Manhood: How Lost. How Restored.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents.

The celebrated author, in this Essay clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

All wanting FRUIT FARMS, especially adapted to the growth of the VINE, where it is an established success and pays LARGE PROFIT. The land is also adapted to the growth of Peaches, Pears, Apples and small fruits: also, Grain, Grass, and Vegetables.

Many hundreds of excellent VINEYARDS, ORCHARDS and FARMS, can now be seen.

THE LOCATION is only 31 miles south of Philadelphia, by Railroad, in a mild, delightful climate, and at the very doors of the New York and Philadelphia Markets. Another Railroad runs direct to New York.

THE PLACE is already Large, Successful and Prosperous. Churches, Schools and other privileges are already established. Also, manufactories of Shoes, Clothing, Glass, Straw Goods and other things, at which different members of a family can procure employment.

It has been a HEALTHY RESORT for some years past for people suffering from pulmonary affections, Asthma, Chronic Cases, and debility; many thousands have entirely recovered.

A new Brick Hotel has just been completed, 50 feet front, with back buildings, four stories high, including French roof, and all modern improvements for the accommodation of visitors.

Price of FARM LANDS $20 per Acre, payable by installments within the period of four years. In this climate planted out to vines 20 acres of land will count fully as much as 100 acres further north.

Persons unacquainted with Fruit Growing, can become familiar with it in a short time on account of surroundings.

Five Acres One Acre, and Town Lots to the towns of Landisville and Vineland, also for sale.

Whilst visiting the Centennial Exhibition, Vineland can be visited at small expense.

A paper containing full information will be sent upon application to CHARLES K. LANDIS, Vineland, N. J., free of charge.

The following is an extract from a description of Vineland, published in the New York Tribune, by the well known Agriculturist, Solon Robinson:

All the farmers were of the "well to do" sort, and some of them, who have turned their attention to fruit and market gardening, have grown rich. The soil is loam, varying from sandy to clayey, and surface gently undulating. Interspersed with small streams and occasional wet meadows, in which deposits of peat or muck are found sufficient to fertilize the whole upland surface after it has been exhausted of its natural fertility.

It is certainly one of the most extensive fertile tracts, to an almost level position, and suitable condition for pleasant farming, that we know of this side of the Western prairies. We found some of the oldest farms apparently just as profitably productive as when first cleared of forest fifty or a hundred years ago.

The geologist would soon discover the cause of this continued fertility. The whole country is a marine deposit, and all through the soil we found evidences of calcareous substances, generally in the form of indurated clay marl, sometimes showing many distinct forms of ancient shells, of the tertiary formation; and this marly substance is scattered all through the soil, in a very comminuted form, and in the exact condition most easily assimilated by such plants as the former desires to cultivate. GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP.

THOROUGHLY CURES DISEASES OF THE SKIN, BEAUTIFIES THE COMPLEXION, PREVENTS AND REMEDIES RHEUMATISM AND GOUT, HEALS SORES AND ABRASIONS OF THE CUTICLE AND COUNTERACTS CONTAGION.

The Standard External Remedy for Eruptions, Sores and Injuries of the Skin, not only REMOVES FROM THE COMPLEXION ALL BLEMISHES arising from local impurities of the blood and obstruction of the pores, but also those produced by the sun and wind, such as tan and freckles. It renders the CUTICLE MARVELOUSLY CLEAR, SMOOTH and PLIANT, and being a WHOLESOME BEAUTIFIER is far preferable to any cosmetic.

ALL THE REMEDIAL ADVANTAGES OF SULPHUR BATHS are secured BY THE USE OF Glenn's Sulphur Soap, which in addition to its purifying effects, remedies and PREVENTS RHEUMATISM and GOUT.

It also DISINFECTS CLOTHING and LINEN and PREVENTS DISEASES COMMUNICATED BY CONTACT with the PERSON.

It DISSOLVES DANDRUFF, prevents baldness, and retards grayness of the hair.

A Joke on the Politicians.

Some years ago, just previous to a political campaign, a group of "wire pullers" and office seekers were discussing matters. While they were thus engaged in feeling self-confident and jubilant, an old stager of the opposing party, named Sam Belkoop, came up. Ordinarially Sam was reserved and mindful of his own business, but in exciting times like the present he could be loquacious. The party of politicians, all known to be hungry for government pap, hailed Sam rather ironically, asking him how went the battle on his side. Sam said:

"I don't know, gentlemen, as I can give you any information on that subject, but I can tell you a bit of a story."

Ah, that was just the thing! "Fire away, Samuel; let us have it."

Sam took a seat upon an empty nail keg, and told as follows:

Once upon a time there was a great king who had a philosopher in whose judgment he always put the utmost confidence. On a certain morning the king took it into his head that he wanted to go out a hunting, and having summoned his nobles and all the chief men of his court, and made necessary preparations, he called his philosopher and asked him if it would rain during the day. The philosopher looked at the clear sky, and said it would not; so the king and his nobles and all his great men departed. Upon approaching a forest they met a countryman mounted upon a jackass, who advised them to return, assuring them it would very soon rain.

"Bah!" cried the king. "Does this fellow know more than my philosopher? Let us ride on."

So they rode on, and had just entered the forest when the rain came down in torrents, driving them to the nearest shelter, which they reached drenched to the skin, bitterly lamenting that they did not take the rustic's advice.

When they returned to the palace the king sent for his Philosopher, and having soundly berated him for letting himself be outdone by a country rustic, dismissed him. Then he sent for the countryman, intending to install him in the vacant office.

"Tell me," said the king, when the man appeared before him, "how you knew it would rain."

"I don't know, sir," replied the countryman, "my jackass told me."

"Mercy!" cried the monarch, in great astonishment. "How did he tell you?"

"It's a way he has your majesty, of pricking up his ears and snuffing the air."

And thereupon the king sent for the jackass, and allowed the countryman to go home; and the jackass was installed into the office made vacant by the retirement of the philosopher.

"Ah!" concluded Sam, with a very woeful shake of the head, "the poor king little dreamed of the calamity that simple act was to bring upon his kingdom!"

"How so?" demanded the audience, eagerly.

"Why," replied Sam, very gravely, "from that day to this, EVERY JACKASS IS CLAMORING FOR OFFICE.

The Treasure of Islam

A PRODIGIOUS WAR FUND FOR TURKEY.

Mr. Delaphane, the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at Vienna, furnishes to the Department of State at Washington the following interesting information in regard to a certain war resource of Turkey, the so-called "Treasure of Islam:"

The Sheik of Islam has recently sent a delegation of doctors of the law to the Sheriff of Mecca, a direct descendant of the Prophet, for the purpose of demanding funds to be applied in defense of the Islam faith.

It is customary, on these solemn occasions, for the Sheriff to assemble the College of the Elders charged with the guard of the Prophet's tomb, which will decide upon the appropriate sum to be furnished to the Sultan from the treasure of Islam in order to aid him in the war against Russia. This treasure is formed from those annual offerings of the pilgrims which are accumulated in the Kasbah of Mecca. These sepulchres, which serve as offertory chests, are placed within the court of Mosque. Each pilgrim daily casts into one of these a coin as offering, which constitutes the alms prescribed by the Koran as one of the essential elements of the merit of the pilgrimage which every Musselman should make at least once in his lifetime to the tomb of the prophet.

Accordingly every year about 100,000 pilgrims come to Mecca, who sojourn there a month, consequently a sum of 3,000,000 francs are annually received in these offertory chests. Every pilgrim deposits in fact an offering, varying in amount according to his means, but which on the average may be estimated as equivalent to five francs at least for every day. Considering that there are rich Mussulmans whose offerings attain even the amount of 100,000 francs during their pilgrimage, it results hereby that the Sheriff of Mecca received on the average the value of 15,000,000 francs in annual offering.

One of the offertory chests was opened during the period of the Russo-Turkish war in 1828. Several large sums were withdrawn, but it was afterwards again closed. A second chest was opened in 1854, during the Crimean war, but the third has not been opened since 1415, during a period of now 462 years. Inasmuch as the annual concourse of pilgrims has rarely fallen below 100,000, it is conjectured that with most liberal allowances, the accumulation of money in the last named offertory chest cannot be less than $750,000,000, and it is fully believed that the total amount of the treasure of Islam will eXceed 6,000,000,000 francs, and even attain a much higher sum.

THE CRESCENT.—The crescent was the ancient symbol of Byzantium, now Constantinople. Philip, the father of Alexander the Great, having planted his hosts against that city, and pushed the siege for a time without effect, at length conceived the plan of undermining the walls at night, that his troops might enter and take the place by surprise. The first dark night he set about the work, his engineers having eXamined and decided where the mining could be most easily and successfully done, which was under a section of the wall on the west side of the city. The work was fairly commenced, when suddenly a rift in the thick clouds revealed the bright face of the new moon; and this new moon, thus, as by a miracle, unrestrained, revealed to the watchman in the towers the works of the enemy, and the design of Philip was frustrated, and the city saved. Believing that Heavenly power had given them the gleams of the crescent moon for their deliverance, the Byzantines in token of grateful remembrance, adopted the crescent as their national symbol. The Moslems found it at Byzantium, and retained it.

SAILING O'ER THE S

We're a happy pilgrim band,
Sailing to the goodly land;
With a swelling sail we onward ride
Tho' the tempest rages loud,
There is one among the throng
Who will guide the sailor o'er the deep
Chorus.—We are sailing o'er the sea,
We are sailing o'er the sea,
We are drifting t'ward the land,
We are drifting t'ward the land,
We are drifting t'ward the land,
We are drifting t'ward the land,
We are sailing, etc.

Tho' the mighty billows swell,
They shall never overwhelm,
Tho' the breakers roar upon the lee,
Mid the strife His praise will swell,
For we're Jesus at the helm
And He'll guide her safely o'er the sea
Chorus.—We are sailing, etc.

Though for many years past
She has braved the stormy blast,
She's the old ship Zion as of yore;
Safe amid the rocks and shoals
She has landed many souls
Safe at home, on Canaan's happy shore
Chorus.—We are sailing, etc.

Ho! ye sinners, here to-day,
There is danger in your way;
By the chart of holy writ we're told:
There is danger underneath,
And above a storm of wrath,
And the rocks of destruction are also
Chorus.—We are sailing, &c.

The Largest Book in the W

The Trustees of the British Mu are in treaty for the purc the copy of the largest book world. Toward the close seventeenth century the Emperor of China appointed perial commission to reprint vast collection all native wor terest and importance in branch of literature. In the ning of the following centu Commissioners completed t bors, and were able to lay bef Emperor a very palpable p diligence in the shape of a c tion consisting of 6,109 volu titled "Kin ting koo kin t tseih ching," or "An Illustrat perial Collection of Ancie Modern Literature."

Only a small edition was off in the first instance, and long the greater part of the types which had been cast f undertaking were purloined b trustworthy officials, and th mainder were melted down an ed into cash. Accidents by fi by violence have considerably ed the number of copies of t perial edition originally printe it is believed that only a co tively few now remain extant. Trustees of the British Mu having become aware that one copy has lately been offered f at Pekin, have entered into ne tions for its purchase, and much to be hoped that they succeed in adding this rare an teresting collection to the na library.—London Athenæum

A Lover's Meeting.

She was young and fair, a tear glistened in her eye as sh her curly head upon his sh and exclaimed: "Oh, Geor think if I found you did not lo I should die!"

"My darling," he answered, ing his hand gently around dimpled chin, "I will always you. Do you think I would l you if I did not feel sure of it a few days at the alter I sha to love you all my life, and I keep my vow."

A lovely kind of beatific happ played for a moment like sun her lips, and then she whis "No, George, I like to hear you like that. You have been so to me. You have given me a mond locket and a gold watch rings that a queen might wear side her gloves and not be asha and if I thought that one day I be sorry you'd given me all t things and want them back a I should break my heart."

He held her gently against manly breast, and answered w quivering voice, "Oh, my own ling, there is nothing on earth could happen that would make repent having given you a few kons of my love, or make me w them back again."

She sprang from his arms li joyous deer, she shook back sunny curls, and with a whole pe in her hazel eyes, exclaimed, George, you have taken a whole from my heart. I've come to s can't marry you after all, beca I've seen somebody I like bet and I thought you'd want y presents back again!"

Don't Worry About Yourself.

To retain or recover health, sons should be relieved from anx concerning disease. The mind power over the body—for a per to think he has a disease will d produce that disease. This we effected when the mind is inten concerned upon the disease of other. We have seen a person sick in anticipation of a voyage, fore reaching the vessel. We h known people to die of cancer in stomach, when they had no ca in the stomach or any other mo disease. A blind folded man, sli ly pierced in the arm, has fain and died from believing he bleeding to death. Therefore sons should have their minds div ed as much as possible from th selves. It is by their faith that aro saved, and it is by their f that they die. As a man think so is he. If he wills not to die can often live in spite of dise and if he has little or no attachm to life, he will slip away as easil a child will fall asleep. Men live their minds as well as by their i ies. Their bodies have no life th selves; they are only receptacles life—tenements for their minds. the will has much to do in contin ing the physical occupancy or giv it up.
