed over the bridge but a short time before it was discovered to be on fire. A number of men are at work already and it is believed that it will be rebuilt in a short time.

HORNED ROOSTER.—Dr W. H. Uhler of this borough, is the owner of a most singular natural curiosity in the shape of a rooster with two defined horns growing out one above each ear. The horns are of hard bony substance resembling a spur; they are about 1 1-4 inch in length and are still growing rapidly. The rooster is not quite one year old and was purchased by the Doctor in Armstrong Valley.—Lykans Herald.

THE FRUIT.—The severity of the winter is generally believed will be to the advantage of fruit trees and garden products generally, and predictions are made already of an abundant crop next summer. The indications all favor a coming fruit season. The severity of the weather will check the increase of insects, which the past two mild winters, together with the scarcity of birds (the victims of unthinking gunmen) has so multiplied as to leave much imperfect fruit.

OIL SEIZED.—During the past week Captain Roach has seized over one hundred barrels of kerosene at Sunbury, Shamokin and other points, which was being sold in violation of law. An inspection revealed the fact that instead of coming up to the requirements of the law, 110° test, it took fire at 85 degrees. This is said accounts for the great number of lamp explosions. A Baltimore dealer sold most of this oil to the dealers, but some storekeepers refused to sell it as soon as they learned it was below the standard.—Sunbury Daily.

Capitol Letter.

HARRISBURG Feb. 15, 1877.

The most important bill under discussion during the past week with, the exception of the general tax bill, was the stay law which provided a stay upon all executions of two years providing good security be furnished for the payment for the debt at the end of that time. This bill was supposed to be in the interest of the poor man and debtor. It was finally defeated but we cannot understand how its advocates could possibly claim it would benefit the needy. Any debtor who could possibly meet the requirements of security of that bill could certainly borrow the money from banks or individuals and relieve themselves from any present embarrassments. A bill has just passed the house on second reading which may properly be called a poor man's bill because it provides a stay of one year without additional security than the property as seizure when said property is not bid up to two thirds of its appraised value. But it is very doubtful whether this bill will receive the constitutional vote upon its final passage.

A QUESTION OF PAY.

In this connection it is appropriate to mention the following little transaction which illustrates the care with which these solons guard their own emoluments. Last week the house passed a joint resolution providing for adjournment on the 15th of March and incorporating in the resolution a proviso that all business should be taken up at the adjourned session to be held next year just as if no recess had taken place. After this resolution had passed and was in the hands of the senate it was suggested that its wording and provisions would prevent members from receiving any pay next year. Upon this discovery they speedily passed a resolution recalling the paper from the senate. It has not yet been returned but it no doubt will be "fixed up" as Senators are just as much interested in their pay as Members.

WINDY DAY.

Yesterday was a field day in both branches of the legislature. In the house the discussion of what is known as the new tax law for the state was continued, and the final section which provided that cities of the first class should be exempt from its provisions provoked considerable warm discussion, but the bill was finally passed on second reading with numerous amendments by a vote of eighty-one yeas to seventy-nine nays. It is impossible that this bill should pass on final reading by a constitutional majority so that the time occupied upon it is lost. In the Senate they had under discussion Senator Jones' bill relieving the Seven-day Baptists from the penalties now imposed by law for violations of the generally recognized Sunday. This denomination of christians observe Saturday as Sunday and Mr. Jones for a number of years has been endeavoring to pass some bill that would relieve them from the necessity of having two rest days in a week—one in obedience to their conscience, the other by mandate of law. Mr. Herr led the opposition in an able argument and the attempt will probably again fail. DOM.

Tinkering at the Game Laws.—At nearly every session of the legislature the game laws are overhauled, amended and tinkered, until they are scarcely understood by the masses. The Perry county Democrat alluding to this subject, argues that 'so far as these laws tend to the preservation of game they might as well not be passed.' The Democrat continues: "We have never known a single one of them to be worthy the name, for they do not only not protect, but rather lead to the destruction of game. An act that authorized the hunting of squirrels in July is an invitation to gunners to open the season at that early date against all kinds of game. A law to be effective and useful must prohibit the killing of any species of game up to say the 1st or 15th of September and must punish all found hunting prior to that time. The hunting season for all kinds of game should commence on a certain day and end on a certain. Then there would be little or no game killed out of season. How many hunters after squirrels in July would permit a fine, fat, full grawn cock pheasant to pick his eyes out? A large majority of them would kill him and put in the plea of self-defense. We hope some senator or member of the house, possessed of good sense and a knowledge of the habits and nature of the various species of game which should be protected against wanton destruction, will frame, present and have passed a bill embodying the provision above referred to. As to the total prohibition of all hunting for ten years, as some persons have petitioned for, we have only to say that such a law would be respected in no county in the state. It would prove a nullity and be repealed at the next session."

ROBBERY.—On Tuesday night the 6th inst the store of Lucian Wilson, at Oakland Mills, Juniata county, one of the largest stores in the county, was entered and the safe blown open, which contained some money and quite a number of Government bonds. After robbing the safe of the money and bonds, and taking, it is presumed, what goods they wanted, they set fire to the building, burning it down, together with the entire contents, probably $10,000 worth of goods together with all the books and contents. There was a light insurance on the building and goods. The post-office was also kept in the store, and about $50 in stamps were either taken or burned. Everything belonging to the post-office was burned, including a large number of letters to be delivered, and to be mailed. The safe contained quite a large amount in bonds, many of which had been left with Mr. Wilson by persons in the neighborhood fore safe keeping.

St Valentine.—The custom of sending valentines on the 14th of February is very ancient, and yet there is nothing definitely known in the life of the Saint, from which it could have originated. Away back in the annals of time there was an idea that "birds chose their mates on this day"—and coming up through the years, new notions were added, one of which was that a maiden was to marry the first of the male sex her eyes beheld on the morning of the Saint's day, always providing, of course, that he was single, and so maidens have been very chary of the glances on the opening of the day, and direct them only in such places as they would be likely to discover the real hero. A few years ago the custom of sending valentines seemed likely to fall into disuse, but of late it has been revived, and gushing youths of tender age, and with perfect propriety, resort to this pleasant method of making themselves understood.

The country is now infested with swindlers of all kinds—the Life Insurance companies, however, are now taking the lead.

The following is an extract from a description of Vineland, published in the New York Tribune, by the well known Agriculturist, Solon Robinson:

All the farmers were of the "well to do" sort, and some of them, who have turned their attention to fruits and market gardening, have grown rich. The soil is loam, varying from sandy to clayey, and surface gently undulating, interspersed with small streams and occasional wet meadows, in which deposits of peat or muck are stored, sufficient to fertilize the whole upland surface after it has been exhausted of its natural fertility.

It is certainly one of the most extensive fertile tracts, in an almost level position, and suitable condition for pleasant farming, that we know of this side of the Western prairies. We found some of the oldest farms apparently just as profitably productive as when first cleared of forest fifty or a hundred years ago.

The geologist would soon discover the cause of this continued fertility. The whole country is a marble deposit, and all through the soil we found evidences of calcareous substances, generally in the form of pulverized calcareous matter, showing many distinct forms of animal shells of the tertiary formation; and this fine earthy substance is scattered all through the soil, in a very comminuted form, and in the exact condition most easily assimilated by such plants as the former desires to cultivate.
