Whilst visiting the Centennial Exhibition, Vineland can be visited at small expense.

A paper containing full information, will be sent upon application to CHARLES K. LANDIS, Vineland, N. J., free of cost.

The following is an extract from a description of Vineland, published in the New York Tribune, by the well known Agriculturist, Solon Robinson:

All the farmers were of the "well to do" sort, and some of them, who have turned their attention to fruits and market gardening, have grown rich. The soil is loam, varying from sandy to clayey, and surface gently undulating, intersected with small streams and occasional wet meadows, in which deposits of peat or muck are stored, sufficient to fertilize the whole upland surface after it has been exhausted of its natural fertility.

It is certainly one of the most extensive fertile tracts, in an almost level position, and suitable condition for pleasant farming, that we know of this side of the Western prairies. We found some of the oldest farms apparently just as profitably productive as when first cleared of forest fifty or a hundred years ago.

The geologist would soon discover the cause of this continued fertility. The whole country is a marine deposit, and all through the soil we found evidences of calcareous substances, generally in the form of indurated calcareous marl, showing many distinct forms of ancient shells, of the tertiary formation; and this marly substance is scattered all through the soil, in a very comminuted form, and in the exact condition most easily assimilated by such plants as the former desires to cultivate. Queen Victoria's Crown.

From the London Times.

The following description of Queen Victoria's crown has been furnished by Prof. Tennant, Mineralogist to the Queen. The Imperial State Crown of Victoria was made by Messrs. Rundell & Bridge, in the year 1838, with jewels taken from old crowns, and others furnished by Her Majesty. It consists of diamonds, pearls, sapphires and emeralds, set in silver and gold. It has a crimson velvet cap, with ermine border, and is lined with white silk. Its gross weight is thirty ounces five pennyweights troy. The lower part of the ermine border consists of a row of 129 pearls and the upper part of the band of a row of 110 pearls, between which, in front of the crown is a large sapphire (partly drilled), purchased for the crown by King George IV. At the back are the sapphires (three on each side); between them are eight emeralds. Above and below the seven sapphires are fourteen diamonds and around the eight emeralds 128 diamonds. Between the emeralds and the sapphires are sixteen trefoil ornaments containing 160 diamonds. Above the band are eight sapphires, surrounded by eight diamonds, be tween which are eight festoons, consisting of 148 diamonds. In the front of the crown, and in the centre of a diamond Maltese cross, is the famous ruby said to have been given to Edward, Prince of Wales, son of Edward, III, called the Black Prince by Don Pedro, King of Castile, after the battle of Najera, near Vittoria, A. D. 1367. This ruby was worn in the helmet of Henry V., at the battle of Agincourt, A. D. 1415. It is pierced quite through, after the Eastern custom, the upper part of the piercing being filled up with a small ruby. Around this ruby, in order to form the cross, are seventy-five brilliant d i a m o n d s. Three other Maltese crosses, forming two sides and back of the crown have emerald centres, and contain respectively 132, 125 and 130 brilliant diamonds. Between the four Maltese crosses are four ornaments in the form of the French fleur de lis with four rubies in the centres, and surrounded by roses diamonds, containing respectively 85, 83 and 87 rose diamonds. From the Maltese crosses issue four imperial arches, composed of oak leaves and acorns; the leaves contain 728 roses, table and brilliant diamonds; Thirty-two pears from the acorns, set in cups containing fifty-four rose diamonds and one table diamond. The total number of diamonds in the arches and acorns is 115 brilliant, 116 table and 560 rose diamonds. From the upper part of the arches are suspended four pendant pear shaped pearls with rose diamond caps, containing twentyfour very small rose diamonds. Above the arch stands the mound, containing in the lower hemisphere 304 brilliants, and in the upper 244 brilliants, and the zono and are being composed of thirty-three rose diamonds. The cross on the summit has a rose cut sapphire in the centre, surrounded by four large brilliants and 108 smaller brilliants. Summary of jewels comprised in the crown: One large ruby, irregularly polished; 1 large broadspread sapphire, 16 sapphires, 11 emeralds, 4 rubies, 1,363 brilliant diamonds, 1,263 roses diamonds, 4 drop shaped pearls and 273 pearls.

A Monkey Story.

I must tell you of something that happened one day last summer, when I was at the Zoological Garden in Philadelphia.

Among the persons standing around the cage where the monkeys were kept, was an old lady who had on a pair of gold rimmed spectacles. All at once, a big brown monkey stretched out his paw between the bars, snatched the spectacles, and scampered away, chattering and grinning with delight.

Of course, the poor lady was in distress. The keeper came to the rescue, and, by driving the monkey about the cage with a long pole, forced him at last to drop the spectacles. But one of the glasses had come out of it; and this the thief still held in his mouth, and refused to give up.

The keeper followed him sharply with the pole. Away he went, swinging from one rope to another, screaming and scolding all the time, until the keeper was so tired, that I feared he would have to let the monkey keep the glass. But this the keeper said would never do; for he knew, that, if he let the monkey carry the day, he could never control him again.

So the keeper still plied his pole. The monkey dodged it as well as he could, until the blows came so thick and fast, that he could bear them no longer, when he opened his mouth, and let the glass drop.

Now comes the funniest part of the story. The glass fell quite near the bars, just where the old lady was standing, and a gentleman took her parasol, which had a hooked handle, to draw it within reach. But he put the parasol in a little too far, and it slipped out of his hand.

Instantly a yellow monkey wrapped his long tail around it, and started off. Imagine the feelings of the poor old lady—first robbed of her spectacles, and then of her parasol.

But her property was all recovered at last; the robbers were both punished; and she went on her way in peace.

THE heirs of Colonel Henry Becker, Beckersville, Berks county who are making a contest for the recovery of $150,000,000 of property, situate in that county and Philadelphia, have discovered important documents and ascertained the whereabouts of the witnesses most requi-

Is Your Hair Falling Out

OR TURNING GRAY;

If So Do Not Fail To Use

LONDON HAIR COLOR RESTORER.

The Great Reputation

Which it has attained and the large number of testimonials which are constantly being received are conclusive proof of its great value.

Proof Positive—A New Suit of Hair. Natural Color and Beauty Restored.

Dr. Swayne & Son—Some six years ago, I began to loose my hair, and continued to do so until the scalp became so tender the pain of my hand, troubled also with a disagreeable itching fever, great heat and dandruff, small pustules would form, quite sore to the touch, and the remaining portion of the hair, on the side and back of the head, became quite gray. After using a number of Restoratives, (so called), without success, and my head nearly destitute of hair, I instantly commenced using the "London Hair Color Restorer and Dressing."

Now, through its use, under and justice compel me to say to all that I now possess a new and beautiful growth of hair, completely restored to its original dark and glossy appearance, and I venture to assert that the world furnishes no preparation equal to this; and I do conscientiously say so to all who are gray or bald, both lady and lords or ladies, to call at once this valuable and delightfully perfumed article.
