The Post.

Middleburg, MAY 24, 1877.

J. CROUSE, Editor & Proprietor.

Judge Kelly says of the President's policy that the people like it but the politicians don't.

Gen. Grant on his arrival in England will have a special audience with the Queen, and will be the guest of Disraeli.

Hon. Wayne MacVeagh is favorably mentioned as the next republican candidate for governor of Pennsylvania.

☞ The Republican State Central Committee meets at Harrisburg, on the 29th inst., to fix the time and place for the next Republican State Convention.

The new Postoffice at Harrisburg is to be be built on the site of the old State Capital Hotel. The lots necessary for the building have been bought for $120,000, leaving $40,000 of the appropriation over. This will be used in beinning the erection of the building.

It is reported that many of the engineers concerned in the Reading railroad strike will go to Brazil, where they have secured positions on a railroad. Next month the Baldwin works will ship nineteen locomotives to that country.

Governor Robinson, of New York, has vetoed the bill recently passed by the General Assembly of that State allowing women to hold office on school boards. He says women have no right to vote, and therefore the Constitution prevents them from holding office.

Philadelphia, May 17.—Ex-President Grant, accompanied by many prominent citizens and men of national note, embarked on the steamer Twilight this morning. The Twilight will board the Indiana at New Castle, when the latter, bearing General Grant and family, will sail for Europe.

By order of the Secretary of War 2,500 soldiers will shortly be mustered out of service, and the army will be reduced to 25,000. Our readers will remember that when the news of the Custer massacre was received, a couple of additional regiments were raised to defend the frontier from the raids of the hostile Indians.

Columbia, S. C. May 17.—The Senate and House met in joint session at one P. M. to ballot for the chief justiceship of the State. Associate Justice A. J. Willard was elected on the first ballot, receiving 86 out of 128 votes. This creates a vacancy in the associate justiceship, the election of which will probably take place next week.

A despatch from Washington states that private letters received here from Columbia, S. C., say that there are continued indications of a serious split in the Democratic party of that State in consequence of the demand of Governor Hampton that Justice Willard shall be elected Chief Justice. In consequence of this the Republicans are more hopeful of the future.

Ex-Governor Andrew G. Curtin, is credited with expressing the opinion that one of the most sanguinary wars of modern times has begun, one that has been exhaustive and of long duration. He says that Russia was preparing for it when he was in that country, and has for that matter been preparing for it fifteen years. The Russian people will enter upon the struggle with enthusiasm and great unanimity.

Not a few Democratic journals are expressing fears that there will be a general breaking up of the old lines in the next Congress, and that the Administration will gain much strength from the Southern Democrats.—We do not expect much aid from the Southern Democrats, but at the same time we are willing to give them more credit for fairness than the Northern Democrats as shown in the last Congress.

Boy criminals are just now bringing themselves into public notice. In Fredericksburg, Virginia, James Finch, aged 11, deliberately shot and killed a playfellow who reproved him for swearing. In New Orleans, Nathan Boyd, aged 9, purposely set fire to a house out of revenge for being whipped. In San Francisco, Arthur Bennett, aged 11, nearly killed his sister by stabbing her. In Buffalo, Robert Aikens, aged 10, mortally wounded another boy with an ax.

Barry, honest old Ben Wade, having been placed before the public by Ward H. Lamon as a conspirator to supplant President Lincoln by a dictator, in his usual frank and fearless style says that Lamon is a liar. Lamon is the man who pretending to be the near friend of Mr. Lincoln, after his death published a biography of the dead President, in which he introduced about all the slanderous stuff the Copperheads and rebels could invent. The Altoona Radical says that Ben Wade has more manhood in his little finger than could be squeezed out of a regiment of Lamons. No true Republican will ever forget the grand courage of Wade when the whole North seemed cringing before Southern blackguards and braggarts and when Sumner was beaten down in his seat in the Senate. It was then that Wade, as it were standing alone, hurled defiance at the chivalry and actually cowed the whole drove of them then in Washington.

In 1864 the English government acted toward Denmark a discreditable and mean part, which resembled in its early stages, what Lords Beaconsfield and Derby have been doing for the last year in relation to Turkey. England at that time gave every encouragement to Denmark in her quarrel with Germany, inciting her and leading her on, until she engaged in war, expecting the assistance of English support. When England, like a bully backing a little fellow for a fight, makes the scratch and when the fight takes place runs off and leaves him, abandoned her and left her to fight single handed in an unequal contest, with one of the great powers of Europe.

It seems to us that Turkey would have done well to have reflected upon this piece of history before rejecting the demands of the protocol.

England has lost caste among the great powers of Europe; they despise her diplomacy, and she has lost foreign influence.

During the late war in America in complications arising from the arrest of Messrs. Mason and Slidell she made demands of the United States, a government crippled by a great civil war, and with the certainty on her part to have the Confederate States allies, if the quarrel were pushed to extremities, and this was the last time any foreign government yielded to her.

It has been discovered within the last year, that the reason England so shamefully deserted Denmark was fear of Germany and a knowledge of her own military weakness. In the "Life of Lord Palmerston" lately published, there are several private letters printed which show the true inwardness of the abandonment of Denmark. She knew that she could not in a struggle with Germany without allies succeed and so through fear abandoned little Denmark after getting her into the scrape.

Now how does her position in 1877 differ from that of 1864. In this contest as in that the fighting will have to be done principally upon the land. The armies of Russia are large and powerful. The distance to Denmark is not great, while in the case of Turkey, British troops and munitions would have to be transported three thousand miles by sea. What could they accomplish against the vast armies of Russia fighting near their own frontier and close to the source of their supplies. Without an ally among the other great military powers it would be madness to expose her commerce to destruction, and she cannot expect such an ally until one of the great powers think their interests are imperilled which none of them seem to think as yet.

The National Administration is moving along smoothly and quietly, and with but few exceptions, Republicans every where are satisfied that President Hayes is doing all he can do for the prosperity of the whole country. There are here and there a few dissatisfied Republicans with what is called Hayes's Southern policy, but they have no following. All sensible people are satisfied that the President is but carrying out his letter of acceptance and inaugural address; and, with reference to the situation in which he is placed he is acting wisely.

There is nothing particularly new from Washington. A considerable number of clerks have been discharged in nearly all the Departments simply because the public service does not require them. On Monday week the President issued an order consolidating and reducing the Army and Navy pension agencies. After July, eighteen agencies will do the work now done by fifty-eight. It is expected that the reduction will save the Government $150,000 annually. All this looks like real reform.

The Republican Committee of Juniata County met last week, and elected Jeremiah Lyons Esq representative delegate, and Lucian Wilson Esq Senatorial delegate to the State Convention. They were instructed to support Judge Sterrett for the Supreme Court. Juniata is the native county of Judge Sterrett, and when he runs it next fall, the Democratic majority of four hundred will be whittled down to the little end of nothing.

It is said that the number of old Whigs in the Southern States, who are turning up as Hayes Republicans, is very large. They are generally applicants for office however.

Shad Fishing in the Juniata.—Shad fishing in the Juniata river at Newport, according to the statement of the Newport News of a recent date, has not been successful at that point this season—very few fish having been taken thus far. The News complains that the price asked for shad is entirely too high, but adds that until they are caught in large numbers they cannot be disposed of at lower rates, at a living profit. The News disposes of the subject by sliding to the fishways in the Columbia dam: "A few years ago when the dam at Columbia broke thousands of shad were caught in this place, and all along above Columbia, in natural places, they were plenty. The fishways down there don't amount to "shucks" for any one above the dam, beside the fishermen down there almost stand guard to prevent a few that might stray through by this course from ascending the stream. The destruction of property is all the time to be deplored, but an effectual break in the Columbia dam would find a host of sympathizers."

Singular Accident.—A few days ago as a freight train was passing the Pennsylvania depot, at Baldwin, the dead body of a cow was observed to be dragging under one of the cars. When the train was stopped it was found that the tail had in some way became wrapped about the axle and dragged until nothing but the skin, head and feet remained, all the other parts being scattered along the track. It is supposed the cow was struck in the neighborhood of Lochiel and had thus singularly become fastened to the axle.

SPRING OPENING OF 1877, AT

SIMON & OPPENHIMER'S CLOTHING STORE,

SUNBURY, PA., Cor. 3d & Market St., near Depot.

WE have returned from the Eastern Cities, with the LARGEST and BEST STOCK OF CLOTHING for

MEN, YOUTHS AND BOYS,

HATS, CAPS AND GENTS FURNISHING GOODS, ever brought to this part of the country, and assure our Customers, and public that in prices, no one in this part of the country, can compete with us.

Some people may say how does it come that SIMON & OPPENHIMER of SUNBURY, can sell CHEAPER than any one else? We will explain you this fact easily.

1st, We have had experience for many years in the Clothing business.

2nd, We buy Goods in large quantities.

3rd, We only buy for cash and from the first manufacturers.

4th, On account we are known for selling Clothing at such low prices, we are selling an immense quantity therefore we can easily afford to take half the profit, than other stores around the country, and still increase our business.

5th, Our motto is always, Quick Sales and Small Profits.

Through many forced sales this Spring in the Cities, we had the advantage to purchase goods very low, which we will give to our customers and patrons the benefit of.
Any one coming from Middleburg and vicinity and purchasing to the amount of $5 can deduct ½ of his railroad fair; by buying for $10, can deduct the entire fare.
We would be pleased of you to come and see our large stock, and examine our prices, and we will assure that you will save money by learning the prices of our goods.
No difference whether you buy or not, we will with pleasure show you our goods and prices, and you will always find gentlemanly treatment.
Thankful for past patronage we respectfully solicit a continuance of the same.

Yours Respectfully, SIMON & OPPENHIMER,

SUNBURY, PENN'A., Corner 3rd and Market Street, next door to the Depot.

CLOTHING.

WANAMAKER & BROWN,
IN THE OLD PLACE AT THE OLD TRADE.

All the best talent, experience and advantages we can command, continued at OAK HALL, to produce the BEST and CHEAPEST CLOTHING for man and boy.

For sixteen years we have lived at the old corner of SIXTH and MARKET, and the business done there has been so satisfactory to the public and ourselves, that we have decided not to change or move the Clothing business away. The people like the place and we like to please the people, and we believe that we can do it better than ever at the old place.

The sales of the past year far surpassed anything we ever dreamed of, and this puts it in our power to start the Spring of 1877 with a STILL LOWER SCALE OF PRICES, and a class of goods so excellent that we are not afraid to follow each sale with our warrantee, or receive back the goods unworn and hand over to the customer the money paid.

The store has been largely refitted, and there never was such a splendid stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's clothing under the roof, nor were we ever able to sell so cheaply. Our word for it, and we are your friends of sixteen years.
