surface after it has been exhausted of its natural fertility.

It is certainly one of the most extensive fertile tracts, in an almost level position, and suitable condition for pleasant farming, that we know of this side of the Western prairies, we found some of the oldest farms apparently not as profitably productive as when first cleared of force thity or a hundred years ago.

The geologist would soon discover the cause of this continued fertility. The whole country is a marine deposit, and all through the soil we found evidences of caluraous substances, generally is the form of indurated calcarcous mari, showing many distinct forms of anniont shells of the tertiary formation; and this mariy substance is cattered all through the soil, in a very comminued torm, and in the exact condition most easily assimilated by such plants as the former desires to cutivate Aug. 3,76 freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

They have succeeded in working down a complex business into so thoroughly a one-half feet high (more would be systematic method that no change in the better.) and so tight that the chickens cannot get out through it, in a corner of the meadow, orchard, calf pasture, or house yard. Sixteen is par feet square will be large enough for a brood of ten or fifteen, and half a dozen such broods may be kept in a place sixteen feet wide, and forty or fifty feet long. Let the chickens remain in the nest twelve to twenty four hours after they are hatched. then put them in the pen towards evening, after the heat of the sun has passed, and long enough before evening to permit them to explore their new quarters and get tired before dark. A little before 'roosting time, give them a liberal feed of bread soaked in milk, and hard boiled eggs chopped fine, throwing in some course grain at the same time for the old hen.
